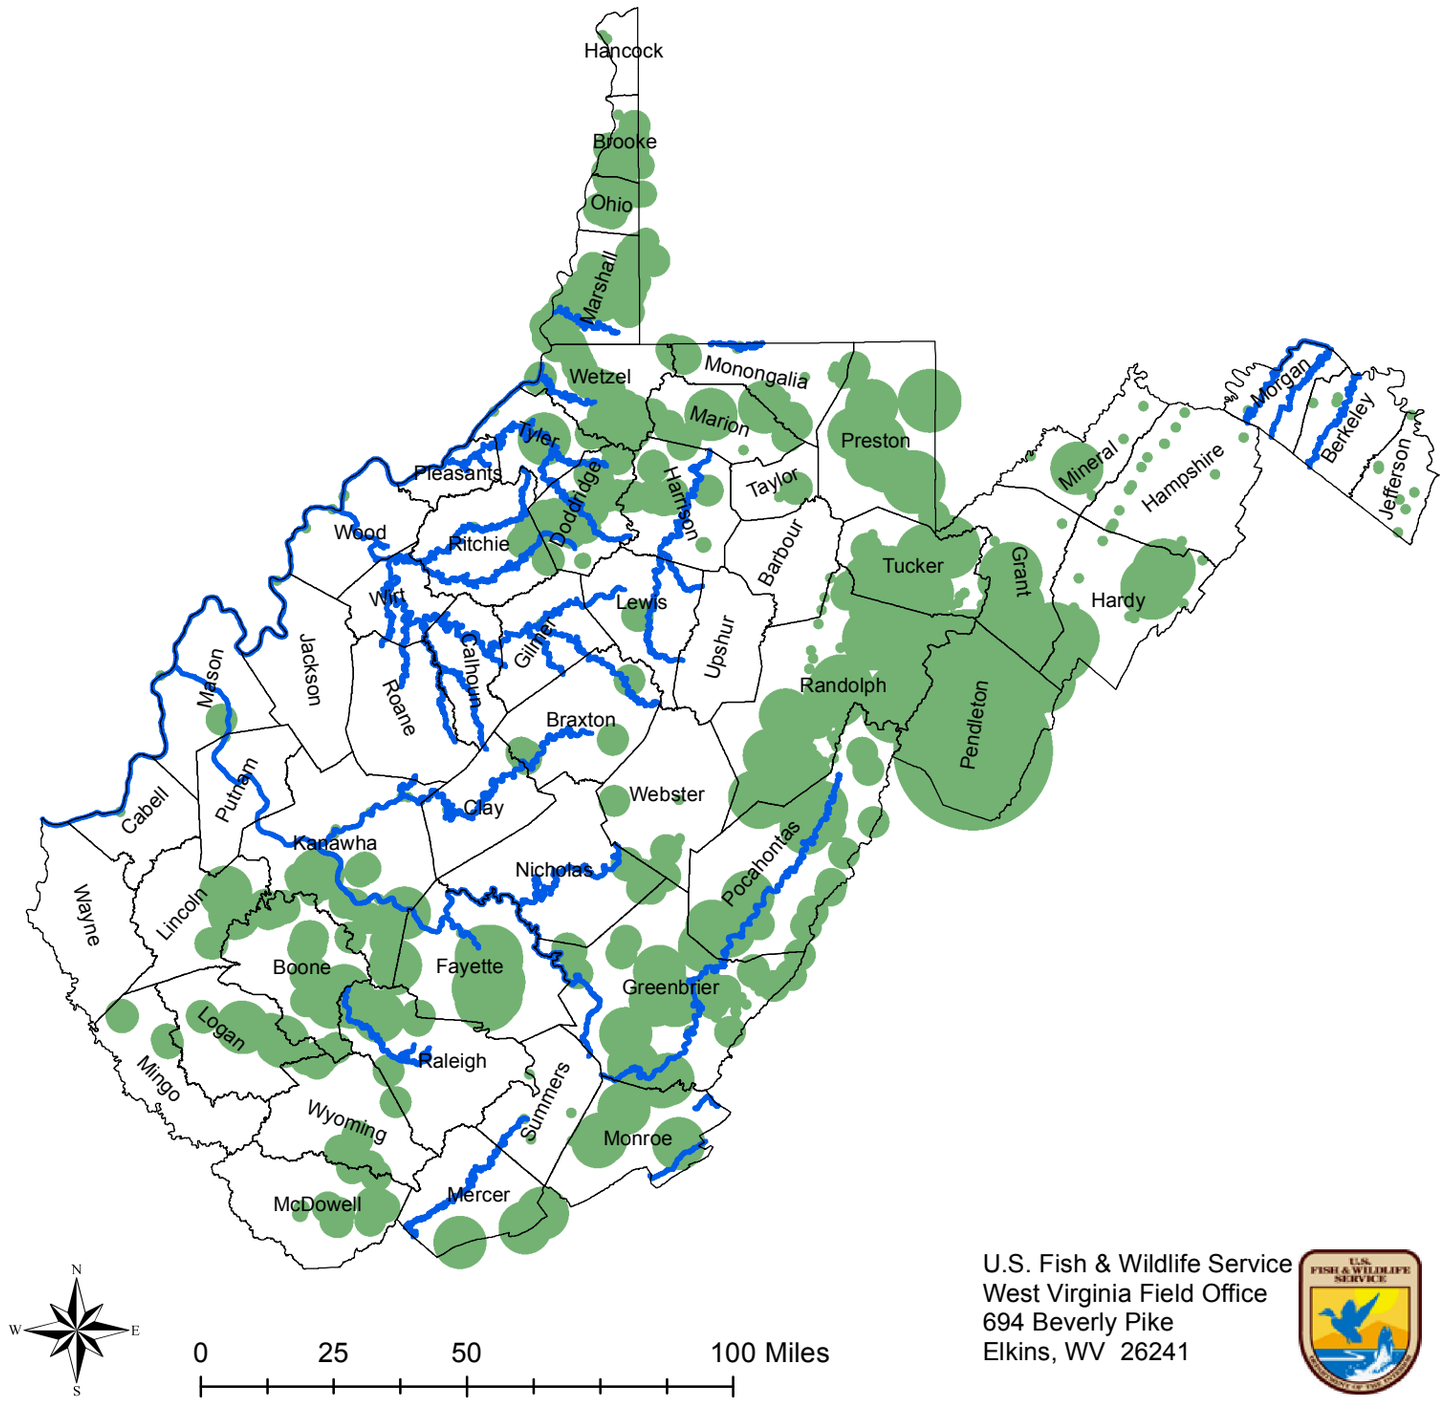
Distribution of Federally Listed Threatened and Endangered Species in West Virginia[1, 2]



U.S. Fish & Wildlife Service
West Virginia Field Office
694 Beverly Pike
Elkins, WV 26241

Waterways supporting federally listed aquatic species

Habitat buffers around known occurrences of federally listed species[2]

1, All forested areas in West Virginia are considered potential summer habitat for federally listed Indiana and northern long-eared bats.

2. Includes nest sites for bald eagles which are not listed under the Endangered Species Act. However, they continue to receive Federal protetion under the Bald and Golden Eagle Protection Act and the Migratory Bird Treaty Act.

Date Modified: 6/25/2015