Thanks.

I do realize it was initially discussed for MZs, but the issue also will come into play for any analysis we do with the range data set as well.

For this update the only changes were to the Current Range layer.

Thanks, Jim

And just to clarify - no changes to the population layers or MZ layers, right?

I have finished updating the GRSG 2015 USFWS Status Review Current Range and I have uploaded it to ScienceBase. Data can be downloaded from https://www.sciencebase.gov/catalog/item/55146a50e4b032384276cabe.

I have also updated the Metadata to reflect changes made. I believe we are all in agreement that there will be no more changes to this data set for purposes of the Status Review. We will begin using this data set for analysis work for the Status Review.

I would say let me know if there are any questions on the data, however, I am headed out of the office now and I will be on leave until next Wednesday (4/1).

Thanks,
Jim
