Thanks Sean,

That works for me!

Prehaps we're making something out of nothing since the actual URL will be a random address (i.e., https://www.sciencebase.gov/catalog/folder/52015a07e4b009d47a4c2507) but the name we use will be in the folder tree.

Thanks Kate,

I'm sending this to the full team, which I should have done in the original email. I think it might be nice to have a time-stamp in the title to keep it clear that this isn't the 2010 review for people looking at this in ten years, so what about "2015 GR Sage-grouse Status Review"? It isn't real short, but I don't believe this will impact URLs that people would ever be typing (I think they'd just be clicking links).

Thoughts?

Thanks, Lara! I'm not sure I'm as savvy as I should be, but I appreciate your letting me weigh in!

I think something along the lines of "Sage-Grouse Status" or "GSGstatus" or "Sage-Grouse Status Review" would be good.

As someone who hates long urls, I'd love to see something short and sweet- maybe with a longer caption? Don't know how LC Map works as far as those things go.

Thanks!

Hi Kate,

During today's meeting we discussed going forward with setting up the LC

MAP community for the SG listing data. We will need a name for it, and we wanted to get your input on what would be a politically savvy name. You can see examples of other group's names here:
https://www.sciencebase.gov/catalog/community/list

Also, this community would not be visible to anyone but those given permission to it initially, but this could change as we move forward.
