I'll continue to work with Jesse in the list incorporating more from our original listed format. I'll also try to track what has been lost from one version to the new version so we can address any concerns from the states/team.

Please note that this is a work in progress, but hopefully this can help the group focus on the task - identify the activities and subactivities we will track with the database. The previous narrative version was mixing things the database would track with evaluating the certainty of implementation and effectiveness of planning efforts. We will need to do both, but our database will only house the planning efforts and summaries of how those planning efforts are being implemented and effective (in narrative format).

Attached are 2 documents:
The first is the tabular version of the metrics list we've been working on. I took a stab at creating a list of 'ACTIVITIES' and associated 'SUBACTIVITIES' as we discussed... that list can be refined with a scalpel or a chainsaw. While NV's comments are included in the Table version, not of UT's are (yet). Also, of note... some of the cells (specifically the metrics column) are rather wordy and will need to be trimmed down, but for review purposes, I just didn't want to lose any of teh meat in the transition / translation.

The second is the updated list in the previous [bullet] format (Conservation Goal - Action - Metric). I've highlighted everything in yellow that currently IS NOT in the table version. Not everything had a metric attached and I didn't necessarily find a good fit to get the information in. This is maybe more of a design issue, but we can discuss what information we don't want to 'lose' in the transition from one format/setup to the tabular version.

Enjoy...
