Mike,

- Utah is meeting next Monday with BLM and State to discuss hard trigger responses. Although we have actively engaged with BLM and State on Adaptive Management and agreed to detailed trigger criteria - to date there is no consensus on what the hard trigger response would look like.
- Regarding the scale of the response it is generally accepted that it would be on a SGMA or PAC level

Dear team,

On the table is “returning completely to the NPT guidance” which I support.

Next step then is what happens when a hard trigger is tripped? Can you let me and Terry know where are we with BLM/FS at the field level discussing what those responses will be?? That is, the substance of what that response will be.

For example: Are they all set, are we in agreement, have we really been talking, have we discussed at what scale the response will be applied?

Can you give us an idea across the range?

THANK YOU,

Noreen
