Yes, I figure nothing is going to be perfect when we are north of 100 million acres - we'll just have to use the best available.

Another thought - we'll need the GIS folks to gather layers on areas with protected status - e.g. wilderness, national parks and monuments, etc. BER did this and came up with the following map:

So we're bound to be yelled at for having "wrong acreages" associated with different groups/agencies. This was made evidently clear by the never ending "discrepancies" in land ownership associated with the Strongholds.

Another major category of info we will need is land ownership, by MZ - acreages and percentages. We probably also want that info by range within each MZ, and overlaid with distribution and numbers models.

All,

Please see attached, draft list of products and see if Lara and I have captured the list of outputs, maps, analyses, etc... that we'll need in the near future. We can tweak as appropriate and after we've settled on a few things, I'll share with the GIS team.

Maybe comments back prior to tomorrow SLT call?

Thanks,
