For clarification, the bird flew from Steer Ridge which is west of the river on BLM/private lands to the tribe for less than one month. Since we are not allowed to fly low level flights over tribal lands I only know that it was east of the Green River. My likely guess given the range on a sage grouse radio is that it was in Wild Horse Basin on Tribal lands which is 3 to 5 miles east of the Green River but I do not have an exact location.

Hello Brad,

Going over the notes from our November conference call regarding the Emma Park, Anthro, and West Tavaputs sage-grouse populations.

I am wondering. . . for the movement you documented of a bird moving from West Tavaputs to Steer Ridge on Ute tribal lands. .. how far would you estimate that movement was?

Thanks,

Renee
