We now we welcome your input on any and all areas that you think need edits, additions, or corrections. So you can see what I was working with, I've attached a blank version of the template that I filled in per our discussion last week.

Upon receipt of that single draft, Karen and I will take one last look at it and let you know if there's anything that strikes us as needing any additional attention based on our perspective. Hopefully it'll be goo to go though.
