Cheryl	Adams	Las Vegas	NV	89101	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Kip	Zelenak	Lakewood	OH	44107	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Andrea	Areias	New Bedford	MA	2740	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Marilyn	Neradko	Mougins	ot	6250	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Phyllis	Allinson	Escondido	CA	92046	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Cori	Craft	Denver	CO	80211	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Michelle	Spears	Irving	TX	75062	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Melody	Martin	MS	MS	39111	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Paul	Johnson	Illinois	IL	60657	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Elizabeth	DiLernia	Connecticut	CT	6013	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Rebecca	Martin	Littleton	CO	80123	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Marion	Falgren	CA	CA	95628	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Steve	Erickson	UT	UT	84103	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, leslie	labrin	san fernando	CA	91340	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Bonnie	Morais	Cooper City	FL	20850	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Phyllis	Lager	Livermore	CA	94550	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Joanne	La Barre	New York	NY	13667	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - No trophy hunting should be allowed. The parks are managed with tax payer money and are kept for our enjoyment of beautiful land and animals. As humans push animals out of normal habitat there will be sor protect both animals & humans and incidents will be few. Please protect the grizzlies and all other animals. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be m removed. Please reconsider this delisting proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Lisa	Geary	Dorchester	MA	2122	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Natalie	Aharonian	North Hollywood	CA	91605	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Chris	Dahlstedt	Massachusetts	MA	2145	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Lucas	Kwader	Oregon	OR	97527	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Suzann	Daley	Shoreline	WA	98177	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
suzanne	carreker-voigt	Scotia	NY	12302	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Kim	Greenawalt	Pottstown	PA	19464	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
S.	K.	Midlothian	VA	23112	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Ellen	L	IL	IL	60302	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Rowana	Okun	Virginia	VA	24523	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Rose	Garrett	California	CA	95482	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Ronald	Burlin	Abingdon	MD	21009	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Leslie	Jubilee	MD	MD	21286	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Tiffany	Mooneyhan	California	CA	93422	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Pam	Koller	Flagler beach	FL	32136	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Sara	Lopez	Phoenix	AZ	85051	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jim	Kastner	Kurtistown	HI	9676p	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jim	Kastner	Kurtistown	HI	9676p	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Antoinette	Daab	Cape Coral	FL	33914	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Joy	Baldwin	Sacramento	CA	95819	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jeffrey	Carter	Westminster	CO	80031	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Nicole	Camp	Gilbert	AZ	85295	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Steve	S	washington	DC	20560	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Cheryl	Kallenbach	Winchester	ID	83555	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Marylee	McInnes	Santa Fe	NM	87505	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Lauren	Rapp	St Louis	MO	63110	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Shinobu	Fukushima	Tokyo	ot	1510053	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Shinobu	Fukushima	Tokyo	ot	1510053	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, juergen	wulf	berlin	DC	10825	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Janine	Tokarczyk	Mebane	NC	27302	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, carol jo	rotrock	Clawson	MI	48017	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Kristine	Jegierski	Clarence Ctr	NY	14032	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Kenneth	Lump	CO	CO	80122	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Ronald	Smith	Dallas	TX	75228	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
NADIA	BURNS	Virginia	VA	23188	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
David	Allen	Fairbanks	AK	99702	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Debra	Cosentino	N Ft Myers	FL	33903	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Lynn	Griffith	WA	WA	98110	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Crystal	Grubbs	IN	IN	46619	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, carol	olson	ronan	MT	59864	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Alana	Klinka	Bridgeport	CT	6605	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Lizzette	Reyes	Las Vegas	NV	89178	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Renee	De Camp	Bremerton	WA	98312	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, olivia	blond	portland	OR	97214	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
olivia	blond	portland	OR	97214	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, hilarie	h.	atlanta	GA	30307	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Dixie	Myers	McAllen	TX	78504	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Hope	Bronner	Loveland	OH	45140	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Hope	Bronner	Loveland	OH	45140	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, paul	heloskie	NY	NY	11783	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
MICHAEL	CEDENO	OKLAHOMA CITY	OK	73170	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Tim	Baxter	mobile	AL	36606	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Mike	Palmer	NJ	NJ	7731	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
George	Grant	Toms River	NJ	8757	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Alexis	Mummert	WA	WA	99202	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Alexis	Mummert	WA	WA	99202	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Orva M	Gullett	Marion	OH	43302	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Orva M	Gullett	Marion	OH	43302	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Julia	Wade	Arlington Heights	IL	60004	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Julia	Wade	Arlington Heights	IL	60004	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Donna	Delisi	Lenox	MI	48048	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Justin	Larrarbee	Rotterdam	NY	12306	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Christina	Gregory	CA	CA	92507	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Ken	Robinson	Santa Fe	NM	87507	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Ken	Robinson	Santa Fe	NM	87507	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Brian	Welch	IL	IL	60178	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
M	Koome	Niagara Falls	NY	14305	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, john	martinez	lomita	CA	90717	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Beverly	Silberg	Oklahoma	OK	73112	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Julie	Bush	Corpus Christi	TX	78414	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Julie	Bush	Corpus Christi	TX	78414	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Danielle	Lawrence	Clermont	FL	34711	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, amy	hile	California	CA	91377	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
SUsan	Knight	Florida	FL	33442	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Laura-May	Abron	VA	VA	22207	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Lucy	Buxton	Derbyshire	ot	SK22 4BH	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jared	Howe	Washington	WA	98108	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
John	Brown	Kent	ot	ME168BH	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Wiilliam	Forbes	Nacogdoches	TX	75964	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Richard	Maxwell	North Platte	NE	69103	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Macyle	Candela	East Berlin	PA	17316	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Macyle	Candela	East Berlin	PA	17316	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Janice	Brose	Rockville	MD	20853	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
John	Praprotnik	Phoenix	AZ	85069	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Susan	Fladager	Leadville	CO	80461	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Susan	Fladager	Leadville	CO	80461	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Sonya	Hene	LaGrange Park	IL	60526	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, sallie	martin	CA	CA	94605	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Christy	Mazrimas-Ott	Illinois	IL	60438	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Christy	Mazrimas-Ott	Illinois	IL	60438	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Todd	Smarr	Denver	CO	80202	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Todd	Smarr	Denver	CO	80202	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Todd	Smarr	Denver	CO	80202	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, piero	masarati	Cassano D'Adda	ot	20062	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Guy	Kramer	Newark	DE	19711	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Mary	Bissell	somerville	NJ	8876	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Mary	Bissell	somerville	NJ	8876	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Norma	Itule	Arizona	AZ	85711	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Rob	Schrock	Kalispell	MT	59901	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Cathy	Nelson-Herrera	Leesburg	VA	20177	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Lilinoe	Smith	HI	HI	96741	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Lilinoe	Smith	HI	HI	96741	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
David	Haugen	Minot	ND	58701	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Miklos	Bosarge	Cincinnati	OH	45239	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Terrie	Phenicie	Athelstane	WI	54104	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Wesley	Sharp	Ottawa	IL	61350	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Ken	Travis	Silver spring	MD	20904	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Sue	Struthers	Riverside	CA	92506	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Fred	Brodsky	Ft. Lauderdale	FL	33306	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Fred	Brodsky	Ft. Lauderdale	FL	33306	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Dina	R	Chicago	IL	60613	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Mary	Weeden	Lake Geneva	WI	53147	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, natalie	collins	FL	FL	34748	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Mary	Tuma	North Carolina	NC	28205	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Lori	Caswell	Milwaukee	WI	53212	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
John	Byland	Teaticket	MA	2536	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Jean	Berman	MA	MA	2151	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jimmie Lynne	Berry	Flatwoods	KY	41139	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jean	Mar	Huntington	NY	11743	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Carman	de la Cruz	Rio Rancho	NM	87124	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Vianey	Vargas	Reseda	CA	91335	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
John	Ruhl	Flemington	NJ	8822	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Corinna	Canale	Choose a State	ot	152	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
M	Gandara	CA	CA	91715	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Pete	Rossomando	Springfield	NJ	7081	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Heidi	Nevala	Washburn	WI	54891	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Heidi	Nevala	Washburn	WI	54891	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Allen	ALexander	Wilmington	DE	19802	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Karen	Nakakihara	Alpine	TX	79831	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Edward	North	Palo Alto	CA	94301	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Sherry	Alexander	Springfield	VA	22153	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Tom	Kemper	NC	NC	27312	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Wendy	Jordan	Washington	DC	20015	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Mimi	Rosenfeld	Brooklyn	NY	11217	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
David	Kuzmeskus	Aiken	SC	29801	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Christopher	Comparetta	Pittsford	NY	14534	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Debra	Wontor	Lords Valley	PA	18428	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Debra	Wontor	Lords Valley	PA	18428	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Doug	Vacek	Reno	NV	89512	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Melissa	Paul	MN	MN	55316	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Karen	Cook	Jupiter	FL	34458	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Robert	Oberdorf	FL	FL	33322	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Michael	Noyes	Schuylerville	NY	12871	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Roberta	Young	White Plains	NY	10603	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
John	Wilhelmsen	Rockford	IL	61114	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Christine	MacNeil	Philadelphia	PA	19154	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - The only creatures I can think of who truly do not want the bears are the salmon!! - - Sincerely,
Jeffrey	Higgins	Guilford	CT	6437	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Lugenia	Crusoe	Chicago	IL	60645	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Alyssa	Hall	North Mankato	MN	56003	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Christian	Kasperkovitz	Tujunga	CA	91042	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Blake	Tuszynski	Mobile	AL	36609	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Douglas	Ellis	Peoria	IL	61604	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Greta	Rossi	NJ	NJ	7882	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Kristine	Tsujimoto	VICTORIA	TX	77904	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Barbara	Nolan	PA	PA	19104	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Tom	Rolofson	Colorado Springs	CO	80906	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Charla	Chop	Florida	FL	33755	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Kathryn M	Tominey	Washington	WA	99320	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Marie	Vega	Artesia	CA	Artesia	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Stacia	Haley	WA	WA	98108	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, jamie	dos santos	hollywood	FL	33019	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Deborah	Willette	INDIANA	IN	46135	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Tina	Stevens	Olympia	WA	98512	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
John	Schmidt	Lawrenceville	GA	30043	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Lorraine	Gray	MA	MA	2131	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, nestor	berazategui	Maip├‖	ID	55152	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
nestor	berazategui	Maip├‖	ID	55152	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Barbara	Bonfield	Tacoma	WA	98407	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
LAURA	LECIS	SBA	ot	0	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Gemma	Simmons	East Sussex	ot	TN38 0SN	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Gemma	Simmons	East Sussex	ot	TN38 0SN	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, sophie	lavorel	Ste C├─cile d' Andorge	ot	30110	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Marilyn	Wilson	WA	WA	99109	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Daniel	Pazo	Pontevedra	ot	36410	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Amy	McKeon	Seattle	WA	98106	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Veronika	Widmer	Darmstadt	ot	60325	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Memoree	VanderHeyden	West Bend	WI	53095	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Barbara	Vieira	New York	NY	10312	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Carol	Hernandez	WI	WI	53403	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Tania	Malven	Arizona	AZ	85719	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Craig	Smith	Beaverton	OR	97005	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Alan	Mercado	McKinney	TX	75071	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Ernie	Walters	CA	CA	94587	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Damian	Velez	Parlin	NJ	8859	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Lynn	Monroe	Oshkosh	WI	54901	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Lynn	Monroe	Oshkosh	WI	54901	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, jim	Gergat	PA	PA	19505	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Sharon	Parshall	Fall City	WA	98024	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Shelly	Joscelyn	Lansdale	PA	19446	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Robert	March	Warren	OH	44483	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Charles	Lange	OR	OR	97402	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jason	Crawford	Lancaster	PA	17601	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Debbie	Burr	Georgia	GA	31126	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Tricia	van Oers	Pawling	NY	12564	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Julie	Viergutz	Ohio	OH	44109	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Tiffiny	Schults	OR	OR	97364	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Barbara	Hoch	McConnelsville	OH	43756	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Steph	Trujillo	Des Moines	IA	50320	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jeremy	Navarre	MI	MI	48111	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Gabriela	Maya	Houston	TX	77008	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Nathan	Sullenberger	Greensburg	PA	15601	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jennifer	Hierl	Brooklyn	NY	11238	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Wanda	Willey Halpin	Milbridge	ME	4658	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - I am against killing these bears as I believe birth control is a better choice. If it becomes necessary to euthanize a bear it should be due to illness or injury and it should be done medically so as to alleviate fear and comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. - - Please reconsider this delisting proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on tl
Wanda	Willey Halpin	Milbridge	ME	4658	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Kenneth	Woods	Kansas	KS	67217	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Donna	Frye	Kansas	KS	66944	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Lori	Dixon	Panorama City	CA	91402	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Patricia	Nadreau	Tomah	WI	54660	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Patricia	Nadreau	Tomah	WI	54660	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Anne	Bailey	Fairport	NY	14450	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Charles	Szasz	Evans	CO	80620	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Rose	Chludzinski	Erie	PA	16503	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. Humans have destroyed too much habitat & murdered far too many beautiful animals-This must stop. Please do the right thing KEEP BEARS PROTECTED!!! - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Rose	Chludzinski	Erie	PA	16503	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. Humans have murdered too many animals & destroyed acres of habitat-this must stop. Please do the right thing keep Grizzly Bears safe & protected. - Sincerely,
Margaret	Bollini	Boone	NC	28607	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Margaret	Bollini	Boone	NC	28607	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, norma	cordero	brooklyn	NY	11207	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Leanne	Martin	Bellkeville	IL	62226	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jocelyn	Gallegos	Navarre	FL	32566	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Melissa	Harl	VA	VA	23222	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Joan	Viers	Hubbard	OR	97032	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Lee	Stone	Lacombe	LA	70445	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Sandra	Holstein	Aurora	CO	80014	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Sandy	Dash	Lake mary	FL	32746	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Gaetano	Rizzi	Denver	CO	80220	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Kim	Potzinget	Huntington Station	NY	11746	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Joan	Wells	AZ	AZ	85207	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, mallory	draper	victoria	TX	77905	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Breanna	Strain	OH	OH	43302	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Susan	Kilgore	Lummi Island	WA	98262	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, heather	bauer	AZ	AZ	85225	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Elizabeth	Cronin	NY	NY	11229	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, joanne	borelli	aberdeen	NJ	7747	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Nancy	Hayden	Spokane	WA	99217	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Teresa	Curl	Georgia	GA	30728	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Annie	Frees	Highland	CA	92346	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jenny	Witt	OH	OH	45056	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jeffery	Olson	Vista	CA	92084	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Camille	Loo	Scottsdale	AZ	85258	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Edmund	Skowronski	Pennsylvania	PA	18360	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Deborah	Coalter	Leominster	MA	1453	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Paul	Martin	Danvers	MA	1923	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
JIM	ANDALORO	Liverpool	NY	13088	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Dan	Bulmer	Harrison	MI	48625	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Paula	Bonnell	Scottsdale	AZ	85255	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
david	schatanoff	Old Bridge	NJ	8857	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Lauren	Maclise	New York	NY	10016	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Laura	Wanek	Etna	WY	83118	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Chris	Byknish	Masury	OH	44438	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Chris	Byknish	Masury	OH	44438	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Ken	Reno	Savannah	GA	31405	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Kathy	Gonzalez	Albuquerque	NM	87110	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Paula	Bard	Morrison	CO	80465	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
M	MATTELL	VT	VT	5702	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Alyse	Vasil	Ocean Isle Beach	NC	28469	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, kurt	hein	lexington park	MD	20653	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Natalie	Quiet	Wheat Ridge	CO	80033	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, jillian	nelson	CT	CT	6405	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jennifer	Snyder	IL	IL	60087	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Sabrina	Fiodorow	CT	CT	6037	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, kimberly	mandl	MA	MA	2148	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Karina	Debow	Quitman	TX	75783	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Janis	Totham-Davies	Takoma Park	MD	20912	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Nancy	Smith	My pleasant	SC	29464	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Shirley	Sessom	Rio Rancho	NM	87144	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Leslie	Bow	Oro Valley	AZ	85704	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this declining population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect w wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Ple keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Leslie	Bow	Oro Valley	AZ	85704	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Leslie	Bow	Oro Valley	AZ	85704	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
David	Wallace	San Francisco	CA	94102	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
R	Lansing	Surprise	AZ	85387	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, elena	racansky	etobicoke	ON	M9B4L4	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jane	Collier	Berthoud	CO	80513	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, lynne	menard	CT	CT	6035	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Stefania Jasmine	Carolo	Mirano	ot	30035	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jaime	Waits	MI	MI	49046	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
April	Esterly	Bradenton	FL	34207	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Sandra	Pugh	Grimes	IA	50111	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Marc	Leclerc	Montreal	QC	H4J 2R8	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this declining population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect w wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Ple keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Corrina	Parker	Toowoomba	ot	4350	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Corrina	Parker	Toowoomba	ot	4350	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Amy	Heicher	Florida	FL	32073	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
John	Fox	Scarborough	ME	4074	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Nancy	Hauer	White Bear Township	MN	55110	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Lainy	Mistich	Conroe	TX	77384	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Lainy	Mistich	Conroe	TX	77384	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
John	Curtiss	Tucson	AZ	85749	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Karen	Wait	Arden	NC	28704	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
THEODORE	BELOIN	Arizona	AZ	85711	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jamie	Drobik	Jefferson	GA	30549	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Suzanne	Wooldridge	Gravel Switch	KY	40328	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Tiffani	Long	PA	PA	17043	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Tiffani	Long	PA	PA	17043	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Claudia	Pearce	Lake Arrowhead	CA	92352	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Nivo	Rovedo	Lagrangeville	NY	12540	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Christine	Gotis	New York	NY	10033	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Amy	Pick	New Paltz	NY	12561	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Amy	Pick	New Paltz	NY	12561	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Yvette	Lantz	SC	SC	29579	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Brenda	Rivera	North Hollywood	CA	91601	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Daniel	Driver	Woodbury	NJ	8096	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Beth	Muetzel	Mankato	MN	56001	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Donna	Rogers	Titusville	FL	32796	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Victor	Wittmann	Marlboro	NJ	7746	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Victor	Wittmann	Marlboro	NJ	7746	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
John H.	Taylor	Wilmington	DE	19808	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Betty	Smisek	West St Paul	MN	55118	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jamie	Reynolds	Fayetteville	AR	72701	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, diane	Martens	Orlando	FL	32801	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Clare	Farabaugh	Dallas	PA	18612	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Kenneth	Nash	New Baltimore	MI	48047	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Maureen	Banks	Tampa	FL	33613	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jane B	Dickson	VA	VA	23693	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
ROBERT	Nerger	Na'alehu	HI	967724	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Donald	Goppert	Canastota	NY	13157	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Donald	Goppert	Canastota	NY	13157	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Allan	Goldstein	Old Tappan	NJ	7675	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Shelly	McManus	Summit	NJ	7901	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Patricia	Miller	Pennsylvania	PA	17345	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Nancy	Moore	Madison	WI	53705	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Lynne	Rooney-Katsma	Oswego	IL	60543	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Darlene	Byrd	MI	MI	48002	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Darlene	Byrd	MI	MI	48002	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Carol	Stanley	Redmond	WA	98052	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Carol	Stanley	Redmond	WA	98052	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Cynthia	Flynn	Poughkeepsie	NY	12603	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Joyce	Felder	San Diego	CA	92123	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Tiffany	Wey	Terre Haute	IN	47803	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Stacie	Inkel	Signal Hill	CA	90755	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, kim	brower	Asheboro	NC	27205	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Don	Thompson	Cambridge	MA	2139	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Don	Thompson	Cambridge	MA	2139	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Shaikha	Alfuwairis	Portland	OR	97232	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Laura	Beikman	Texas	TX	75238	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Patricia	Barnes	TUCSON	AZ	85710	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Elisa	Filoni	Washington	WA	98201	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Michael	Prete	Tucson	AZ	85719	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jane	Alexander	Wilton	CT	6897	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Joseph	Mitchell	Muskogee	OK	74402	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Tim	Murphy	CA	CA	91506	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Tim	Murphy	CA	CA	91506	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Veronica	Cavell	Helena	MT	59601	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Kathleen	Lopresti	Mansfield	MA	2048	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Kyle	Yaskin	CA	CA	90046	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Carlos	Leo	Hollywood	FL	33019	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Carlos	Leo	Hollywood	FL	33019	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Cathy	Brandolisio	Sherman oaks	CA	91423	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Karen	Stimson	Orange	CT	6477	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Justin	NUGENT	Lancashire	ot	PR26 9HG	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
G	Walker	Indianapolis	IN	46202	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Sandra	Baldacci	Pisa	ot	0	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Sandra	Baldacci	Pisa	ot	0	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
James & Alice	Bradley	Prairieville	LA	70769	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, karen	caola	New York	NY	12180	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, charles	quaintance	jupiter	FL	33477	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Blithe	Hogan	Acton	MA	1720	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Nancy	Harlow	Pueblo	CO	81007	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Lucia	Reid	Florida	FL	34236	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. PLEASE rec Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, melinda	bloom	columbia	MO	65202	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Kim	Brace	FL	FL	33782	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Peyton	Townes	Indiana	IN	46220	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Terry	Nyer	NY	NY	11793	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
r.	guidi	dalton	MA	1226	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, rebecca	levinson	new york	NY	10003	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Heather	Ruckman	WV	WV	26070	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Michael	Cynamon	Dewitt	NY	13214	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
N.	Yantorn Jr.	Brecksville	OH	44141	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Helen	Calvert	Brentwood	NH	3833	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Mary	Sgarlato	Staten Island	NY	10301	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Lisa	Buehler	Montana	MT	59922	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Richard	Delaney	NY	NY	12345	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Nan	Schmid	NYC	NY	10014	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Priscilla	Mezrahi	Merrick	NY	11566	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Priscilla	Mezrahi	Merrick	NY	11566	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Summer	Devlin	Merritt Island	FL	32953	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Michelle E	Camp	Rochester	MN	55904	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Eric	Siebert	burgaw	NC	28425	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Harry	Epstein	bronx	NY	10463	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, victoria	sweeney	bradenton	FL	34209	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Mariellen	French	Connecticut	CT	6355	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Robert	Sheen	Utah	UT	84105	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Dave	Roehm	WA	WA	98640	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
John	Andrews	Manlius	NY	13104	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, pamela	e	winstonsalem	NC	27103	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Marian	Scena	Chicago	IL	60629	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, louis	bondi	FL	FL	33141	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Christy	Wheasler-Davis	Minneapolis	MN	55418	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Hilary	Hatch	Leicester	VT	5733	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Robert	Pegram	CA	CA	95817	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Elizabeth	Cliff	Longmont	CO	80504	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Violeta	Russis	Ohio	OH	45233	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, hamid	zavareei	seattle	WA	98126	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Peter	Snyder	MD	MD	21237	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Deborah	Reeves	Utah	UT	84116	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
James	Whitelock	Miami	FL	33162	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Ali	Minor	Lake Zurich	IL	60047	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Elizabeth	Kramer	Brookings	OR	97415	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Christina	Nebe	Phoenix	AZ	85032	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Roberta	D'Andrea	RI	RI	2893	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Courtney	Wall	TX	TX	76126	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Courtney	Wall	TX	TX	76126	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, d'Anne	MacNeil	Mesa	AZ	85202	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Daisy	Sweetland	Oregon	OR	97030	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Kevin	Smith	Buffalo	NY	14218	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Susan	Ponchot	FL	FL	33351	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Susan	Ponchot	FL	FL	33351	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Steven	Andrychowski	New Britain	CT	6051	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Steven	Andrychowski	New Britain	CT	6051	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Eve	Taliaferro	New York	NY	12603	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
David	Balan	Westfield	IN	46074	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Sherry	Bowles	Charleston	WV	25302	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Debra	Stewart	Lexington	KY	40504	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, christine	way-cotter	quincy	MA	2189	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Geoff	Browne	New Milford	NJ	7646	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Gary	Moore	CA	CA	92082	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Robert	Vendl	Malabar	FL	32950	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Andrea	Toledano-DeMars	Forest Hills	NY	11375	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
George	Bourlotos	NJ	NJ	7950	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
George	Bourlotos	NJ	NJ	7950	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jamie	Louis	HI	HI	96782	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, alexa	berton	Vermont	VT	5301	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Alexis	Fry	McHenry	IL	60050	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Mary Martha	Thiel	Brookline	MA	2445	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jane	McDonald	Erie	PA	16508	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Rose	Wolny	AZ	AZ	85128	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
James	Chambo	Chapel Hill	NC	27516	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Judy	Snyder	Follansbee	WV	26037	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Denise	Cook	Newberry	FL	32669	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Toni	Patterson	Hamilton	MT	59840	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Denise	Svekric	OH	OH	44103	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Laurie	Brady	WHITE PLAINS	NY	10605	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Laurie	Brady	WHITE PLAINS	NY	10605	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Joe	Schott	Central City	IA	52214	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Linda	Linn	waterloo	NY	13165	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Pamela	Raup-Kounovsky	New York	NY	12037	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Vii	Wee	El paso	TX	79902	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Kristen	Sevier	Mansfield	TX	76063	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Ariel	Calmes	Evanston	WY	82930	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, mary	rivas	riverton	NJ	8077	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
mary	rivas	riverton	NJ	8077	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Patricia	Delaney	Hingham	MA	2043	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Patricia	Myers	St. Petersburg	FL	33703	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Kevin	Petty	Tempe	AZ	85282	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Kevin	Petty	Tempe	AZ	85282	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Kevin	Petty	Tempe	AZ	85282	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Lisa	Scharin	Huger	SC	29450	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Audrey	Franklin	Brighton	CO	80601	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Audrey	Franklin	Brighton	CO	80601	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Audrey	Franklin	Brighton	CO	80601	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Sarah	John	London	ot	TW77HY	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Christopher	Lopez	VT	VT	5701	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Patricia	Winne	Forest City	NC	28043	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, marjorie	Knodle	Cincinnati	OH	45237	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Shoshana	Serxner-Merchant	Raleigh	NC	27607	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Diane	D	OR	OR	97386	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jay	Silverman	Boca Raton	FL	33496	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Stacy	Bouilland	Florida	FL	33486	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Kevin	Laliberte	North Chelmsford	MA	1863	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Kathleen	Brader	Lancaster	PA	17601	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Annette	Lambert	TX	TX	75101	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Suzanne	Birch	Faribault	MN	55021	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
R	Parks	San Diego	CA	92101	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
David	Baier	Clearwater	FL	33756	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Sue	Stoeckel	Everett	WA	98203	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Rob	Wolfe	San Tan Valley	AZ	85143	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Joan	McGrath	Franklin	MA	2038	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, linda	tafoya	idaho falls	ID	83402	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Debra	Evon	Minneapolis	MN	55403	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Peter	Mason	Westfield	MA	1085	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
David	Hand	Bainbridge Island	WA	98110	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jennifer	Hursey	Chaska	MN	55318	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, mark	pinter	IL	IL	60510	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Rocio	Muhs	Missoula	MT	59893	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Errol	Dillon	Flora	MS	39071	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Steven	Campbell	Presque Isle	ME	4769	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Paul	Berland	Choose a State	IL	60123	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Milena	G	Cacak	ot	32223	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Vallie	Lenzen-DeBad	OR	OR	97055	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Deborah	DeWolfe	Flagstaff	AZ	86001	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Myra	Dewhurst	Miami	FL	33176	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Myra	Dewhurst	Miami	FL	33176	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Annie	O'Connor	southampton	MA	1073	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
BARBARA	EISENSTADT	New York	NY	12065	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Kristina	Peterson	Mill creek	WA	98012	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Marie	Erwin	Brownsville	TX	78521	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
B	Batson	Dallas	TX	75230	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Ashley	Jasper	FL	FL	33710	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, alfred	staab	wichita	KS	67205	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, alfred	staab	wichita	KS	67205	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Rebecca	Brown	San Jose	CA	95124	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Arthur	Noble	Bandon	OR	97411	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Larry	Brown	Honolulu	HI	96826	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Judy	Mosher	New Mexico	NM	87505	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Ana	Reyes	California	CA	92335	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, miracle	Kelly	San Marcos	CA	92078	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Richard	La Bombard	Dartmouth	MA	02747/12C	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Laura	Passey	AZ	AZ	85283	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. Man is natures cancer, when we kill something in the wild, so we kill our soul. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determin protections are removed. Please reconsider this delisting proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Michael	Marek	Phoenix	AZ	85044	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, francine	scott	las vegas	NV	89143	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Evelyn	F	Yorba linda	CA	92885	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Rayleen	Wagner	Modesto	CA	95354	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Nichole	Rose	Seattle	WA	98107	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jeanette	Casciano	Hewitt	NJ	7421	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Wendy	Holland	Cops Bay	OR	97420	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Sandra	Denoi	Alton	ME	4468	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Theresa	Foley	Arizona	AZ	85266	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Hosea	McAdoo	SHERWOOD	AR	72120	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, georgia and wayne	gillespie	baLDWINSVILLE	NY	13027	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Tony	Lentini	GA	GA	30039	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Betty	Chan	Mt. Juliet	TN	37122	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Cynthia	McGinnis	Ronkonkoma	NY	11779	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Laura	Dvorak	Hilo	HI	96720	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Laura	Anastasio	Bronx	NY	10462	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this declining population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect w wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Ple keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Laura	LaVertu	Alexandria	VA	22303	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Lela	Jameson	AZ - Arizona	AZ	85023	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Summer	Hughes	Huber Heights	OH	45424	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Julianne	Key	Gurley	AL	35748	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Daniel	Brant	Port Townsend	WA	98368	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Randall	Boltz	San diego	CA	92112	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Karen	Brockwell	Oklahoma City	OK	73127	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Karla	Everett	San Jose	CA	95136	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
T	G	wharton	NJ	7885	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
T	G	wharton	NJ	7885	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Justine	Tilley	Williamsburg	VA	23188	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Janet	Lawson	Strongsville	OH	44136	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, aaa	ddd	New Mexico	NM	87502	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Anne	Martin	Hampton	AR	71744	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Clydell	Peairs	Hayward	CA	94545	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
KATIE	MAGALLON	BROOKFIELD	IL	60513	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Tracey	Bonner	Arlington	TX	76014	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Tracey	Bonner	Arlington	TX	76014	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Tracey	Bonner	Arlington	TX	76014	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Tracey	Bonner	Arlington	TX	76014	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Abby	Miller	Bloomington	IN	47404	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Abby	Miller	Bloomington	IN	47404	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Bert	Selig	Monrovia	CA	91017	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Michael	Cooper	Houston	TX	77082	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, maya	gorina	kensington	MD	20895	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Laurie	Zdrofcoff	Whitehall	PA	18052	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Mark	Koritz	GA	GA	30338	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Mark	Koritz	GA	GA	30338	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Cindy	Denmark	Windsor	CT	6095	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Tina	Ann	Bolinas	CA	94924	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
John	Arnn	Austin	TX	78704	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Robert	Posch	Fort Lauderdale	FL	33305	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Sam	Andujar	NY	NY	10029	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, maureen	rogers	Oregon	OR	97132	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
N.	D.	DeMotte	IN	46310	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
William	Combs	Castro Valley	CA	94546	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Paula	Ferguson	Disputanta	VA	23842	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Camille	D'Ascoli	Irmo	SC	29063	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Dan(iel)	Metzger II	New Ringgold	PA	17960	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Pamela	Gibberman	Panorama City	CA	91402	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Mary	More	Flourtown	PA	19031	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Pat	Wilburn	rowlett	TX	75089	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Bonnie	Gallik	Wickliffe	OH	44092	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Heidi	Handsaker	MT	MT	59102	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
George	Joseph	Arkansas	AR	72764	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Elisabeth	Bj╟rklund	Avesta	ot	77460	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, maria	ofarrell	Raleigh	NC	27607	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Carol	Garner	Portland	OR	97206	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Diane	jANSON	Denver	CO	80207	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Deborah	Mays	TN	TN	37072	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Deborah	Mays	TN	TN	37072	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, colette	duriez	State	ot	28160	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Patricia	Deimer-Steineke	Omro	WI	54963	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Patricia	Deimer-Steineke	Omro	WI	54963	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Pete	Jackson	BC British Columbia	BC	V0R1K5	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Claudia	Mackey	Stockton	CA	95207	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Bente	Millek	None	ot	6400	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Sonja	Ericson	La Quinta	CA	92248	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Donna	Lampkin	Seymour	IN	47274	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Richard	Taylor	Belvedere Tiburon	CA	94920	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Kevin	Vaught	Antioch	TN	37013	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Kevin	Vaught	Antioch	TN	37013	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Annette	Dubois	Hudson	NH	3051	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Karole	Moyed	Dallas	TX	75231	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Demizka	Mag	Vallejo	CA	94590	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Fred	Cepela	Traverse City	MI	49684	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Fred	Cepela	Traverse City	MI	49684	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Marie Colette	Chevrier	ON	ON	K0A 2T0	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Cynthia	Loewer-Torrez	San Jose	CA	95121	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this declining population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect w wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Ple keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Steven	Phenicie	Athelstane	WI	54104	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Marcia	Greenhill	Barnwell	SC	29812	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Sherry	Epstein	Sandy Springs	GA	30328	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Mayelly	Moreno	New York	NY	11207	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Elizabeth	Mello	Rio de Janeiro	ot	22743	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Matthew	Karp	Nyack	NY	10960	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Deanne	Hart	Ashland	MA	1721	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Christine	Coleman	Overland Park	KS	66211	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Christine	Coleman	Overland Park	KS	66211	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Mike	Souza	Terre Haute	IN	47803	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, paris	karali	zurich	VI	6300	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Erin	Blad	Brooklyn	NY	11201	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jenny	Wallis	Heathfield	AL	TN21 8QH	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Ian	Courts	Evergreen	CO	80439	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jane	Butler	Hedgesville	WV	25427	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Susan	Kutz	Las Cruces	NM	88012	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Sandra	Dieterich-Hughes	Nevada	NV	89104	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, charlie	speno	durango	CO	81301	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
charlie	speno	durango	CO	81301	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Ashley	Seib	Salt Lake City	UT	84101	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Tamara	Ashley	Mishawaka	IN	46546	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Tom	Kullen	Utah	UT	84060	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Eric	Beck	Knoxville	TN	37923	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Michelle	Hofmann	Portland	OR	97203	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Gregory	Elems	Reno	NV	89506	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, janet	rupp	Boulder	CO	80301	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, russ	ziegler	downers grove	IL	60516	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Gary	Anderson	Garfield	KY	40140	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Marc	Conrad	Chicago	IL	60613	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Rachel	Greenblatt	Yorktown Heights	NY	10598	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, sharon	parker	topeka	KS	66616	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Joan	Tokarz	Bristol	RI	2809	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Josh	Cupriks	New Jersey	NJ	8904	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Harlisa	Asumen	Kapolei	HI	96707	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Janice	Messer	New Bern	NC	28560	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Catherine	Tallman	Portland	OR	97221	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Cinzia	Amiconi	Cave Creek	AZ	85331	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Stephen	Hirsch	Spring lake	NJ	7762	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Stephen	Hirsch	Spring lake	NJ	7762	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Andrea	Nutley	Pearland	TX	77581	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Andrea	Nutley	Pearland	TX	77581	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Lynn	Skibinski	Tonawanda	NY	14150	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Sheila	Kim	National City	CA	91950	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Isadora	Almaro	Lakewood	OH	44107	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Wendy	Danielson	East Olympia	WA	98540	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Sue	Ferguson	Clear creek	IN	47426	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Tom	Tripp	CO	CO	80524	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Tom	Tripp	CO	CO	80524	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Gary	Moore	Eagle River	AK	99577	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Dorothea	Vecchiotti	New Hampshire	NH	3444	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, penny	george	Utah	UT	84117	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Darlene	Littlefield	Houston	TX	77059	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Cynthia	Murphy	Yuma	AZ	85364	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Alistair	Bradley	Hilliard	OH	43026	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Alan	Wolff	MN	MN	55404	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Dan	Keller	Texas	TX	75115	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Sandra	Countermine	Jonesborough	TN	37659	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Clara	Alonzo	whitestone	NY	11357	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Kenneth	Colosky	New York	NY	10002	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Kenneth	Colosky	New York	NY	10002	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, karl	syndulko	los angeles	CA	90064	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jackie	Dobberteen	Citrus Hgts	CA	95621	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, Jackie Dobberteen
Margot	Tollefson/Conard	Stratford	IA	50249	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Jane	Spini	Arcata	CA	95521	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jackie	Ruiz	Miami	FL	33012	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Beth	Zanzie	Coralville	IA	52241	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jan	Chepeska	Lewiston	MI	49756	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Lindsay	Attrill	Norwich	ot	NR47HJ	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Lindsay	Attrill	Norwich	ot	NR47HJ	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Nancy	Melton	Seattle	WA	98115	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jeff	Thomas	Virginia	VA	22973	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Renata	Dusseault	Taunton	MA	2780	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Devonte	Henry	Fort Worth	TX	76001	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Karen	La Fountain	ID	ID	83402	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, - - Mrs. Karen R. LaFountain
Herb	Lowrance	New Jersey	NJ	8753	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Charles	Muise	New Jersey	NJ	8015	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Tonya	Abbott	Yorktown	VA	23693	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Catherine	Nettesheim	Huntington	NY	11743	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Dorothy	McElwain	PA	PA	15642	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
LINDA	AUSTIN-BUSS	WI	WI	54618	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
WRIGHT	TOWERY	eugene	OR	97402	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Amy	Gregord	South Euclid	OH	44121	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Betty	Surkamp	Ohio	OH	45150	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Robert	Sledzaus	Reston	VA	20194	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Ellis	Woodward	Baltimore	MD	21211	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Pat	Saxon	TX	TX	75080	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Robert	Jenkins	UTAH	UT	84109	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
June	Picard	MI	MI	48706	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Margarita	Perez	Sylmar	CA	91342	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Diane	Calkins	Philadelphia	PA	19131	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Hugh	Carola	New Jersey	NJ	7607	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jona	johnson	Lawrenceville	GA	30043	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jane	Craker	Kent	OH	44240	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Dena	Shelangoski	IA	IA	52567	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Rachel	Arnone	Boca grande	FL	33921	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Raymond	de Lisle Milton	CA	CA	92612	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Theresa	Morningstar	Michigan	MI	49120	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Sandra	Harkins	PA	PA	15132	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Kevin	Justice	Warner Robins	GA	31093	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Kevin	Justice	Warner Robins	GA	31093	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Penelope	Agodoa	MD	MD	21140	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Lisa	Jaramill	Arvada	CO	80002	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Alexandra	Bechter	Herndon	VA	20171	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Marie Jo	De Maestri	WESTERLY	RI	2891	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Caitlyn	Bowers	Del City	OK	73115	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Julie	Harris	Aloha	OR	97077	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Lana	Cooper	Texas	TX	78728	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Ann	O'Connell	Florence	OR	97439	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Stephanie	Pedler	MA - Massachusetts	MA	2478	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Bill	Kappa	Daytona Beach	FL	32124	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Karen	Swistak	Newmarket	NH	3857	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Linda	Padgett	Rogers	AR	72758	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Kate	Ruland	Dorset	VT	5251	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Angelika	Braxton	TX	TX	78109	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Barbara	Lockard	Canon City	CO	81212	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Leann	Krizek	Palmdale	CA	93552	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Linda	Dunn	Flushing	NY	11358	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, cheryl	mizak	Southbury	CT	6488	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
cheryl	mizak	Southbury	CT	6488	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Arlene	Hellerman	New York	NY	10023	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Sandra	Jackson	Clearwater Beach	FL	33767	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Richard	Kok	Venlo	ot	5915 XH	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Richard	Grzeskowiak	Dexter	MI	48130	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Howard	Johnson	Mesa	AZ	85215	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Cynthia	Call	Melbourne	FL	32904	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Susan	Caldwell	Eugene	OR	98401	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Marianne	Poindexter	PA	PA	19140	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Gary	Bowers	Tennessee	TN	37221	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Maria manuela	Lopes	Cascais	ot	2750	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Margaret	MC Vay	Birmingham	ot	B11 2DT	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Olga	Zaric	Qu├─bec	QC	H3N 1A9	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Sandra	Bush	Vancouver	WA	98668	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Sandra	Bush	Vancouver	WA	98668	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Mary	Rees	Florida	FL	34223	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Christine	Harshman	MN	MN	55025	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Gena	Anderson	Glendale	AZ	85302	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Bonnie	McGill	Conneaut Lake	PA	16316	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Bonnie	McGill	Conneaut Lake	PA	16316	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Steve	Johnson	new york	NY	10014	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
LORRAINE	SANNICANDRO	POUND RIDGE	NY	10576	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Belkys	Rodriguez	Dallas	TX	75248	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Nancy	Merritt	Ballwin	MO	63011	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Mark	Paulis	Skokie	IL	60077	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
C	Braun	Reading	PA	19611	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Laura	Lundy	Albuquerque	NM	87112	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Leslie	Dee	Savage	MN	55378	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Leslie	Dee	Savage	MN	55378	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Leslie	Dee	Savage	MN	55378	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Sarah	Lecomte	OR - Oregon	OR	97502	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Lusi	Perr	CA	CA	92110	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, shawna	reid	columbia falls	MT	59912	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Michelle	Bean	East Peoria	IL	61611	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Heidi	Lytle	AZ	AZ	85641	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jere	Alhadeff	Garden Grove	CA	92843	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Brittany	Esposito	Fallon	NV	89406	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Michael	Gennarelli	Plano	TX	75023	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Christopher	Lord	Brentwood	NY	11717	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Christopher	Lord	Brentwood	NY	11717	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, richard	smith	Melvindale	MI	48122	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Lisa	Perrotta	Walpole	MA	2081	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jean	Perkins	Phippsburg	ME	4562	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Candace	Bassat	Beachwood	NJ	8722	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Sandra	Gerhart	Reading	PA	19608	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Randy	Slussar	fountain hills	AZ	85268	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
m	Guttenberg	Philadelphia	PA	19103	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Sasha	Jackson	Detroit	MI	48228	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Michael	Alexander	Naalehu	HI	96772	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Shirley	C	Portland	OR	97233	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Alice	Camiso	Allentown	NJ	8501	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Glenn	Richardson	Austin	TX	78753	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, william	gerdes-mcClain	norman	OK	73069	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Michael	Romano	NY	NY	11779	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Stephen	Nichols	WA	WA	98597	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Cynthia	McKeen	MN	MN	55102	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Kimberly	Pettit	Moab	UT	84532	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Lori	Taylor	Berthoud	CO	80513	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Ken	Lauter	Nacogdoches	TX	75965	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, angelo	sturino	park ridge	IL	60068	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
George	Baschiera	Ossining	NY	10562	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Ed	Jackson	Alabama	AL	36109	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Eileen	Coffee	Aberdeen	MD	21001	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Tami	Stewart	Monmouth Junction	NJ	8852	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jeanne	McKimpson	Rochester	MN	55901	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Gregory	Cleary	Burnsville	MN	55337	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Suni	Roberts-Ibarra	CA	CA	94928	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, beba	rocha	camp verde	AZ	86322	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Patrick	Hook	Lynnwood	WA	98087	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Michael	Lombardi	Pennsylvania	PA	19054	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Michael	Lombardi	Pennsylvania	PA	19054	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Lyssa	Mercier	Seattle	WA	98119	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Corey	Schade	NJ	NJ	7711	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Corey	Schade	NJ	NJ	7711	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Helen	Knauer	West Allis	WI	53214	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
James	Hayes	FL	FL	34448	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Nancy	Wright	Norridgewock	ME	4957	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Kyle	Gage	Canandaigua	NY	14424	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Kyle	Gage	Canandaigua	NY	14424	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Kim	Scott	Maryland	MD	21234	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Heather	Black	Hampton	NJ	8827	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, joyce	alexander	Choose a State	ot	eh151le	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, p	beach	albuquerque	NM	87196	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Mary	Drabbs	Albuquerque	NM	87109	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Anne	Flanz	Glen Ellyn	IL	60137	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Kellie	Pilgreen	Hallandale	FL	33009	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, sandra	janney	kalispell	MT	59901	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Cindy	Bassham	TX	TX	75080	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Cindy	Bassham	TX	TX	75080	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Angie	Sieb	Indiana	IN	46410	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
PATRICIA	FOLMAN	Lakewood	CA	90713	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
John	Deadman	Faversham, Kent. UK	ot	ME13 7HG	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jayne	Essmann	PA	PA	18974	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Barb	Livingston	Livingston	TX	77352	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Paula	Lepore	Berwick	ME	3901	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Paula	Lepore	Berwick	ME	3901	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Pam	Whitson	Goodland	KS	67735	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Pam	Whitson	Goodland	KS	67735	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Pam	Curtis	Livonia	NY	14487	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Tryniti	Thresher	Everett	WA	98208	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Kim	Gabriele	Portage	MI	49002	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Sabina	Staltari	State *	ot	23854	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Claudine	Mitro	Nuns' Island	QC	H3E 1H4	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
AnnMarie	Hodgson	Barrie	ON	L4N 2T8	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Michele	Lewis	Osceola	IN	46561	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Michele	Lewis	Osceola	IN	46561	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Lee	Witkowski	Lockport	IL	60446	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Lee	Witkowski	Lockport	IL	60446	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Vicki	Smith	merrillan	WI	54754	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - The bears are under pressure which several of their favorite food sources also being under pressure from climate change. In addition, some trees are dying from beetles that are expanding their range also due to c challenge is under way that will impact how much fat the bears can put on prior to hibernation. All these 'drops in a bucket' still threaten to add up to trouble for bears already suffering from habitat loss, human competition, roads, cars and trucks and from intentional search of food. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this delisting proposal and kee species list. - - Sincerely,
Fiona	Stonehouse	Blenheim	ot	7194	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Linda	Reik	NY	NY	12758	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Julia Claire	Septrion	Ann Arbor	MI	48105	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Diane	Rohn	McLean	VA	22101	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Diane	Rohn	McLean	VA	22101	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, joshua	hoff	Albert City	IA	50510	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Sosefo	Mailangi	Hawthorne	CA	90250	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jean	Mack	Florida	FL	33709	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Kelly	Cook	Independence	MO	64052	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Edward	Hall	Glenwood Springs	CO	81601	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Sylvia	Briones	Atlanta	GA	30340	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Judith	Heideman	Hotchkiss	CO	81419	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Randi	Holt	Palatine	IL	60067	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Marianne	Hesse	San Francisco	CA	94117	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, janice	dellovade	McMurray	PA	15317	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Lee	Jacobson	Edgewood	NM	87015	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
j	Doe	New York	NY	10013	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Martie	Enfield	Florida	FL	32792	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Lois	Sotelo	IL	IL	62240	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Donna	Cosgrove	pHiladelphia	PA	19103	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Linda	Couick	Virginia	VA	24015	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Bonita	DeJonge	Rochester	NY	14616	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Bonnie	German	Rochester Hills	MI	48309	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Kae	Flack	Portland	OR	97292	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Kathleen	Duffus	Bellvue	CO	80512	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Cornelia	Teed	Ferndale	WA	98248	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this declining population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect w wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Ple keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Cornelia	Teed	Ferndale	WA	98248	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Margaret	Cornelius	Hopkinsville	KY	42240	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Keith	Bein	Oakland	CA	94602	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, lisa	manni	haverhill	MA	1835	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, chris	brazis	sf	CA	94110	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Dave	Smith	Navarre	FL	32566	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Paul	Reichert	Enon	OH	45323	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Karin	Haag	OR	OR	97068	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Karin	Haag	OR	OR	97068	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
LINDA	ASHWORTH	SPRINGFIELD	OR	97477	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
David	LeRoy	Lewiston	ME	4240	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
David	LeRoy	Lewiston	ME	4240	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Dawn	McTaggart	Mt.Morris	MI	48458	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Patrick and Connie	Berry	New Mexico	NM	87112	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, iLah	Hartung	Wisconsin	WI	53548	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Martin	Kornbluh	Port Washington	NY	11050	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Martin	Kornbluh	Port Washington	NY	11050	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
nancy	kulppi	chicago	IL	60645	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Anita	Chambers	Godley	TX	76044	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Uma	Veloo	Hawaii	HI	96814	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Uma	Veloo	Hawaii	HI	96814	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Uma	Veloo	Hawaii	HI	96814	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Kenneth	Smith	Yuma	AZ	85366	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, stanley	sayer	boston	MA	2130	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jeremy	Baptist	Overland Park	KS	66207	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Sarah	Waller	Cortland	NY	13045	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Lesley	Forrester	PA	PA	15148	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Gil	Hahn	Wickenburg	AZ	85358	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Mel	Cup Choy	Kaneohe	HI	96744	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Robin	Martin	Tallahassee	FL	32308	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, ryan	sciulli	TX	TX	77057	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Gail	Wing	CT	CT	6418	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Tina	Doolen	IN	IN	47630	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Tina	Doolen	IN	IN	47630	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Wendy	Mays	tempe	AZ	85281	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, frederick	HAMMOND	GERMANTOWN	NY	12526	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, john	Kayser	Pine	CO	80470	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Siggi	Conroy	IL	IL	60148	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Donna	Busching	IL	IL	60148	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
JAMES	CURTIS	FLORISSANT	MO	63032	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
William	Kempf	Evansville	IN	47710	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, susan	emery	westfield	MA	1085	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Kristen	Howard	Ellsworth	MI	49712	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Kristen	Howard	Ellsworth	MI	49712	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
David	Sweitzer	Grindstone	PA	15442	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Charles	Pierce	Seattle	WA	98105	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, katherine	Wentworth	newberg	OR	97132	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Matthew	Gray	Bend	OR	97702	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Matthew	Gray	Bend	OR	97702	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Brian	DeMars	Forest Hills	NY	11375	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Amalia	Ramirez Garcia	Madrid	ot	28020	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Amalia	Ramirez Garcia	Madrid	ot	28020	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Vaughan	Greene	Panama City beach	FL	32413	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Vaughan	Greene	Panama City beach	FL	32413	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Maureen	Burke	Palm Beach Gardens	FL	33418	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Sherilyn	Coldwell	San Antonio	TX	78212	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Paola	Marchisio	Cuneo	ot	12100	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, jason	swanson	AB	AB	t5t0w6	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Shamaila	M	TX	TX	75038	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Shamaila	M	TX	TX	75038	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Giulia	Carducci	RM	ot	181	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Aron	Ralston	CO	CO	80304	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Aron	Ralston	CO	CO	80304	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Nancy	McCurry	Boulder	CO	80305	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Tina	Martin	Rochester	NY	14611	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Erin	Marshall	Albany	NY	12208	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, mo4	shenas	whitewright	TX	75491	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Alice	Bartholomew	Elmira	NY	14905	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
C	LaBrecque	San Francisco	CA	94114	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
D.M.	Hunter	Spotsylvania	VA	22551	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
D.M.	Hunter	Spotsylvania	VA	22551	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Lisa	Rockwell	Homeworth	OH	44634	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Lilyana	Srnoguy	Bozeman	MT	59715	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
George	Alexander	Longmont	CO	80503	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Marty	Kenyon	Middletown	PA	17057	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Renate	Bob	Jamestown	NY	14701	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Randy	Shonkwiler	Chicago	IL	60637	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Karen	Hanson	Eden Prairie	MN	55347	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Lynn	Childs	Qld	ot	4673	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Cynthia	Sherman-Jones	Limestone	MI	49816	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Kira	Church	Ogden	UT	84401	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Ellen	Leary	Brockton	MA	2301	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Doug	Marr	Abbotsford	BC	V2S 8E4	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Doug	Marr	Abbotsford	BC	V2S 8E4	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Phillip	Sparrow	Palmer	AK	99645	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Heather	Hewett	Michigan	MI	49648	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Holly	Petitt	Loveland	CO	80537	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Evelyn	Gomez	Pennington	NJ	8534	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Herb	Zetley	Texas	TX	75080	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Peggy	York	Portland	ME	4103	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Peggy	York	Portland	ME	4103	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Joyce	Sherman	OR	OR	97230	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Ed	Born	Pittsburgh	PA	15212	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
James	Huffman	OH	OH	43614	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Keith	Bates	NC	NC	27320	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Lulu	Flores	Austin	TX	78704	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Ruth	Tisher	OH	OH	44691	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Leslie	Murphy	California	CA	95327	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, amanda	quinn	pacifica	CA	94044	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Toni	Lapointe	Chicopee	MA	1013	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Toni	Lapointe	Chicopee	MA	1013	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Ralph	La Fontaine	Florida	FL	34234	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, isabella	bollen	providence	DE	3630	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Donna	DeMunck	Hilton	NY	14468	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Chris	Scholl	Neptune	NJ	7753	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Ronald	Thomas	MI	MI	48111	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Terry	Murcko	Youngstown	OH	44505	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Carl	Stapler	Evanston	WY	82930	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
April	Byrge	Sylva	NC	28779	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Les	Hartzman	CA	CA	91411	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Shaun	Walters	Merrick	NY	11566	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, mike	kaufman	st.paul	MN	55107	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Otmar	Jonas	OR	OR	97027	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
barbara	mcgrath	waltham	MA	2451	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Lee	Tortorici	Columbus	MS	39701	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Manu	Moreno	Torrelavega	ot	39300	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Paul R	Hofheins	NY	NY	14223	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Anna	Simle	Colorado	CO	80211	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Catherine	Brooks	EAST BURKE	VT	5832	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jill	Cacciabando	MO	MO	63119	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jill	Cacciabando	MO	MO	63119	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Barbara	Cardarelli	Redmond	WA	98052	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Douglas	McMillan	Ocala	FL	34476	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Colleen	Dagenhard	Lawrenceville	GA	30045	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Carol	Goerke	Arizona	AZ	85287	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Carol	Goerke	Arizona	AZ	85287	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jacquelline	Johnson	Forreston	IL	61030	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jacquelline	Johnson	Forreston	IL	61030	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Richard	Bartkowicz	Hoffman Estates	IL	60169	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Kevin	Fitzgerald	Parsippany	NJ	7054	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Kevin	Fitzgerald	Parsippany	NJ	7054	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jennie	Sabato	NJ	NJ	8244	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jennie	Sabato	NJ	NJ	8244	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Tina	Deraco	West Hollywood	CA	90046	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Barry	Friedman	Boca raton	FL	33498	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
John	Windham	AL	AL	36351	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
St├╌phanie	PANIER	Select a state	ot	37100	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Helen	Stuehler	Reno	CA	89508	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, debra	rose norie	phx	AZ	85008	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, kym	harris	kailua kona	HI	96740	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Carrie	Falls	Mt.pleasant	MI	48858	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, consuelo	cassotti	daton	OH	45459	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jan	Conley	Lake Nebagamon	WI	54849	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Joanie	Steinhaus	TX	TX	77550	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Tina	Corbett	whitefish	MT	59937	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
D	Bellamu=y	Las Vegas	NV	89138	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Kim	Mott	McCall	ID	83638	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Leanna	Calkins	Gladys	VA	24554	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
James	Geary	Limerick	ot	0	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Kevin	Boileau	Missoula	MT	59801	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Christine	Fluet	Columbia	CT	6237	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Anne	LaBouy	Delavan	WI	53115	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
G.W.	Cheney	Boone	NC	28607	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Joann	Koch	Lebanon	CT	6249	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Joann	Koch	Lebanon	CT	6249	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Janet	Uffer	Rio Rancho	NM	87174	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Janet	Uffer	Rio Rancho	NM	87174	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Vicki	Hayes	Heath	OH	43056	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Dwight	Johnson	Mukilteo	WA	98275	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
John	Glover	WA	WA	98133	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Michelle	Mondragon	FL	FL	32701	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Michael	Zeller	G.P. Farms	MI	48236	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Perry	Harris	New York	NY	10918	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Candice	Hernandez	Washington	WA	99352	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Sheryl	Retzlaff	Newport	MI	48166	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Barbara	McArthur	Wall	NJ	7753	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
J	P	NY	NY	14784	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jennifer	Prell	Brick	NJ	8724	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Della	Blakemorer	Gladstone	MO	64119	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Barbara	Bonavoglia	Bohemia	NY	11716	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Matthew	Van Brocklin	NY	NY	13648	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha shown that it is not in the best interest for the animals concerned, or the American public to let states states manage endangered or threatened animals. Allowing the surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other areas. Instead, those that wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is prematu in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this delisting proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. Let us let the science dictate management plans rather thar that the current GOP is anti federal anything, they want everything for profit. Not a good recipe for success. - - Sincerely,
Raymond	Bartlett	Pennsylvania	PA	16421	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
LINDA	KELLEY	OWINGS	MD	20736	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, nicole	radtka	Massillon	OH	44647	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Eri	Glans-Suzuki	Oakland	CA	94605	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - The grizzly is a top predator (except for humans) in that environment and preserving them has been shown to have significant and far-reaching benefits to the ecology of the area, including restoring the meanderi withstand extreme weather patterns better. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, tom	suyko	rockford	IL	61114	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
GERI	MESSINA	Arizona	AZ	86323	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Christopher	Allen	Dallas	TX	75249	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Herman	Stine	Mansfield	OH	44903	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, mary beth	fitzpatrick	UT	UT	84049	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Sherry	Kotler	Danbury	CT	6811	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Kayla	Cole	Calumet Park	IL	60827	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Susan	Earnshaw	Dracut	MA	1826	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, jim	mckee	Houston	TX	77072	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
K	Holmdahl	CO	CO	81301	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Tom	Wartell	Naperville	IL	60565	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, dagmar	heller	New Jersey	NJ	7950	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Patti	Johnson	Perkasie	PA	18944	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Cheryl	Landes	Lees Summit	MO	64064	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Judith	yenney	piqua	OH	45356	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
gina	hall	scottsdale	AZ	85262	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
gina	hall	scottsdale	AZ	85262	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
June	Burnett	Deer Park	TX	77536	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Duncan	Duchov	Winchester	NH	3470	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Thank you very much for your attention and your consideration. I hope that you and yours have been happy, healthy, and fulfilled. - - Sincerely, -
Connie	Smith	Ohio	OH	43021	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Kathie E	Takush	PA	PA	19533	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Stephanie	Reed	PENNSYLVANIA	PA	19547	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Diane	Berkey-Gaff	Baltimore	MD	21221	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Denise	McConnell	San Antonio	TX	78210	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Nancy	Gerling	Columbus	OH	43211	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Stacey	Osborne	Honoka'a	HI	96727	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Darrell	Heinemann	ID	ID	83332	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, katherine	dander	boston	MA	2114	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
L E	Gugliel	CA	CA	92119	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Ellen	Osborne	Pleasant Garden	NC	27313	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, michelle	embree	sacramento	CA	95822	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, mary	cellucci	broomall	PA	19008	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jennifer	Scull	Chardon	OH	44024	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Carol	Roche	Napa	CA	94558	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Mehmet	Bilgen	istanbul	ot	34710	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Mehmet	Bilgen	istanbul	ot	34710	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Barbara	Hassan	Texas	TX	77069	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Linda	Provost	Beltsvile	MD	20705	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, mark	blandford	amarillo	TX	79124	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Merry	Connacher	Thurmont	MD	21788	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Varday	Campbell	OH	OH	45406	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Rosanne	Anderson	Cheney	WA	99004	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Priscilla	Garcia	NM	NM	87507	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jane	Hill	Wimberley	TX	78676	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, cindy	hable	colorado springs	CO	80904	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Kim	Martinson	Andover	MN	55304	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, marjorie	blum	Atlant	GA	30319	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, edward	mikan	DEMOTTE	IN	46310	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - YES!!!! KEEP OUR BEARS ON THE ENDANGERED SPECIES LIST!! - U S ARMY VETERAN , AMERICAN LEGION , AMAC , SECURE AMERICA NOW & - MERCY FOR ANIMALS MEMBER & M
Ashni J.	Akand Karan	Pleasanton	CA	94566	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
andrea	caminiti	londonderry	VT	5148	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, greg	hlad	azle	TX	76020	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, sharon	serylo	Livonia	MI	48152	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, debra	runyan	Oakland	CA	94607	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Marlon	Zmuda	Cape Fair	MO	65624	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, paula	moats	pinellas park	FL	33781	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Georgia	Benyk	Dewey	AZ	86327	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jennae	Earnhart	Arizona	AZ	85143	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Kassandra	Llamas	Denver	CO	80239	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Dylan	Jones	IN	IN	46506	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Paolo	Bressanin	State *	AB	T3C 2P3	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Christopher	Lawell	Kenosha	WI	53140	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Louis	Gordon	Vancouver	WA	98684	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Mary	Nordheim	Milford	OH	45150	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Courtney	McMahon	Portland	CT	6480	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Diane	Jalbert	Atlanta	GA	30307	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Todd	Gukelberger	Fairfield	CT	6825	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, maurice	snyder	emmett	ID	83617	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
David	Blanding	Lowell	MI	49331	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Claire	Maddlone	Florida	FL	33411	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Elizabeth	Ryan	Omaha	NE	68106	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Pierrette	Fontaine	Marietta	GA	30067	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, miguel	ruiz	CA	CA	95134	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Lynn	Stevenson	Hazel Park	MI	48030	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Donald	Card	New York	NY	13090	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, lisa	lybarger	kalama	WA	98625	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jan	Church	Woodbridge	VA	22193	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Maryam	Rostamian	Broadlands	VA	20148	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Diane	Weyer	Tulalip	WA	98271	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Sharon	Clark	Sedro Woolley	WA	98284	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Tracy	Kanno	RI	RI	2910	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Derinda	Nilsson	Utica	NY	13502	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
David W	Lewis	stateline	NV	8944	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Steven	Vogel	Falls Church	VA	22046	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Steven	Vogel	Falls Church	VA	22046	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Paul	Mccarthy	Scotia	NY	12302	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Paul	Mccarthy	Scotia	NY	12302	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Thomas	Blackwell	Austin	TX	78749	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Bonnie	Prosser	Holland Patent	NY	13354	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Susan	Rich	Oceanside	NY	11572	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Boyce	Booth	Spindale	NC	28160	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Sharon	Harris	Chicago	IL	60638	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, marie cl├╌mence	coignard	Aucun	IN	43150	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Antonio	Fernandez	Jackson Heights	NY	11372	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
John	Bayer	Washougal	WA	98671	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
J'Mauri	Jackson	Ohio	OH	43035	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Richard	Geiger	Iowa	IA	52806	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Courtney	Franklin	Park City	KS	67219	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Kevin	Walsh	CT	CT	6443	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
K.	Walter	Wilmette	IL	60091	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Maureen	Young	Providence	RI	2903	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Gail	Chamberlain	OR	OR	97119	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Sylvia	Brown	Granville	OH	43023	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Dave	Less	Michigan	MI	48820	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Sharon	Moyer	west palm beach	FL	33415	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Angelique	Novak	Andover	MN	55304	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Ray	URIARTE	Murrieta	CA	92562	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, carolyn	young	Flagstaff	AZ	86001	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Ruth	Tooley	Shelton	WA	98584	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Mary-Lou	Gillette	California	CA	94539	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Nancy	Goodwin	Longview	WA	98632	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Bobbi	Goff	Washington	WA	98382	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Elaine	Barrett	San Diego	CA	92103	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Diane	Kelly	Thompsons Station	TN	37179	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Anita	Marshall	Stamford	CT	6907	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Angie	Affolter	Mundelein	IL	60060	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Lauren	Adams	New Braunfels	TX	78130	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, shelly	peddicord	MN	MN	55412	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Brenda	Trueblood	Anderson	IN	46013	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, sarah	furno	lutz	FL	33549	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Adam	Roberts	Shreveport	LA	71107	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Mike	MacGuire	Seatac	WA	98198	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Joanne	Grossi	Lakewood	NJ	8701	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Nicole	Punday	Texas	TX	75035	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Barbara	Leonardy	Jacksonville	FL	32207	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Ellen	Domke	Chicago	IL	60660	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, wanda	louise	CA	CA	92625	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jamie	Greer	West Orange	NJ	7052	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jamie	Greer	West Orange	NJ	7052	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
William	Mac Bean	Central Point	OR	97502	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Deborah	Toppings	Sevierville	TN	37864	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Elizabeth	Chiodini	High Ridge	MO	63049	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Sandra	Earls	Cincinnati	OH	45251	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Celeste	Stanik	watsonville	CA	95076	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, john	gallo	otego	NY	13825	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Santiago	Alvarez Morel	PR	PR	716	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Gail	Petersen	Wisconsin	WI	54891	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Shawn	Tuthill	Washington	WA	98107	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Nancy	Walsh	Independence	MO	64053	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Thomas	Christ	Jamul	CA	91935	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Melissa	Friedman	Somerdale	NJ	8083	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Brenda	Weber	Maryland	MD	21042	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Melissa	Fagan	Spokane	WA	99203	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Melissa	Ward	Zephyrhills	FL	33541	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Virginia	Vega-Siferd	Florida	FL	33144	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Edith	Kraycik	Tulsa	OK	74133	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Connie	Scale	Wooster	OH	44691	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Scott	Seppi	Hilliard	OH	43026	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Scott	Seppi	Hilliard	OH	43026	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Donna Beth	Mitchell	VA	VA	24059	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, andrew	kaplan	palmbay	FL	32905	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, kris	liang	moss beach	CA	94038	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Ruachelle	Barry	CA	CA	92110	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Gina	Valdes	Naperville	IL	60540	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jennifer	Castaldo	Stratford	CT	6614	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - I have been to Yellowstone and I have seen all the beautiful wildlife, from the bisons, eagles, wolves, bears, deer etc. All of these animals need to be protected. There is no reason to remove the federal protections. protected. - - Sincerely,
Janet	Childress	Helena	MT	59601	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Thomas	Nissen	Prior Lake	MN	55372	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Lori	Vaccaro	Bronx	NY	10465	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Lori	Vaccaro	Bronx	NY	10465	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Johnnie	Allen	Illinois	IL	62206	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Noreen	Walter	Wilmette	IL	60091	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Kate	Johnston	Dover	NH	3820	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Richard	Taylor	Berkeley	CA	94706	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Patricia	Oates	Seattle	WA	98125	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Michael	Fortebuono	Royersford	PA	19468	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Sharon	Garratt	Rogers	AR	72756	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jessica	Wells	Big Stone Gap	VA	24219	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Kevin	Haskins	Cottage Grove	MN	55016	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, floyd	powell	Rochester	MN	55904	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Lauren	Kramer	Macungie	PA	18062	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Cheryl	Walthour	Kendalia	TX	78027	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Sheila	Williams	MO	MO	64069	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Tami	Pasquel	St Petersburg	FL	33703	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Kim	Tripp, DO, PhD	Ancramdale	NY	12503	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Shelby	Wilson	Fletcher	NC	28732	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Mychelle	Lee	KY	KY	41017	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Mina	Tang	Mamaroneck	NY	10543	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Donna	Verdugo	IL	IL	60402	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Nancy	Southworth	Charlotte	NC	28227	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
T Catt	Corrales	Dallas	TX	75057	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Deborah	Wall	Nashua	NH	3064	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, jack	rose	rydal	PA	19046	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Mark	Eckman	Duluth	MN	55804	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Noel	Downey	Melbourne	FL	32940	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Patrice	Zboya	Penacook	NH	3303	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Benjamin	Joannou Jr	Pinecrest	FL	33156	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Janette	MacDonald	Denver	CO	80207	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Janette	MacDonald	Denver	CO	80207	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Sandra	Gehri-Bergman	Lynnwood	WA	98036	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Saliane	Anderssen	Tucson	AZ	85743	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Michael	Langdon	None	ot	W5 2HL	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Mar├¡a Victoria	Gonzalez	Valencia	ot	46014	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Mar├¡a Victoria	Gonzalez	Valencia	ot	46014	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Karma	SamtenLhamo	LIEGE	ot	4000	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Karma	SamtenLhamo	LIEGE	ot	4000	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Karma	SamtenLhamo	LIEGE	ot	4000	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Karma	SamtenLhamo	LIEGE	ot	4000	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Sandra	Serazio	Keshena	WI	54135	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Linda	Downer	Carmel	IN	46033	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Mandy	Zafiropoulou	Athens	ot	11362	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Mandy	Zafiropoulou	Athens	ot	11362	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jim	Watson	Hixson	TN	37343	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, chantal	baas	brunssum	ot	6444CB	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, chantal	baas	brunssum	ot	6444CB	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Lance	Kammerud	WI	WI	53516	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Lance	Kammerud	WI	WI	53516	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Tim	Burn s	Federal Way	WA	98023	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Joan	Davis	Florida	FL	32907	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
MAGALI	FREDERIC	Perth	ot	6919	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Nancy	Brewer	Hamilton	OH	45013	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Carolyn	Sparks	Summerville	SC	29483	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Luisa	Miranda	Azusa	CA	91702	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Delbert	Russell	Powell	OH	43065	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Robert	Duval	OR	OR	97219	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
susan j	mears	Nottingham	ot	NG3 5HG	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
susan j	mears	Nottingham	ot	NG3 5HG	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
susan j	mears	Nottingham	ot	NG3 5HG	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Eric	Abrams	Bow	NH	3304	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Ray	Raymond	Perth	ot	6000	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Lozz	Starseed	Washington	WA	98125	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Lozz	Starseed	Washington	WA	98125	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Cathryn	Allen	Virginia Beach	VA	23454	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, chris	casper	Stevens Point	WI	54481	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jan	Bargen	SILVER SPRING	MD	20902	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Hector	reillo	PR	PR	923	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
mary	coleman	fremont	CA	94539	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Kathryn	Laubengayer	Baldwinsville	NY	13027	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Darla	Kravetz	Lehighton	PA	18235	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Susan	Frutht	Madison	WI	53711	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Sheryl	Becker	Wesley Chapel	FL	33544	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Sandra	Rodgers	Amboy	WA	98601	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Rhonda	Ford	Mountain Home	ID	83647	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Theresa	Croger	Indiana	IN	46074	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Ellen	Boyle	North Chatham	NY	12132	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, diana	koeck	Costa Mesa	CA	92627	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Steve	Hansen	Vancouver	WA	98660	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Kimberly	Chandler	WA	WA	98498	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Victoria	Koeppen	Tucson	AZ	85739	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Margaret	Dwyer	CA	CA	94015	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Ronald	Howard	DELTON	MI	49046	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jessica	Toczylowski	MO	MO	63042	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Charles	Frach	Bemidji	MN	56601	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Tony	Teffeteller	TN	TN	37803	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Suzanne	Marienau	MO	MO	65721	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - This is national park! What in the world is WRONG with you people? - - In disgust,
Aanchal	Vidyarthi	Portland	OR	97229	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Patricia	Kramer	AZ	AZ	85749	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Kristin	Sunada	Ft. Collins	CO	80526	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Bob	Rebl	Chicago	IL	60611	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Susan	Miller	White Haven	PA	18661	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Douglas	Allenson	Milton	GA	30009	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Erin	Howard	Oakland	CA	94607	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Abagail	Ramey	Murfreesboro	TN	37128	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Cristina	Calle	Renton	WA	98057	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Cristina	Calle	Renton	WA	98057	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Kathryn	Whitehorne	Potsdam	NY	13676	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Mariah	Shepherd	Evansville	IN	47714	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Sarah	Lansaw	Altamont	NY	12009	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Antoinette	Armijo	Santa Fe	NM	87507	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Alma	Hachey	Concord	CA	94518	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Thomas	Harris	PA	PA	19008	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, poppy	ibabao	West Boylston	MA	1583	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Elizabeth	Heller	Pennsylvania	PA	19031	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Kelly	Maynard	Las Cruces	NM	88011	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Christine	Wells	Arroyo Seco	NM	87514	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Angela	Kohn	Cologne	ot	50858	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, cynthia	murphy	pensacola	FL	32503	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Paige	West	Richmond	VA	23229	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
T	Abashian	Durham	NC	27701	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Fanny	Whitman	Plymouth	NH	3264	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Francoise	van Straelen	Brussels	ot	1160	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, sharon	drube	AL	AL	36265	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
LISA	DAVIS	INDIANAPOLIS	IN	46259	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Mike	Lesley	Birmingham	AL	35206	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Dagmar	Sch╠╝tte	K╠╣ln	ot	50969	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Alice	Darling	New Rochelle	NY	10804	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Michelle	Puddy	Holland Landing	ON	L9n 1J6	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Francisco Javier	Mart├¡n Villarreal	Benalm├ídena	ot	45191	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Karin	Steininger	Pasching	ot	4061	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Joseph	Taylor	Bolton	ot	Bl52ns	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, naomi	onoue	hanno	ot	357-0126	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Julia	Olivares	Ontario	ON	M4V 2A1	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Mikel	Sola	Sollentina	ot	19258	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Andrea	Clarke	Norwich	ot	NR7 0BU	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Isabelle	Peckinpah	Santa Rosa	CA	95404	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Isabelle	Peckinpah	Santa Rosa	CA	95404	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Denise	Bunge	Findlay	OH	45840	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Alissa	Ray	North Carolina	NC	28806	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Alissa	Ray	North Carolina	NC	28806	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Aileen	Renner	Staten Island	NY	10306	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Virgil	Dahl	Waterloo	IA	50702	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
stacy	roberts	sandy springs	GA	30328	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
stacy	roberts	sandy springs	GA	30328	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
David	Lauder	Oak Brook	IL	60523	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
David	Lauder	Oak Brook	IL	60523	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Amber	Middleton	Austin	TX	78747	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Amber	Middleton	Austin	TX	78747	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Robert M.	Deems	NJ	NJ	8648	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Rob	Parker	Amherst	VA	24521	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Dr. Robert and Ginny	Bonometti	VA	VA	22603	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Matt	Rosa	Philadelphia	PA	19135	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Matt	Rosa	Philadelphia	PA	19135	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Suzanne	Salerno	Temple City	CA	91780	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
John	Silk	Bridgeport	CT	6604	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Alison	Egerton	Keysborough	ot	3173	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Jan	Fortini	Reno	NV	89509	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, corinne	Le guillou	la chapelle sur loire	ot	37140	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
S	Murphy	Berks	ot	12345	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Rosita	Aranita	Honolulu	HI	96819	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, gaby	elias	lima	ot	5115	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
gaby	elias	lima	ot	5115	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, Saskia	Schoukens	Sosua	ot	57000	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Adrienne Neff	Neff	NY	NY	13365	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Karen	Hardin	Greeneville	TN	37743	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Karen	Hardin	Greeneville	TN	37743	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Susan	Hintze	Colorado	CO	80603	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jo-ann	Tellado	Baleares	ot	7701	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
S	Seegers	Dallas	TX	75230	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Rochelle	Phillips	Mission Viejo	CA	92692	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Philip	Ritter	Surprise	AZ	85388	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Isabelle	Zomer	Muntendam	ot	9649 AT	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Isabelle	Zomer	Muntendam	ot	9649 AT	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Sarah	Cottin	Tours	ot	37000	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jo Ann	MacDonnell	NJ - New Jersey	NJ	7410	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Julie	Bond	London	ot	N5 2PA	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jun	Nakamura	Okazakicity	ot	4440826	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Klaus	Simon	Hattersheim	ot	65795	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Brendan	Moore	Auckland	ot	1072	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Nansea	Tomalty	State *	NS	B2G 2L1	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Teri	Yazdi	San Carlos	CA	94070	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Richard	Lombard	Groveland	MA	1834	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Helen	Moissant	Central Point	OR	97502	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Louis	Kanter	Vernon Hills	IL	60061	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Tony	Buitrago	FL	FL	32828	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Patti	Gehring	SHERIDAN	WY	82801	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Michelle	Nelson	Emmaus	PA	18049	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, asdur	triff	FL	FL	33135	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Crystal	Hawley	Saint Johns	FL	32259	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Ruthie	Hall	Foristell	MO	63348	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Julianne	Dunkley	Cambria	CA	93428	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Julianne	Dunkley	Cambria	CA	93428	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Terry	Strauss	Mill Valley	CA	94941	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Brenda	Kwon	Honolulu	HI	96817	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Linda	Infante	Hamden	CT	6518	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Sheri	Duren	Anaheim	CA	92804	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Ann	Shoup	Chattanooga	TN	37415	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Sandra	Knapp	Hendersonville	TN	37075	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Camille	Cristello	Revere	MA	2151	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Rabbi Charles P	Rabinowitz	Larchmont	NY	10538	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Valentina	Mamut Sosa	Miami	FL	33139	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Ruth	Thuestad	Waukesha	WI	53188	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Heather	McFarland	Breckenridge	CO	80424	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Kim	Shively	Denver	CO	80206	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Jane	Beaven	Chattaroy	WA	99003	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Lorelei	Nemcik	NORTH CAROLINA	NC	27045	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Kenneth	Large	Harbor Springs	MI	49740	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Stephen	Baker	New Mexico	NM	87144	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
KRISTIN	gonzalez	miami	FL	33165	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, tre	stewart	decatur	GA	30030	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Tom	Sloan	Tupper Lake	NY	12986	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jon	Moulesong	DeMotte	IN	46310	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Linda	Cramer	Antioch	IL	60002	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Linda	Cramer	Antioch	IL	60002	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, margaret	Phillips	Tucson	AZ	85743	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Drew	Musgrave	Kentucky	KY	42003	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Drew	Musgrave	Kentucky	KY	42003	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, jerry	druch	balrimore	MD	21218	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Veronica	Bush	Seattle	WA	98109	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Beth	Cullen	San Antonio	TX	78240	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Denise	DesLauriers	Spearfish	SD	57783	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Dan	Faucher	Qu├-bec	QC	g1j5k7	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Sian	Richards	Vale of Glamorgan	ot	CF31 2QR	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Bruce	Forster	Newcastle	ot	NE110ET	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Bruce	Forster	Newcastle	ot	NE110ET	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, clarke	brunton	albuquerque	NM	87104	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jessica	Robinson	Pasadena	CA	91104	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Steven	Deterling	Houston	TX	77006	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Franz	von Hirschmann, MB/	Puyallup	WA	98374	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Truman	Jones	Ojai	CA	93023	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
John	Rhoades	TX	TX	75220	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, pamela	Soyster	CA	CA	92549	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Kevin	Coleman	Canon City	CO	81212	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Gary	Cooper	Pacifica	CA	94044	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Gina	Geisel	Boulder	CO	80304	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Betty	Moore	Dowagiac	MI	49047	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Betty	Moore	Dowagiac	MI	49047	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Dlorah	Evans	Conroe	TX	77301	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, lorren	ratley	OH	OH	45255	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Teri	O'Day	Gulfport	FL	33707	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Teri	O'Day	Gulfport	FL	33707	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Carol	Lord	Philadelphia	PA	19142	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Mary	caputi	Mt Prospect	IL	60056	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Tina	Gallier	Ashland	OR	97520	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
LINDA	PONTER	MARLTON	NJ	8053	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
V	Kent	Helena	MT	59604	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Eve	DVincent	CA	CA	93924	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Helena	Kazandjian	Mount Laurel	NJ	8054	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Terry	Walker	Palm springs	FL	33461	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Rhiannon	Szomolyai	Marietta	GA	30067	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Marcia	Gibbons	Bisbee	AZ	85603	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, kellie	kruip	California	CA	92879	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
larry	thoms	spartanburg sc	SC	29303	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Marie	Candiotti	Brighton	MI	48114	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, thomas	bousman	MO	MO	64152	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Kevin	Decie	Hackettstown	NJ	7840	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Meredith	Robinson	Greenville	SC	29605	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Meredith	Robinson	Greenville	SC	29605	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, terry	creech brunt	pine	CO	80470	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Nancey	Carter	Topaz	CA	96133	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Bruce	Shilling	Seattle	WA	98103	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Sandy	Miller	Cooper City	FL	33328	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Joan	Paskewitz	Lyons	CO	80540	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Margo	Wilson	Phoenix	AZ	85022	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Margo	Wilson	Phoenix	AZ	85022	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Anaundda	Elijah	San Luis Obispo	CA	93401	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Anaundda	Elijah	San Luis Obispo	CA	93401	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Julia	Ackerman	whitefield	ME	4353	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Laurel	Eckert	Kansas City	MO	64116	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Janette	Letson	Denver	CO	80204	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Robin	Koch	Pleasant HIll	IA	50327	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Shana	McCracken	Redwood City	CA	94061	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Gret	Rowe	Bend	OR	97703	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Robert	Kasvinsky	VT	VT	5677	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Michael	Grunblatt	Slidell	LA	70459	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Janet	Sachs	Summer I	SC	29483	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Francine	Hodovan	CT	CT	6278	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jackie	Martinez	NJ	NJ	7109	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jill	Braun	Phoenix	AZ	85048	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Elisabeth	Ruby	Little Falls	MN	56345	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Amy	Hayworth	Coraopolis	PA	15108	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Fred	Martin	NC	NC	28208	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Thomas	Edwards	Napa	CA	94558	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, n	Tamimi	Richmond	CA	94804	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Vera	Loewer	Pacifica	CA	94044	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, jean	young	larchmont	NY	10538	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, roy	nemko	grayslake	IL	60030	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Sharon	Scarlett	Los Alamos	NM	87544	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Annette	Deyhle	Morongo Valley	CA	92256	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, jill	rounds	arroyo seco	NM	87514	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Linda	Day	MA	MA	1057	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jill	Dione	Pennsylvania	PA	15217	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, steve	hopkins	rye	NY	10580	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, nathan	hundemann	west dover	VT	5356	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, suzan	sims	tucson	AZ	85705	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Frank	Schoonover	Niagara Falls	NY	14304	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
First NameGary	Mccormick	Tucson	AZ	85713	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, monica	smith	mendham	NJ	7945	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Mark	Martin	Danbury	CT	6810	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, winn	wilson	willimantic	CT	6226	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
winn	wilson	willimantic	CT	6226	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Agnes	Borowski	Oxford	CT	6478	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Marlies	Komatowski	Pluederhausen	ot	73655	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Wendy	Barner	OR	OR	97209	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Helen Logan	Hays	Oregon City	OR	97045	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Helen Logan	Hays	Oregon City	OR	97045	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Helen Logan	Hays	Oregon City	OR	97045	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Michael	Parsons	Aguilar	CO	81020	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Brian	Zegarski	Boulder	CO	80304	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Laura	Wright	Fort Collins	CO	80526	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Please reconsider this proposal. We are continually putting environmental stressors on these animals and their food sources. Removing them from the endangered list now could be devastating to the population ar targeted upon leaving the park. We owe our nation's wildlife, including these large predators, time to reestablish themselves after we have previously dessimated their populations and continue to alter their environment. - - Sincerely, - Laura Wright
roland	d'amour	ottawa	ON	k2h6t7	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Kim	Nelson	Salem	OR	96302	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Elizabeth	Umlas	Borex	ot	1277	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Joel	Klayman	Boca Raton	FL	33487	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Vanessa	Lowe	TX	TX	78653	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jill	Lubin	Spotswood	NJ	8884	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Linea	Anthony	Wisconsin	WI	53403	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Kelly	Dettle	Minnesota	MN	55432	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Doni	Taylor	Maryland	MD	21217	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
d	martin	darien	IL	60561	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Kaleigh	Fiddler	Aurora	CO	80012	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Katie	Brady	Carson City	NV	89703	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Deb	Oldfield	W.haverstraw	NY	10993	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Brian	Fiorello	Orlando	FL	32807	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
ROBERT	MENDOZA	SAN PEDRO	CA	90731	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Ira	Weissman	NY	NY	13676	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Michele	Fisk	Henryville	PA	18332	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Chris	St.Onge	Trinity Center	CA	96091	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, judge charles	edelstein(ret.)	coral gables	FL	33143	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Ryan	Dodson	Lancaster	PA	17601	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Amanda	Padilla	Lakeland	FL	33810	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jeffrey F	Dean	CA	CA	91321	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Lynn	Webber	CA	CA	91977	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
William	Willis	Pennsylvania	PA	17236	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Ellen	Daniels	Cleveland	OH	44111	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Ellen	Daniels	Cleveland	OH	44111	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Miguel	Gimenez	Miami	FL	33143	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
james	gearhart	New Jersey	NJ	8007	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - WHAT IS WRONG WITH YOU PEOPLE-THESE ANIALS NEED PROTECTION NOW-THINK - Sincerely,
james	gearhart	New Jersey	NJ	8007	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - WHAT IS WRONG WITH YOU PEOPLE-THESE ANIALS NEED PROTECTION NOW-THINK - Sincerely,
Lori	Pritchard	Centennial	CO	80016	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Laurence	Margolis	Mitka	MN	55345	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Susan	Plubell	PA	PA	16830	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jeremy	Koehl	Bayfield	WI	54814	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Suzanne	Zook	Oregon	OR	97523	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Barbara	Roggow	Macclenny	FL	32063	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Pat	Rorex	Sonoita	AZ	85637	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Carol	Svatek	Denton	NC	27239	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Angela	Vogel	King George	VA	22485	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Cheryl	Summers	Boncarbo	CO	81024	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Patrick	Maloney	Chicago	IL	60657	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Heather	Benac	Kalamazoo	MI	49006	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Robert	Thornhill	Livermore	CA	94550	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, corinne	blakley	rochester	NY	14616	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Christa	Kolb	Tahlequah	OK	74464	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Mary	Owens	California	CA	95822	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Dede	Salier	Henderson	NV	89012	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Beverly	Taylor	Pittsburgh	PA	15217	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Ben	Goodin	Donnelly	ID	83615	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Barbro	Dahlberg	Malm ╬	ot	21756	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Edna	dugas	Pittsfield	MA	1201	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Virginia and David	s	Payson	AZ	85541	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Michael	Hewitt	Moffat	CO	81143	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Steven	Bartlett	GA	GA	30039	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Olivia	Cantalupo	Hanover	PA	17331	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Keri	Briggs	Ft. Wayne	IN	46805	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Erin	mcauey	TX	TX	78752	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Debra	Wolfley	WA	WA	98367	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Lynne	Glaeske	Denver	CO	80237	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Tina	Yaskell	Peabody	MA	1960	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Sue	Johnston	Phoenix	AZ	85014	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Maggie	D'Arcy	NY	NY	10016	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Debbie	Pyle	North Dakota	ND	58072	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Mike	Yochim	YONKERS	NY	10710	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Paul	Rindfleisch	Evergreen	CO	80439	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Selma	Obermeyer	Sand Lake	MI	49343	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Susan	Keith	New York	NY	10013	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Mercedes	Caraco	MA	MA	1821	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
John	Bhend	Harrisville	MI	48740	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Chris	cramer	MC ARTHUR	OH	45651	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Pat	Murphy	Morristown	NJ	7961	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Mekala	Ravishankar	Edison	NJ	8837	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Henry	Mobley	Virginia Beach	VA	23455	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Henry	Mobley	Virginia Beach	VA	23455	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, diane	garetz	St. Louis Park	MN	55416	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, mia	heavyrunner	port orchard	WA	98366	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jay	Frye	Kansas	KS	66944	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Maria Jo├úo	Ramos	NA	ot	4900	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Abigail	Correia	Cambridge	MA	2138	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jenna	Tomlin	KS	KS	66103	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Roberta	Bushman	Ranchos de Taos	NM	87557	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Dale	Jung	Prince George	VA	23875	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Mary Lynn	Hanley	New York	NY	10024	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Rob	K	St. Louis	MO	63146	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Beverly	Hasan	Newton	KS	67114	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, sandy	Loney	Brainerd	MN	56401	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Julie	Brokken	New Mexico	NM	87109	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Charles	Mindell	Boca raton	FL	33433	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Joseph	Wolf	Minnesota	MN	55379	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jack	Lawrence	Nashville	TN	37210	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Larisa	Long	Woodstock	IL	60098	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Larisa	Long	Woodstock	IL	60098	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Arlene	Pincus	San Diego	CA	92101	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Emily	Dickinson-Adams	Suffield	CT	6078	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Robin	Neumann	Orland Park	IL	60467	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Susan	Darish	Arizona	AZ	85351	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Melissa	Paige	New York	NY	10016	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Greg	Allbee	TX	TX	76021	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Suzanne	Hamer	Woodinville	WA	98072	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Suzanne	Hamer	Woodinville	WA	98072	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Heidi	Ludwick	Papillion	NE	68046	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
K R	GARLAND, PhD DD	Silver City	NM	88061	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Virginia	Bennett	Honolulu	HI	96822	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Vicki	Manor	Chesterfield	MO	63017	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Vicki	Manor	Chesterfield	MO	63017	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Sharon	Longyear	NY	NY	10598	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Sharon	Longyear	NY	NY	10598	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Colleen	McNutt	Moscow	ID	83843	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jessica	Miller	Chatham	NJ	7928	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Janet	Rock	W Melbourne	FL	32904	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, susan	Klaus	FL	FL	34251	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Julia	Thollaug	Montara	CA	94037	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, jack	halley	GA	GA	31305	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
jack	halley	GA	GA	31305	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
William	Claydon	Van Buren	AR	72956	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Janice	Reed	Granby	MO	64844	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Margo	Cooper	Onchiota	NY	12989	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Cherylon	Hayden	Stratton	ME	4982	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Gail	Frost	Port Charlotte	FL	33981	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Judith	Affatato	Morrow	OH	45152	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Kelly	Starkey	Carlton	MN	55718	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Gerda	Kettner	Illinois	IL	60194	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Michael	Hayes	Pueblo	CO	81003	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Ann Marie	Sardineer	PA	PA	15085	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Robert	Beggs	Akron	OH	44307	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Rose marie	Branson	Columbus	OH	43221	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Margarita	Lopez	Miami	FL	33145	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Sandra	Wilson	Las Vegas	NV	89145	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Marie	Hood	Cordova	TN	38016	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Barbara	Peterson	WA	WA	98390	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Cathy	F	Bethpage	NY	11714	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Chloe	Parker	Dripping Springs	TX	78620	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
LeeAnn	McDonald	Kennewick	WA	99337	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Heath	Post	Lansing	MI	48906	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Heath	Post	Lansing	MI	48906	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Shea L.	Hales	TX	TX	78418	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Ruth	Rudin	Whitewright	TX	75491	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Heather	Henthorne	Bluemont	VA	20135	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Amanda	Fenick	Largo	FL	33771	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Amanda	Fenick	Largo	FL	33771	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Mary	Barnes	Ranchos de Taos	NM	87557	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Amy	Ramsey	Saugerties	NY	12477	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, tracy	watada	los angeles	CA	90066	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Kathryn	Townsend	Washington	WA	98506	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Brenda	Griswold	IN	IN	46307	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Kyle	Jones	Rochester	NY	14608	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Kyle	Jones	Rochester	NY	14608	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, michael	rau	IN	IN	46792	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Chris	Pedone	Golden	CO	80401	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Chris	Pedone	Golden	CO	80401	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, rick	reinfried	Glendale	AZ	85302	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
regina	watkins	Tucson	AZ	85745	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Chris	Underhill	Ft. Pierce	FL	34982	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Janice	Valdez	Bonita	CA	91902	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Shannon	Bakros	PA	PA	18040	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Ronald	Houghton Jr.	St. Augustine	FL	32080	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, steve	saunders	cleveland hts	OH	44121	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Richard	Allen	Slidell	LA	70458	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Gregoriah	Hartman	Denver	CO	80222	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jim	Merkle	Saint John	IN	46373	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Staci	Anderson	Coeur D Alene	ID	83814	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Gordon	Talley	Grangeville	ID	83530	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jill	McManus	NY	NY	10028	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jean	Collins	Indianpolis	IN	46217	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Renee	Gauthier	Saint Augustine	FL	32084	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Susan	McPherson	Raymond	ME	4071	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
John	Ballo	Des Plaines	IL	60016	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
carol	cameron	nevada city	CA	95959	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Josephine	Bellaccomo	San Francisco	CA	94110	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Ken	Hales	Moose Jaw	SK	S6J 1C6	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Amanda	Gervase	Omaha	NE	68116	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Nikola	Dobric	Belgrade	ot	11000	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Diane	Hoyle	Blackburn	ot	BB1 1TR	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Diane	Hoyle	Blackburn	ot	BB1 1TR	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Brigitte	Michaelis	Edderitz	ot	6388	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Lisa	Kauhl	Windham	NH	3087	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Sue	Evans	Tallahassee	FL	32309	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Rose	McQueen	Tallahassee	FL	32309	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Michael	Guckian	The Woodlands	TX	77382	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, alessandro	villanucci	Firenze	ot	50134	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Diane	Hughes	Clifton Park	NY	12065	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Diane	Hughes	Clifton Park	NY	12065	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Ana	Fonseca	Amadora	ot	2720-083	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Roseanne	Pacheco	Valatie	NY	12184	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, maria	rich	lomma	ot	23439	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Terri	Stewart	Colorado	CO	80227	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Richard	Barker	Oregon	OR	97007	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Nancy	Prendergast	Sandwich	MA	2563	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Catia	Pafumi	Other	ot	200	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Indigo	Summer	Seattle	WA	98102	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Indigo	Summer	Seattle	WA	98102	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Paul	Van Uytrecht	Howick	ot	3290	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, marco	enghel	milano	ot	20010	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Shirley	Davidson	Barry	IL	62312	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, ed	lee	Merrimack	NH	3054	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Fred	Haggerson	phoenix	AZ	85044	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Laurie	Sandretto	Getzville	NY	14068	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Laurie	Sandretto	Getzville	NY	14068	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated, and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Ivonne	Sanchez	Brooklyn	NY	11224	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Ivonne	Sanchez	Brooklyn	NY	11224	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jason	Warrington	Oak lawn	IL	60453	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Bruce	Stotts	Colorado	CO	80525	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
James	Lamkin	Edelstein	IL	61526	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Mary	Burns	Los Gatos	CA	95032	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Sheryl	Berg	Idaho Falls	ID	83401	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Carol	Fuegi	Point Roberts	WA	98281	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Eric	Lewis	Nashville	TN	37221	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Kristi	Huffman-Green	Garrettsville	OH	44231	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Diane	Ferrari	Mercerville	NJ	8619	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Patricia	Yoder	CA	CA	92056	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, kellyann	morander	spring hill	FL	34608	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Brian	Boyle	Atlanta	GA	30309	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Marsha	Cummings	Plainsboro	NJ	8536	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Susang-Talamo	Family	PA	PA	15632	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Heather	Womble	Cedar Hill	MO	63016	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Margaret	Johnson	Golden	CO	80401	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Harriet	Redwine	Phoenix	AZ	85015	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Lisa	Brehm	Jefferson	LA	70121	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, theodore	allen	Massachusetts	MA	1945	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Mara	Wooten	NC	NC	27545	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jeri	Altman	Longmont	CO	80503	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jeri	Altman	Longmont	CO	80503	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Samuel L.	Vance	Huntsville	AL	35801	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
John	Varnedoe	Savannah	GA	31406	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Cynthia	Weber	Santa Rosa	CA	95401	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Sabi	Anirudh	NY	NY	10466	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, geneviv	vernet	ST LAURENT DU VAR	CT	6700	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Desiree	Mendes	Pullman	WA	99163	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Desiree	Mendes	Pullman	WA	99163	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Desiree	Mendes	Pullman	WA	99163	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Lara	Post	Ann Arbor	MI	48108	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
D	Sumers	IL	IL	60477	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Mary	Daniel	Troy	VA	22974	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Linda	Brauss	Mount Juliet	TN	37122	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
An	Feug	Guilford	CT	6437	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Rita	O'Loughlin	Syracuse	NY	13219	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Tanya	Nuter	California	CA	94122	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Madeleine	Lee	Westfield	NJ	7090	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Susan	Randerson	San Diego	CA	92106	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, jo	crane	Ohio	OH	44123	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Peggy	Mahle	Havre	MT	59501	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Efrain	Sanchez	Hormigueros	PR	660	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Janice	Sawyer	Arkansas	AR	72941	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Julie	Collins	Northville	MI	48167	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Kathi	Keller	Waynesboro	VA	22980	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, karen	sanchez	new windsor	NY	12553	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Sharon	Douglass	New York	NY	10003	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Shirley	Lewis	Tallahassee	FL	32309	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Shirley	Lewis	Tallahassee	FL	32309	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Frank	Benjamin	Las Vegas	NV	89156	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Donald	Hollenbeck	Saint Louis	MO	63109	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Ruth	Garrison	Raytown	MO	64133	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Alfred	Walters	Urmom	WA	98401	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Amy	Williams	WHITINSVILLE	MA	1588	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Mark	Davis	Brooklyn	NY	11235	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Mark	Davis	Brooklyn	NY	11235	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Mark	Davis	Brooklyn	NY	11235	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Greg	Overman	New Mexico	NM	87106	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Tracy	Eve	Columbia	MD	21046	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Tracy	Pease	Rockford	IL	61107	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Patricia	Wood	Malaga	ot	29570	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Patricia	Wood	Malaga	ot	29570	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Susan	Conway	Brampton	ON	L6Z 3A7	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Eric	Smith	albuquerque	NM	87114	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Eric	Smith	albuquerque	NM	87114	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Elena	De Fanis	Vaprio d Adda	ot	20069	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Julie	Bates	Ponchatoula	LA	70454	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Margaret	Lock	Westmount	QC	H3Z 2L4	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, micha	koenig	lovingston	VA	22949	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jayne	Bearman	Birmingham	ot	b26 1lb	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Peter	O'Hara	Union	NJ	7083	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Christine	Toledo	Santa Clara	CA	95050	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, diane	des rochers	Montr├-al	QC	h2m 2G1	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Toni	Schatz	Manchester	MA	1944	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Robin	Whiiten	Onia	AR	72663	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
SUSAN	DAMERON	LINCOLNTON	NC	28092	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, paula	martins	Choose a State	ot	28237	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, paula	martins	Choose a State	ot	28237	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
marion	harukaze	None	ot	69310	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Francesca	Castelli	None	ot	24025	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Dave	Stauber	Braintree	MA	2184	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
CHARLES	DURHAM	LIVERPOOL	NY	13088	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Michael	Halloran	Salem	OR	97305	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Waltraud	Bolton	Severn	MD	21144	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Kimberly	Wick	Buxton	OR	97109	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Judy	Oates	Great Barrington	MA	1230	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Judy	Oates	Great Barrington	MA	1230	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Rosemary	Gremillion	Pineville	LA	71360	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Ruby	Low	Burlington	NC	27215 881	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
ALAN	MURAWSKI	New York	NY	12020	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Susan	Strauss	Bend	OR	97701	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Albert	Sanchez	IL	IL	60647	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Michael	Loewy	PA	PA	19129	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Andrew	Kistler	North Olmsted	OH	44070	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, lisa	halpern	seattle	WA	98118	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
S	Fife	McKinney	TX	75070	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Barbara	Brown	Winchester	MA	1890	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
NELLY	VEGA	Miami	FL	33142	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Christopher	Wenzel	Morrill	NE	69358	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Spencer	Berglund	Milwaukee	WI	53214	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Danielle	Prussin	Las vegas	NV	79131	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Joann	Fechner	Portland	OR	97239	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Stephanie	Chi	Los Angeles	CA	90049	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, mary m.	mason	huntington beach	CA	92649	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Frank	Prochaska	Palatine	IL	60067	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, mel	sheets	new brighton	PA	15066	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, francesca	altunyay	Wilmington	NC	28409	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Carol	Dodson	Elgin	SC	29045	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Karen	Krieger	NJ	NJ	8816	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Katrina	Smith	Albuquerque	NM	87105	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Greg	Brockway	Los Lunas	NM	87031	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Emily	Wood	Barberton	OH	44203	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Kim	Peterson	Arlington Heights	IL	60004	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Dawn	Beuth	Hot springs village	AR	71909	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, debra	espinoza	el paso	TX	79936	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
debra	espinoza	el paso	TX	79936	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Kirsten	Johnston	Big Rapids	MI	49307	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, faith	bremmer	fergus falls	MN	56537	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Robert	Reeves	Delaware	DE	19804	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Florence	Avakian	New York	NY	10016	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Barbara	Caso	CT	CT	6067	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - The grizzly bears were there first and need a place to live and thrive. People should be told they are - there and to be more aware of their surroundings. Please protect the bears. - - Sincerely,
Janet	Hamilton	New York	NY	10021	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Christian	M╠╝ller	M╠╝nchen	HI	80935	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Melinda	Kennedy	Winfield	IL	60190	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Karolyn	Hillstead	Whitehall	MT	59759	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Larry	Johnson	Tennessee	TN	37083	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Carolina	Valenzuela	Mead	CO	80642	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Cathy	Martin	Smyrna	GA	30080	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Michelle	Balazic	OH	OH	44060	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Stephen	Brenner	Chicago	IL	60614	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Lee	Rhoads	Alexandria	VA	22310	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Lee	Rhoads	Alexandria	VA	22310	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Maya	Maku	Ashland	OR	97520	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Peter	Freedman	El Cerrito	CA	94530	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Lauraine	Wilson	London	ot	SE3 8EL	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Joseph	Fraser	Hanover Park	IL	60133	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Dione	King	San Francisco	CA	94114	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Matt	Kroner	IL	IL	62305	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Matt	Kroner	IL	IL	62305	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Karen	Howard	WA	WA	98230	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Karen	Howard	WA	WA	98230	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Cristina	LoCelso	Oak Park	IL	60303	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Kaelie	Connors	OH	OH	44077	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Christine	Boschen	Concord	CA	94521	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Christine	Boschen	Concord	CA	94521	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Yuriy	Layvand	Brooklyn	NY	11229	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Suzie	fromer	Irvington	NY	10533	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, jeb	fries	NY	NY	14063	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Joan	Delprete	NY - New York	NY	11714	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Linda	Johnson	Tipton	IN	46072	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Thomas	Boyce	Miami	FL	33133	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, Tom Boyce
Gloria	Uribe	New Jersey	NJ	8028	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
John	Inwood	Broou	NY	11231	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
John	Inwood	Broou	NY	11231	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Pattie	Hyde	North Carolina	NC	28083	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Ronald	Pellet	Long branch	NJ	7740	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Brenda	Parra	Denver	CO	80212	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
paul	sauk	west grove	PA	19390	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Drucilla	Pluhowski	Nyack	NY	10960	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Lynda	Latta	Hesperi	CA	92345	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Joann	Wells	South Carolina	SC	29070	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, patricia	day	Las Vegas	NV	89110	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, jeanne	aubert johnson	cortaillod	ot	2016	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Maria	Fornataro	Ottawa	ON	K2A 3X2	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, ludovic	briet	beauvais	FL	60000	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this declining population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect w wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Ple keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Chris	Gartland	Parker	CO	80134	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Cynthia	Virnig	janesville	WI	53548	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Cathy	Fouche	Liberty	IN	47353	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Mark	Messing	MI	MI	49684	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Margaret	Goscilo	Columbus	OH	43221	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Eric	Tholl	chicago	IL	60630	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jessica	Cresseveur	New Albany	IN	47150	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jessica	Cresseveur	New Albany	IN	47150	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Donatella	Calabrese	Rocca Priora	ot	79	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jackee	Devine	Falcon Heights	MN	55108	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Donita	Lowrey	TX	TX	76209	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Virginia	Bottorff	Syracuse	NY	13205	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - It is a travesty and absolutely pathetic ...that we use excuses such as the bears wandered outside an invisible man-made boundary to give us the right to MURDER them. We don't have that right unless we are defer Yellowstone bears on the Endangered species list! - - Sincerely,
Virginia	Bottorff	Syracuse	NY	13205	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - On a personal note, this is a BAD idea. I cannot believe that LESS THAN only 2% of their range is left to them and you still want to de-list them!!! This is absolutely terrible and must not be allowed to happen. We as make sure these animals survive (in)humanity's rape of their habitat. What is the United States without its iconic wild animals? NOTHING! - - Sincerely,
Denise	Walk	MD	MD	21108	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
James	Wagenhauser	Syosset	NY	11791	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Larry	Robson	Huntley	MT	59037	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
D	M	MIAMI	FL	33169	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
E	Worthington	Farmingdale	NY	11735	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Mary	Timmons-Babcock	IA	IA	52235	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, jo ann	abate	novi	MI	48375	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Tansy	Woods	San Diego	CA	92116	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Chris	Guillory	Port Angeles	WA	98362	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Carolyn	Gabriel	North Olmsted	OH	44070	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Carolyn	Gabriel	North Olmsted	OH	44070	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Marion	Marchese	Cortez	FL	34215	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Marion	Marchese	Cortez	FL	34215	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Ronnie	Perry	California	CA	92277	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
James	Knott	Rankin	PA	15104	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Socorro	Sepulveda	High point	NC	27262	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Tif	Goforth	Tucson	AZ	85705	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Gerald	Mcglone	Brooklyn	NY	11219	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Andrea	Lewis	Sewickley	PA	15143	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Michael	Jackson	VA	VA	23043	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Gail	Richardson	Georgia	GA	30083	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Kate	Bohn	MN	MN	55303	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Kate	Bohn	MN	MN	55303	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Susan	Canada	Titusville	FL	32780	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Elaine	Vileria	Rochester	NY	14616	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Barbara	Valente	New York	NY	10010	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Kim	Wick	Buxton	OR	97109	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Kim	Wick	Buxton	OR	97109	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Olga	Rodionova	Moscow	ot	12345	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Richard	krulik	New York	NY	10533	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Shaun	Knutsen	Brooklyn	NY	11209	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, jennifer	bombay	newport news	VA	23602	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
jennifer	bombay	newport news	VA	23602	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Frances	Sonne	Catasauqua	PA	18032	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Paul	Bonaldi	Naugatuck	CT	6770	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Nancy	Brun	St. Peters	MO	63376	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Sarah	Kirchner	Winona Lake	IN	46590	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Elizabeth	Pedulla	Brick	NJ	8724	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, daniel	roberts	St Louis	MO	63123	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, joseph	moore jr	TX	TX	78213	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
joseph	moore jr	TX	TX	78213	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Viachaslau	Bortnik	Washington	DC	20009	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Joe	Phillips	NC	NC	27235	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Joe	Phillips	NC	NC	27235	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Sandi	Aden	Lincoln	NE	68521	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Sandi	Aden	Lincoln	NE	68521	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Sandra Maria	Corker	Coimbra	ot	3000-446	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, celeste	Del vecchio	Roma	ot	177	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, celeste	Del vecchio	Roma	ot	177	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jennifer	Harris	North Walpole	NH	3609	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
M	Fritsch	aransas pass	TX	78336	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Janice	Banks	Center Barnstead	NH	3225	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Janice	Banks	Center Barnstead	NH	3225	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Lenore	Maroney	New York	NY	12572	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Diane	Kokowski	PA	PA	15216	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Ellen P	Ayalin	Chicago	IL	60618	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Shannon	Markley	Seattle	WA	98103	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Maria	Karsou	Mamaroneck	NY	10543	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Christy	Davis	Pflugerville	TX	78660	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, karen`	fostel	new port richey	FL	34652	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Meaghann	Fisher	Indianapolis	IN	46231	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Meaghann	Fisher	Indianapolis	IN	46231	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Michael	Baskett	Cincinnati	OH	45206	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Roberta	Bishop	Aurora	CO	80011	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Roberta	Bishop	Aurora	CO	80011	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Edward	Day	Orlando	FL	32829	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Edward	Day	Orlando	FL	32829	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Rosemarie	Ceaser	Clifton	NJ	7011	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Riley	Rigsby	Tuscaloosa	AL	35406	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Barbara	Lynch	Belvidere	NJ	7823	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, ana	Best	Florida	FL	33126	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Andrea	Smith	Libertyville	IL	60048	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Spring	Gardiner	CA	CA	91423	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, susan	Deans-Smith	Leander	TX	78641	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
susan	Deans-Smith	Leander	TX	78641	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Scott	Cowan	SLC	UT	84109	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Robert	Carper	Conifer	CO	80433	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Sara	Lalicata	Spencer	WI	54479	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Heather	Ackerman	Bayport	NY	11705	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
John	Koperczak	Worth	IL	60482	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Judy	Giles	Ohio	OH	43812	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Gerald	Bascle	Houma	LA	70364	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, leon	cheong	north bergen	NJ	7047	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Don	Leisen	Maple Grove	MN	55369	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Ron	Ives	Lebanon	CT	6249	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Carol	Rothbell	Bayside	NY	11360	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Andrea	Hunt	Hampton Bays	NY	11946	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, virginia	Ingalls	VA	VA	23116	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Deidre	Bainbrige	Jackson	WY	83001	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. More importantly Wyoming States its regulations are in place and as a criminal defense attorney who has advocated for the prosecution of hunters who shoot Grizzly Bear for years, I know the present laws are cursory, not include a jury instruction on Self-Defense. I have read every mortality report comprised by the IGST since 1988. County Prosecutors refuse prosecution for lack of intent. Excuse me, the only intent required is aiming and firing a deadly weapon at a living being whon no deterrent to a hunter shooting a grizzly bear nor are they enforced. Wyoming Game and Fish Department is the Hunters and not the Grizzly Bear, Guadian. USFWS with the McKittrick policy has not prosecuted the hunter killer of Grizzly Bear since 1998 in terms of m self-defense. There is no team of expert prosecutors and investigators ready to take over state law enforcement to protect the Grizzly Bear. When hunters shoot a sow with cubs even cubs trying to nurse dead mom, WYGFD leave the cubs to die a slow and tortuous de increased mortality. It is in the reports. All stat in the de-listing plan must be in question due to this skewed mortality rate. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Britt	Tinkle	IN	IN	46131	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Martha	Cooper	California	CA	95691	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Fred	Kozak	Marstons Mills	MA	2648	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
James	Milliken	Bellevue	WA	98006	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Donna	Walters	Tinton Falls	NJ	7724	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, liu	wai ling	N.T. Hong Kong	GA	31084	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
liu	wai ling	N.T. Hong Kong	GA	31084	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, Laurie	Armer	Abbotsford	BC	V2T 0C7	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, sylvia	walker	deux sevres	ot	79200	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jan	Wachholz	WA - Washington	WA	98072	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jan	Wachholz	WA - Washington	WA	98072	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Henriette	Eksteen	Springs	ot	1559	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Selena	Lauterer	Boone	NC	28607	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Elena	Ennouri	Redwood City	CA	94061	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, joe and susan	Kiefner	Jenkintown	PA	19046	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Sima	Verzino	Phx	AZ	85023	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
KEVIN	LEYS	MANCHESTER	ot	OL6 9HJ	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Stephanie	E	Wayne	PA	19087	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Brandon	Perras	Rhode Island	RI	2908	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Hazel	Hutchings	Camden, London	ot	NW5 3HR	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Stephanie	Garofalo	Belford	NJ	7718	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Stephanie	Garofalo	Belford	NJ	7718	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Melanie	Cranford	LA	LA	70448	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Chris	Gross	CA	CA	95355	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jennifer	Noel	St Augustine	FL	32086	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Gina	Writz	littleton	CO	80123	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Gina	Writz	littleton	CO	80123	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Kay	Breakstone	Stamford	CT	6901	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Luwana	Dyer	steep falls	ME	4084	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Luwana	Dyer	steep falls	ME	4084	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Steve	Sivley	Austin	TX	78705	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Leticia	Aguilar	Washington	DC	20006	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Edwyna	Spiegel	Honolulu	HI	96822	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Edwyna	Spiegel	Honolulu	HI	96822	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Mark	Scali	NY	NY	12771	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jane	Murray	Hackettstown	NJ	7840	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Steven	Moncivais	Laredo	TX	78046	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, pam	ward	lyndeborough	NH	3082	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
LeeAnn	Mumaw	Mauldin	SC	29662	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Melody	Avery	Hampton	VA	23664	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Christy	De Voy	Colorado	CO	80203	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Maddie	Bertin	McLean	VA	22101	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, ryk	diemert	perryville	MO	63775	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Gloria	Korhonen OP	MI	MI	48060	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Gloria	Korhonen OP	MI	MI	48060	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Christopher	croke	Maryland	MD	21217	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Mark	Pankers	Nebraska	NE	68105	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Rose	McDavid	Pittsboro,NC	NC	27312	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Phil	Lair	Richland	WA	99354	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
M.	Lacey	KS	KS	66111	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
William	Carpenter	NY	NY	12701	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, janice	arandelovic	ontario	ON	n5z2n8	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Crystal	Webert	Oak harbor	OH	43449	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Elide	Gianfagna	Campobasso	ot	86042	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Elide	Gianfagna	Campobasso	ot	86042	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Marsha	Mcintosh	Stanton	CA	90680	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Shannon	Fisher	Pennsylvania	PA	17832	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
E	Vogt	Rye	NH	3870	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Barbara	Debes	Biddeford	ME	4005	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Margaret	Rich	MI	MI	48912	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Silke	Chipchase	Dupont	WA	98327	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, kathleen	obre	laguna beach	CA	92651	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jesse	Edwards	Hgihland	MI	48356	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Mark	Hansen	California	CA	90210	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Joni	Wilson	Houston	TX	77070	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jean	Bonito	Ossining	ND	10562	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jeanne	bisanz	Farmington Hills	MI	48334	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Shannon	Sorem	Seattle	WA	98115	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, stephanie	johnson	grand marais	MN	55604	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, Stephanie Johnson, Grand Marais Mn
Paula	Beers	Beaverton	OR	97007	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Amanda	Hungerford	MD	MD	20912	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Julie	Mignot	Rawdon	QC	J0k1s0	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Kathy	Summers	Hagerstown	MD	21740	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Ralph	Judkins	CT	CT	6237	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jennifer	Roderick	Arlington	MA	2474	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, kathy	hafter	east syracuse	NY	13057	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, Estella	Silva	Wisconsin	WI	53215	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, r.a.	olson	brookfield	WI	53005	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Ann	Susalla	South lyon	MI	48178	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Angela	Ferrari	Anchorage	AK	99517	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - Is your jobs not to protect the lands and animals that inhabit them? - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Angelica	Palomo	Chicago	IL	60622	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Gretchen	Clay	Bellingham	WA	98225	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Michael	Bailin	Glenside	PA	19038	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Angela	Clark	Aurora	CO	80013	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Charles	Gerber	New York	NY	14057	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Amanda	Thomson	Washington	DC	20008	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Rakim	Merrill	Nashville	TN	37203	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Lorelle	Wallace	Marlborough	MA	1752	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
JOENE	CHEEKS	FORT MYERS	FL	33905	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
SUSANNE	DAY	BORDENTOWN	NJ	8505	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jayme	Henderson	Denver	CO	80222	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, amy	jordan	MO	MO	63109	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Wyanet	Schoonover	Colorado Springs	CO	80016	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Robert	Mize	Inyokern	CA	93527	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Brenda	Sportsman	St. Charles	MO	63303	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Stacy	Gold	Las Vegas	NV	89121	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Ron	Todgers	CA	CA	95472	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, nikki	andrews	Taunton	MA	2780	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Bonita	Gilhart	Hedgesville	WV	25427	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Bonita	Gilhart	Hedgesville	WV	25427	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Georgia	Laurino	Palos Hills	IL	60465	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Kelly	Zeek	Lake In The Hills	IL	60156	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Lawrence	Bergstrom	Duluth	MN	55804	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Ken	Glanden	Newark	DE	19711	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Thomas	Noble	Albuquerque	NM	87125	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
William	Mayer	Arizona	AZ	85338	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Gary	Dorris	Toledo	OR	97391	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Sharon	Russick	FL	FL	33441	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Cynthia	McHale	Naperville	IL	60540	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Bernadette	Lato	Creve Coeur	IL	61610	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Dorothy	Cheo	Niantic	CT	6357	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Rodney	Koran	TN	TN	37743	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
heather	havens	lewisville	TX	75067	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Stuart	Niebel	Ojai	CA	93023	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Eric	Quesenberry	VA	VA	24210	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Eugenia A.	Patterson	Kingston	WA	98346	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Andrew	Luckhardt	Londonderry	NH	3053	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Apoorva	Joshipura	riverside	CA	92503	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, stephan	murphy	Kingston	MA	2364	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Janice	Parker	Toccoa	GA	30577	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Debra	Moody	NC	NC	28601	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Debra	Moody	NC	NC	28601	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Debra	Moody	NC	NC	28601	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Debra	Moody	NC	NC	28601	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Summerfield	Baldwin	Tuckahoe	NY	10707	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Robert	Gierak	INVERNESS	FL	34453	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Nancy	Nicholson	Boulder	CO	80302	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Anastasia	Kalamaras	Flushing	NY	11358	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Tanya	Wenrich	Selinsgrove	PA	17870	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Barbara	Stenross	Carrboro	NC	27510	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Neil	Abbott	Al	AL	35405	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Theodore	Johns	CT	CT	6385	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Pat	Rose	IL	IL	60077	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Charles	Retherford	Muncie	IN	47305	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Brittney	Barr	Maine	ME	4092	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
JORGE	BARBA	VISTA	CA	92081	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Dan	Michelson	Des Plaines	IL	60016	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
PAT	CARMAN	Davis	CA	95616	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Dennis	Tackett	Virginia Beach	VA	23451	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Dennis	Tackett	Virginia Beach	VA	23451	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Elizabeth	Metcalf	GA	GA	30075	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jack	Meyer	Detroit Lakes	MN	56501	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jack	Meyer	Detroit Lakes	MN	56501	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Diane	Sirois	ME	ME	3901	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, brian	kundinger	las vegas	NV	89131	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Deborah	Buckler	Monroeville	PA	15146	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Tina	Nicolosi	MA	MA	1844	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Sandra	Hutchinson	Port Leyden	NY	13433	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Robbie	Stephens	Nashville	TN	37201	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Brianna	Onken	Holland	MI	49424	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jesse	Anderson	CO	CO	80123	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Sandra	Kawa	FL	FL	33936	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Betty	Carroll	Fort Wayne	IN	46809	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Debra	Beaver	NC	NC	28104	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jimena	Bains	Houston	TX	77066	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, sarah	choe	CA	CA	90504	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Christiane	Huard	St Martin du mont	ot	21440	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Benita	Walsh	High wycombe	ot	HP136XU	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Catherine	Talarico	Des Moines	IA	50310	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Erik	McWilliams	Rockville	MD	20850	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Rob	Seelman	NY	NY	13476	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Kristin	St. George	Scotts Valley	CA	95067	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Philip	Rose	Accord	NY	12404	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Maia	Tipton	Flagstaff	AZ	86001	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Regina	Alesso	FL	FL	33331	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Matthew	Poselwait	Bargersville	IN	46106	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Brady	Howard	Lynn	MA	1904	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Lauren	Porosoff	NY	NY	10583	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Margaret	Brockmiller	Maggie Valley	NC	28751	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Melissa	Fillinger	ranson	WV	25438	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Ruth Stoner	Muzzin	Montara	CA	94037	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Neil	Puckett	Sparks	NV	89434	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Neil	Puckett	Sparks	NV	89434	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Emily	Wyman	MD	MD	20912	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Julian	Trevino	Michigan	MI	48047	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Julian	Trevino	Michigan	MI	48047	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Julian	Trevino	Michigan	MI	48047	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Gregg	Levine	Astoria	NY	11102	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Kim	Frazier	Battlefield	MO	65619	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Monitta	Lowe	Cleveland	OH	44108	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Monitta	Lowe	Cleveland	OH	44108	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Amelia m	Rojas	Salina	KS	67401	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Sandra	Victor	MA	MA	1702	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
C	George	Columbus	OH	43220	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Brian	Dalton	Michigan	MI	48125	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
liz	murphy	lafayette	TN	37083	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
liz	murphy	lafayette	TN	37083	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Michelle	Regnetta	MA	MA	2151	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Laney	Roberts	South Carolina	SC	29412	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Elsie	Hutchens	Greensboro	NC	27406	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
linda	uttaro	MA	MA	1960	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Kathi	Squires	VT	VT	5059	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Akankha	Perkins	Vermont	VT	5091	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Barbara	Suyehiro	CA	CA	94518	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
April	Garcia	CA	CA	94582	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Michael	Zickefoose	Fredericksburg	OH	44627	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Kristina	Anderson	Ramsey	MN	55303	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Netania	Steiner	Brooklyn	NY	11217	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Paula	Morgan	HOLLYWOOD	FL	33019	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Paula	Morgan	HOLLYWOOD	FL	33019	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Kelly	Bourque	PA	PA	17319	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, michael	teague	marion	NC	28752	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Abigail	Crespo	TX	TX	75708	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Eugene	Falik	NY	NY	11691	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Maureen	Murphy	New York	NY	11375	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - THANK YOU - - Sincerely, scot	ramsay	tinley park	IL	60477	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
marilyn	miller	toms river	NJ	8757	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, marilyn	miller	toms river	NJ	8757	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Meenakshi	Misra	East Windsor	NJ	8520	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
David	Galli	Dublin	CA	94568	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Penny	Blakeney	Ashland	OR	97520	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Tucker	Thomas	Ewing	NJ	8628	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jean	Eno	Hillsborough	NC	27278	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Kevin	Sayegh	Las Vegas	NV	89141	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Chris	bozowski	Dayton	NJ	8810	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Tracy	Morics	Eagan	MN	55122	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Sandra	McLuuckie	Fort Collins	CO	80526	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Sandra	McLuuckie	Fort Collins	CO	80526	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Carol	Tuveson	New Hampshire	NH	3824	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Yvonne	Buoncora	Middle Village	NY	11379	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Yvonne	Buoncora	Middle Village	NY	11379	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Donna	Allen	Glendale	AZ	85304	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Mark	Patten	Blasdell	NY	14219	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Ian	Burns	Richmond Hill	NY	11418	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Pauline	Hebert	Theriot	LA	70397	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Nola	Zito & family	NY	NY	11791	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Claudia	Van Gerven	Boulder	CO	80305	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Kian	Daniel	Milwaukee	WI	53213	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Kian	Daniel	Milwaukee	WI	53213	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Lisa	Chapman	Ohio	OH	44064	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Kathy	Kirkoff	OH	OH	44075	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Dan	Rauschenberg	Desert Hot Springs	CA	92240	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Mylee	Khristoforov	CO	CO	80231	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, donna	smith	Toms River , New jersey	NJ	8753	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Eva	Bianchi	Delaware	OH	43015	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Eva	Bianchi	Delaware	OH	43015	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Sally	Goddard	Rouses Point	NY	12979	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Lesley	Meyer	LA	CA	90065	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Robert	Hill	Middleton	WI	53562	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Robert	Hill	Middleton	WI	53562	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Elisa	Serikawa	Sao Paulo	ot	4543011	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Elisa	Serikawa	Sao Paulo	ot	4543011	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Shoma	Chatterjee	San Francisco	CA	94109	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Robert	Wiehemeijer	Choose a State	ot	26844	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Robert	Wiehemeijer	Choose a State	ot	26844	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Robert	Wiehemeijer	Choose a State	ot	26844	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Cheryl	Linder	Los Angeles	CA	90049	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Hendricka	Samytowski	Western Australia	ot	6062	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Marcela	Riojas	Santa Barbara	CA	93101	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Sharon	Hall	Cullompton	ot	ex15 1uj	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
JOHN	NEST	New Jersey	NJ	7073	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Sam	Miller	Cinn	OH	45220	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Celeste	Watt	Covington	LA	70433	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Celeste	Watt	Covington	LA	70433	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Celeste	Watt	Covington	LA	70433	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
