Cindy	Kerr	OK	OK	74037	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Mary	Macedonio	Flushing	NY	11364	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, nicole	hernandez	Florida	FL	33604	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Sheilah	Pincus	Long beach	NY	11561	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Adam	Benzion	CA	CA	94107	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, stacy	matern	ashland	OR	92075	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Colleen	Gariton	Charlotte	NC	28216	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Themba	Ntaka	Wilmington	DE	19801	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
S	Vincent	Gallatin	TN	37066	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
William	Koch	Corvallia	OR	97330	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Brenda	Ireland	San Antonio	TX	78238	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Brenda	Ireland	San Antonio	TX	78238	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Beata	Meszaros	FL	FL	33409	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Dana	Myers	Eupora	MS	39744	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Denine	Mishoe	WA	WA	98632	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Ronald	Ham	New York	NY	14411	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Karen	Roberts	Brentwood	TN	37027	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
BJ	Hendrix	Charlotte	NC	28270	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Lori	Karvonen	AK	AK	99669	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Melinda	Thigpen	Ruston	LA	71270	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Karel	Barton	Ann Arbor	MI	48108	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Dana	Melvin	Alexandria	VA	22309	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Dana	Melvin	Alexandria	VA	22309	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Ruth	Linn	Louisville	KY	40291	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Verrall	Hoover	Langley	WA	98260	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Gretchen	Grubel	Calabasas	CA	91302	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Deborah	Price	Harker Heights	TX	76548	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Patricia	May	Independence	KS	67301	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Srikanth	Raghunathan	Pennsylvania	PA	15218	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Dr Ray	Spencer	California	CA	90064	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Natalia	Ilina	San antonio	TX	78216	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Amy	Rautner	Sterling	VA	20165	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Katherine	Bailey	Fl	FL	32738	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Karen	Forsythe	crystal lake	IL	60014	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Tinamarie	Bhandari	Jacksonville	FL	32226	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Daryl	Johnson	Ettrick	WI	54627	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Robert	Hamblin	Reading	MA	1867	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Sarah	Brandt	Redwood City	CA	94063	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Sarah	Brandt	Redwood City	CA	94063	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Nicolette	Soto	New York	NY	10035	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, dave	viska	AZ	AZ	85338	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, dorothy	henry	houston	TX	77282	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, dorothy	henry	houston	TX	77282	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jeffery	Emmons	Kalamazoo	MI	49048	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jessica	Echeverria	Las Vegas	NV	89143	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Martina	Busch	Whitefish	MT	59937	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Samantha	Gardner	Columbus	OH	43202	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Samantha	Gardner	Columbus	OH	43202	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
SILVIA	DIAZ	HOUSTON	TX	77084	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Sarah	Janiga	IN	IN	46324	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Chris	Harriman	Portland	ME	4103	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, allen	wright	Lakeland	FL	33803	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Daniel	Rosenfeld	Naples	FL	34109	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Daniel	Rosenfeld	Naples	FL	34109	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Paul	Skufis	MI	MI	49221	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Anita	James	Pincher Creek	AB	T0K 1W0	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, esther	wolthuis	almelo	ot	7607NJ	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Ms. Linda A.	Heath	Ohio	OH	44044	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Ms. Linda A.	Heath	Ohio	OH	44044	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Linda	Bescript	AZ	AZ	85747	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Linda	Bescript	AZ	AZ	85747	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Dagmar	Anders	Chemnitz	ot	9123	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Dagmar	Anders	Chemnitz	ot	9123	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, bruce	campbell	Antgonish	NS	b2g 1G2	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Catherine	Vidal	Oxnard	CA	93035	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, gail	glowczenski	amagansett	NY	11930	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Hilary	Thomas	Toronto	ON	M4P 1Y7	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Bonnie	Prado	Littleton	CO	80120	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jean	Myers	Charlotte	NC	28270	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jannemieke	de Groot	weelde	ot	2381	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Jannemieke	de Groot	weelde	ot	2381	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jannemieke	de Groot	weelde	ot	2381	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Joy	Glassman	Bloomfield	CT	6002	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
G. G.	Johnson	Washington	DC	20009	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Kina	Kocsis	Michigan	MI	48842	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Valerie	Marak	Rhode Island	RI	2879	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Aimee	Darrow	Venice	CA	90291	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Floyd	O'Brien	Stockton	CA	95204	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Fred	Brown	Palomar	CA	92060	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Mia	Kingshill	Oakland	CA	94608	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Corina	Chenoweth	CA	CA	95959	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Justin	Palmer	Franconia	NH	3580	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Justin	Palmer	Franconia	NH	3580	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Bradley	Jones	Los Angeles	CA	90029	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Caren	Plank	Monroe	ME	4951	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Lauren	Hayes	Fort Collins	CO	80524	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Kim	Chamberlain	Fortuna	CA	95540	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Matt	Kline	San Leandro	CA	94577	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Michael	Higgins	NJ	NJ	7508	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Helia	Dab	Fresno	CA	93720	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Teri	Davidson	Arnold	MO	63010	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Sterling	Reaveley	Dublin	OH	43017	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
MAUREEN	LOUGHMAN	KEANSBURG	NJ	7734	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Dale	Helms	Vermont	VT	5443	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Dona	Donato	Warrington	PA	18976	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Ladonna	Scism	Tennessee Ridge	TN	37178	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Meagan	Scott	Houston	TX	77022	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Don	Arledge	Gig Harbor	WA	98335	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Claudia	Pimienta	Anaheim	CA	92801	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Denise	Merker	San Francisco	CA	94103	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
P	Berardo	New Mexico	NM	87025	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Marilyn	Santos	Lawrence	MA	1841	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Alexia	Gee	San Marcos	CA	92078	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Deanna	Merrill	Powell	OH	43065	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, rebecca	thompson	madison	VA	22727	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Linda	Otworth	Conklin	MI	4943	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, larry	kanter	delhi	NY	13753	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Toni	Mabry	Griffin	GA	30223	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Sean	Adams	NY	NY	11222	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Christopher	Williams	Sanford	NC	27330	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Lynne	Lyons	New Orleans	LA	70117	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Susana	Hernandez	Miami	FL	33186	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Susan	Benally	Maryland	MD	20603	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Sheryn	Olson	Steamboat Springs	CO	80487	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Richard	Kahn	South Pasadena	CA	91030	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Christine	Williams	Coningsby, Lincolnshire	ot	LN4 4TX	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Christine	Williams	Coningsby, Lincolnshire	ot	LN4 4TX	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Robert	Hill	South Carolina	SC	29483	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Marina	Blyakhman	St.Petersburg	ot	196066	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, Marina Blyakhman
Sherry	Young	Indian Harbour Beach	FL	32937	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Most people in the US will never even see a grizzly bear in the wild, yet these states want to let a few rich people kill them for sport. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulatior to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this delisting proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Martin	Saitta	San Diego	CA	92115	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Stanley	Brewer	LaFrance	SC	29656	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, aLeXX	GoloWin	Zolochiv	GA	80700	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Elaine	Thomas	Sierra Vista	AZ	85635	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this declining population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect w wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Ple keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Elaine	Thomas	Sierra Vista	AZ	85635	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Barb	Fraser	Vancouver	BC	V6H 2K8	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this declining population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect w wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Ple keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Bonnie	North	Barrie	ON	L4N 0E2	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this declining population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect w wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Ple keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Bonnie	North	Barrie	ON	L4N 0E2	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Bonnie	North	Barrie	ON	L4N 0E2	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, jennifer	laster	portland	OR	97214	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Brigitta	MacMillan	Deal	ot	CT14 9QN	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this declining population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect w wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Ple keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Brigitta	MacMillan	Deal	ot	CT14 9QN	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Brigitta	MacMillan	Deal	ot	CT14 9QN	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Brigitta	MacMillan	Deal	ot	CT14 9QN	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
James	Carmean	O'Fallon	MO	63366	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this declining population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect w wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Ple keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
James	Carmean	O'Fallon	MO	63366	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - It really upsets me that there are fellow humans that just cannot wait to kill something. It is long past the time that big game are hunted for food. They are just killed for sport. All animals need our protection. Where Without protection they will be illegally lured across boundaries and killed. Please protect the grizzlies. - - Sincerely,
Jean	Blanchette	Valley Cottage	NY	10989	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Karen	Rosenfeld	North Augusta	ON	K0G 1R0	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Madeleline	Yaple	Washington	WA	98107	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, susan	eirich	Driggs,	ID	83422	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
susan	eirich	Driggs,	ID	83422	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
s	smith	An gola	IN	46703	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Robert	Buskohl	Illinois	IL	61081	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Sara	Garcia	Swindon	ot	SN2 1QD	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Suzanne	Dalton	Canton	OH	44705	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
CHARLOTTE	ESPOSITO	stockton	NJ	8559	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
B	O'Connell	Ossining	NY	10562	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
James	Campbell	Warrington	ot	WA5 8TN	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
James	Campbell	Warrington	ot	WA5 8TN	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jo	Long	Wimberley	TX	78676	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
LL	Kauffman	Mt pleasant	SC	29464	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Denise J.	Grillo	Cold Spring	NY	10516	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
David	Eakle	AZ	AZ	85743	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Tamara	Schwartzentruber	BC	BC	V0G 1M0	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Melanie	Rimer	Odessa	TX	79764	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Dudley	Greeley	Cumberland	ME	4021	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Christabel	Magri	Luqa	ot	1857	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Julia	Motti	Mt. Tremper	NY	12457	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Shirlene	Zielinski	Livonia	MI	48154	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Toyin	A	Worcester	MA	1605	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Kenneth	Fisher	Bristol	CT	6010	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
REBECCA	PEARSON	SANTA FE	NM	87505	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Angel	Woytovich	St.Catharines	ON	L2R3K8	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Gia	Machlin	New York	NY	10025	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Chesnokov	Aleksey	Nizhny Novgorod	ot	603106	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Kristen	Callihan	IN	IN	46360	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Sarah	Hunnewell	Water Mill	NY	11976	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Sue	Johnson	Anchorage	AK	99517	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Linsey	Haram	Georgia	GA	30606	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Robin	Pennsy	Erie	PA	16502	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Erick	Solares	San Diego	CA	92102	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Carissa	Welles	Liverpool	NY	13088	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, nancy.hovenden@yahoo	nancy.hovenden@yal	nancy.hovenden@yahoo.com	TX	75234	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Christine	Atherfold	Kitchener	ON	N2H 4W2	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Douglas	Miller	West Boylston	MA	1583	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, linda	arzola	buffalo	NY	14221	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Athanasios	Psichogios	Metamorphosis	ot	14452	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Pennye	Jones-Napier	Takoma Park	MD	20913	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, mcihele	chamot	roxbury	NY	1474	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Martha	Byington	Boston	MA	2117	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Cara	Ammon	Chicago	IL	60640	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Amanda	Kirk	Minneapolis	MN	55408	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Amanda	Kirk	Minneapolis	MN	55408	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, piet	calkhoven	alkmaar	ot	1827ev	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Ingrid	Phillips	R├╝sselsheim	ot	65428	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Nicholas	Harley	Bothell	WA	98012	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Edith	Edsall	St Johns	FL	32259	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Patrice	Dobrowitsky	Pacific Palisades	CA	90272	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Heather	Rider	Los Angeles	CA	90049	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Nicole	Cerra	Portland	OR	97206	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Alexandra	Cordeiro	Porto	ot	4250-172	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Anna	Brewer	Michigan	MI	494107	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Miguel A	Formosa	NY	NY	10710	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Deb	Muraro	WI	WI	53118	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Conner	Ties	Cedar Rapids	IA	52405	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Doug	Beckerman	Lynbrook	NY	11563	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Singh	Prabhu	Khammam	ot	507123	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Sheila	Cunningham	White bear lake	MN	55110	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Krista	Brewer	Michigan	MI	48551	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Marian	Claasen	Hillegom	ot	2181LN	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Ken	Brewer	Michigan	MI	48551	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Bronwen	Hartranft	Lititz	PA	17543	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Bradley	Small	Wheaton	IL	60187	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Donna	Gott	California	CA	92308	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Gloria	Callahan	Aiken	SC	29803	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Gloria	Callahan	Aiken	SC	29803	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, mr mo	mo	arlington	VA	22205	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Gabriella	Serafino	Castelgomberto Vicenza	ot	36070	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Suzanne	Gordon	Bonita Springs	FL	34135	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Laura	Gandolfo	Ridgewood	NY	11385	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Diana	Pihos	Chicago	IL	60614	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Latiese	Johnson	West Bloomfield	MI	48322	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
David	Blank	North Royalton	OH	44133	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Daniel	Joseph	New kensington	PA	15068	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Gail	Ramsay	Kista	ot	SE-16448	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Julie	Maybee	Madison	WI	53703	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Kelli	Greenhalgh	Pontypool	ot	Np40na	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Lois	Kral	Yorktown	NY	10598	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Mary	Levan	NJ	NJ	8021	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Lori	Campbell	Burien	WA	98166	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Lisa	Pennell	Mo	MO	63026	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Ashley	Michiels	Deurne	ot	2100	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Robert	Harasta	Carmel Valley	CA	93924	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Dale	Carpenter	Grosse Ile	MI	48138	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
June	Wolitz	Sparta	NJ	7871	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Timothy	Prosser	MI	MI	48103	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Timothy	Prosser	MI	MI	48103	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Alicia	Loeza	Guadalajara, Jalisco M├-xico	OH	44240123	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Denise	Mullins	Aurora	OH	44202	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Deana	Lucken	Corcoran	CA	93212	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Jamie	Zimmer	DURHAM	NC	27713	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, deborah	ross	California	CA	95501	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
E Lorraine	Kent	Virginia	VA	22152	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Shirley	McGrath	Walnut Creek	CA	94598	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Virginia	Sampson	Oregon	OR	97063	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
John	Scanlon	Pittsburgh	PA	15202	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Lynnette	Walters	Surprise	AZ	85387	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Brian	Warren	Andover	MA	1810	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Kara	Macleod	Great Falls	VA	22066	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Brooks	Obr	Coralville	IA	52241	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Celia	Tunson	DENVER	CO	80205	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Steve	Swartz	Liberty	MO	64068	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Phyllis	Newburn	Jackson	TN	38304	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Christina	Edwards	Prenton	ot	CH437RG	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Thomas	Kindle	Arroyo Grande	CA	93420	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Lin	Dimes	Leatherhead	ot	KT22 7RU	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Tracie	Ayers	Canastota	NY	13032	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Andrew	Edwards	Frederick	MD	21703	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears ON the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, k	keigharn	oakland	CA	94618	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Nicole	Jackson	Sierra	CA	96126	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Eileen	Townsend	CO	CO	80205	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Glenn	Furth	Texas	TX	75024	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Lois	Eppinger	Fairfield	CT	6825	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Cynthia	Lewis	Montrose	PA	18801	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jhanel	Kies	Stanford	CA	94309	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Danielle	Abrams	ID	ID	83340	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Eric	Krempa	Charlotte	NC	28211	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Mark	Scofield	Port jefferson	NY	11776	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Mark	Scofield	Port jefferson	NY	11776	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jean	Nuttall	Longmont	CO	80504	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Dee	Reyna	Las Vegas	NV	89110	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Mimi	Lei	Seattle	WA	98122	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Jill	Evans	Preston	ot	PR1 7UR	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Sharon	Gillis	New York	NY	12866	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
DAVID	HUFFMAN	Los Angeles	CA	90039	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, amanda	Nelson	FL	FL	34287	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Azam	Niroomand-Rad	Madison	WI	53703	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Glenn	Gover	Orlando	FL	32808	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Steven	Acosta	Los Angeles	CA	90011	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Karen	Windchild	Delray Beach	FL	33484	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Katrina	Kimmel	Kalispell	MT	59904	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Megan	Zylka	Wisconsin	WI	53154	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Alan	Lish	Marysville	WA	98271	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Sherry	Chance	Lebanon	TN	37087	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Stan	Azen	Laguna Beach	CA	92651	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, john	moon	Savannah	GA	31406	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Melissa	Briggs	Banbury	ot	OX15 6HT	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Pubudu	Rajapakse	Thalawathugoda	ot	94	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Judy	Casey	MD	MD	20901	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Sally	Martone	Greenville	RI	2828	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Marca	Barr	Florida	FL	32805	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Dara	Epstein	Sandy Springs	GA	30328	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. States do not presently have a vested interest in protecting these creatures ,above ensuring minimal remain for trophy hunting. - - Sincerely,
Larisa	Reva	Brooklyn	NY	11235	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Michelle	Kole	Southington	OH	44470	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Sharon	Schaffer	Playa del rey	CA	90293	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, fran	wall	Lakeland	FL	33813	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Lisa	Gillis	Canton	MI	48188	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jeanne	Puerta	Denver	CO	80227	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Amber	Forever	Tacoma	WA	98404	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Stephen	Barthelson	Downers Grove	IL	60515	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Dpnald	Holloway	Chapel Hill	ND	27517	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Marian	Sorensen	Edmonton	AB	T6R 0B1	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Alysha	English	Reno	NV	89523	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Nora	John	WA	WA	98270	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Gary	ANDERSON	Los Altos	CA	94022	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
James	Rea	Brighton	TN	38011	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
JOSSIE	VERA	OCKLAWAYA	FL	32179	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Joseph	Kiesznoski	South Wales	NY	`14139	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Deborah	Bevilaqua	Concord	CA	945 20	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Cynthia	Swanson	Lake In The Hills	IL	60156	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Regina	Rose	Bel Air	MD	21014	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Maria	Studer	Levittown	NY	11756	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Matthew	Kraemer	Tampa	FL	33619	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Gail	Roberts	Key West	FL	33040	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Michael	Aisner	Boulder	CO	80304	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, judy	sachter	los angeles	CA	90025	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, ann	webb	lone oak	TX	75453	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Heather	Wilson	KS	KS	66030	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, peter	sabio	lancaster	NY	14086	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, denise	walsh	phx	AZ	85050	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Brielle	Olshan	Norwood	NJ	7648	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Nan	Beatty	Raleigh	NC	27603	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Kenneth	Benavides	Peoria	AZ	85383	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Romy	Brandes	R╪vershagen	ot	18182	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
KATHLEEN	lanouette	LAS VEGAS	NV	89117	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Barbara	Hendra	New York	NY	11217	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Miguel	sanchez	Coacalco	ot	55712	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Kelli	Samderson	Willismsburg	MI	49690	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Carol	Bittner	Cody	WY	82414	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jim	Berntsen	Phoenix	AZ	85032	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Arlene	Magrino	Oregon	OR	97538	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, christina	morovics	Texas	TX	78701	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Pam	Davis	Carmel	CA	93923	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Mari	Elvi	Alexander Mills	NC	28043	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Robin	Dimaio	New York	NY	10705	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Linda	Cope	Black Forest	CO	80908	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Leticia	Fletcher	fresno	CA	93710	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Michael	Mendiola	Everett	WA	98204	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Celia	Williams	California	CA	90028	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Vivian	Rodriguez	Bell	CA	90291	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Kim	Clark	Florida	MA	1247	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Sandy	Dalcais	Sunnyside	NY	11377	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Dallas	Barnes	Phoenix	AZ	85043	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Danielle	Spitz	Kamuela	HI	96743	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Gina	Vieth	Mesa	AZ	85207	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Paula	Towry	East Point	GA	30344	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Linda	Borrenpohl	Tetonia	ID	83452	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Olina	Benson	Long beach	CA	90806	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Bernard	Thuring	VILLAGE NEUF	ot	68128	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Alexandra	Grigson	Downingtown	PA	19335	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
BAUER	Laurence	VILLAGE NEUF	ot	68510	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
El	Rowsell	Salisbury	ot	Sp46ej	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Francisco	Recabarren	Daly City	CA	94014	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, eileen	frazier	ME	ME	4074	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Wendy	Blomley-Cassetta	Concod	NH	3302	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Vickie	Walters	Crown Point	IN	46307	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
H├─ctor Dar├io	S├ínchez G├│mez	Rionegro	ot	54	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Judy	Mullen	Johnsburg	IL	60051	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jill	Andross	South Windsor	CT	6074	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Grayson	Abele	LA	CA	90007	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Gail	Runnels	Plover	WI	54467	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Colin	Harris	London	ot	n16 5ds	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Janet	Vallee	Cleveland	OH	44111	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
John	Paladin	Valencia	CA	91380	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Sue	Summerfield	Mesa	AZ	85207	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Maia	Van Pelt	Boulder	CO	80308	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jan	Crowder	Delaware	DE	19720	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Nadine	Chiechi	Olympia	WA	98502	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Solange	Durand	Novalaise	ot	73250	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Sandra	Barrett	AZ	AZ	85250	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
James	Healy	DEMING	NM	88030	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Carol	Howell	Henryville	PA	18332	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Karen	Limas	PA	PA	17011	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Indiana	Limas	PA	PA	17011	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Walt	Kloefkorn	Washington	WA	99148	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Rositta	Gile	Las Vegas	NV	89108	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, gina	colangelo	sanmateo	CA	94401	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
SERGIO	RICARDO	Florida	FL	33156	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Michele	Debroize	paignton	ot	tq4 7lr	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Beth	Baum	Carthage	MO	64836	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Natalie	Payaslyan	Burbank	CA	91505	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Paula	Florentine	Wallace	ID	83873	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Michelle	Geiger	Bergen	NY	14416	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Juliann	Rogers	Henderson	NV	89002	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
James	Harris	Westmont	IL	60559	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Sherri	Cedeno-Rivera	Bronx	NY	10465	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Yumiko	Starr	Derby	KS	67037	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Diane	Nordeck	Terra Alta	WV	26764	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Brenda	Martin	North Pole	AK	99705	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Don	Wiltsie	Saugerties	NY	12477	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Crystal	Menendez@ymail.co	Portland	OR	97217	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Luigi	Andena	Milan	ot	20129	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Gayle	Hernandez	Albuquerque	NM	87105	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
John	Grausam	Winchester	MA	1890	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Scott	Stender	Mill Valley	CA	94941	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Ashley	Holman	LA	LA	70820	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Guillaume	Schuers	Villefranche sur saone	ot	69400	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
ANGELA	FINCH	Hampshire	ot	GU46 6YJ	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
ANGELA	FINCH	Hampshire	ot	GU46 6YJ	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, don	mazzia	North Carolina	NC	27701	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Kristina	Jensen	Cold Spring	NY	10516	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Adrienne	Gallant	Phoenix	AZ	85028	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Gabrielle	Puccini	West Palm Beach	FL	33401	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Linda	Crotta	Shoreham	NY	11786	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Gayle	Jones	Bessemer	AL	35023	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Hope	Blume	Whitestone	NY	11357	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Phil	Murray	Seattle	WA	98122	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Isabelle	Cheret	Orleans	ot	45100	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Dawna	VanderNoot	Niland	CA	92257	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jeannie	Hall	GA	GA	30047	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jeannie	Hall	GA	GA	30047	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, adak	island	AK	AK	99701	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, Jasmine	Bostock	NY	NY	11102	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, astrid	winters	eindhoven	ot	5628dg	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, astrid	winters	eindhoven	ot	5628dg	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Deborah	Kreuser	Lakewood	CO	80215	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
LUANNE	HILL	NEW ORLEANS	LA	2090	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Gigi	Brakeville	Vancouver	WA	98683	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Nicole	Wilson	New Virginia	IA	50210	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Lois	Stumbaugh	Topeka	KS	66611	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Meike	Matarazzo	California	CA	94612	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Xakan	Kukulcan	Austin, TX	TX	78723	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Michelle	Seyfarth	Vandalia	MI	49095	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Sissil	Towler	Katy	TX	77494	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Sarah	Payette	Macomb	MI	48042	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Daniel	Creely	Des Plaines	IL	60018	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Valerie	Robbin	Coral Gables	FL	33134	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jim	Engelhardt	North Hollywood	CA	91601	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Helen	Flora	Fulton	NY	13069	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, zaloa	Azkona	Bizkaia	ot	48960	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, george	berlinski	denver	NC	28037	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Robyn	Reed	Grand marais	MN	55604	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
SHANNON	BAKER	LAS VEGAS	NV	89123	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Emma	M	Morristown	NJ	7960	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Frances	Smith	San Antonio	TX	78201	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, frances	willlis	Alabama	AL	35661	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Muriel	Edgerton	Gwynedd	PA	19436	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Janice	Riegle	Dublin	OH	43017	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, madison	zesiger	ottumwa	IA	52501	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Dalton	Johnson	Rigby	ID	83442	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Nancy	King	Weston	CO	81091	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Lynelle	Ducommun	Lake Zurich	IL	60047	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, john	mortensen	central pt.	OR	97502	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, elnora	callaway	fountain	CO	80817	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Tyler	Wosleger	Lakeville	CT	6039	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Tim	Martin	Raleigh	NC	27605	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Lillie	Richards	Pompano Beach	FL	33062	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Barbara	Trudeau	Cypress	TX	77433	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Pamela	Blankenship	Front Royal	VA	22630	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Keith	Jarvis	Boulder	CO	80301	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Lawrence	Savidge	Seattle	WA	98106	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Lucas	Astorian	Lakeville	CT	6039	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Stephanie	Lauenstein	Minneapolis	MN	55405	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Sallie	Germain	Birmingham	ot	B5 7LS	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jon	Hayenga	Stewartville	MN	55976	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Marilyn	Dixon	seminole	OK	74818	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Susan	Szkutak	South Londonderry	VT	5155	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Yvonne	Ochse	Sierra Vista	AZ	85635	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Dianne	Reynolds	Midlothian	VA	23112	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Melinda	Lagerquist	Hansville	WA	98340	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
William	Peterson	Pocatell	ID	83204	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Leslie	Simonelli	Cranston	RI	2920	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Dinelle	D	Concord	NH	3301	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Elizabeth	Allen	Aston	PA	19014	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Zachary	Rosenberg	Coral Springs	FL	33076	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Shelley	Terry	West palm beach	FL	33401	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Patricia	Becker	NY	NY	12803	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Judy Marie	Tucci	Syracuse	NY	13207	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Linda	Vigil	Montrose	MI	48457	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Frank	Pollack	Long beach	NY	11561	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Cathy	Stephens	Westville	NJ	8093	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Erin	Bauman	Laramie	WY	82072	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jerri	Jensen	Penobscot	ME	4476	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jane	Woods	Elkins	WV	26241	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Kathleen	Mehosky	Harrisburg	PA	17109	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Susan	Granias	Lombard	IL	60148	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Do not cave in to Trophy Hunters. As human population grows there are fewer and fewer places for our wildlife to live. Not protecting Grizzly Bears will guarantee their extinction. And since Yellowstone is supporte much offense that you would even consider choosing hunters over wildlife. The United States has 50 states, these three are the only ones that would benefit at the cost to the rest. - - Sincerely,
Janet	Mattox	Delmar	NY	12054	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Susan	Clark	Dulutj	MN	55911	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Courtney	Owens	Tucson	AZ	85719	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jodie	Marsh	CO	CO	80915	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Jenifer	Killpavk	Riverdale	UT	84405	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jenifer	Killpavk	Riverdale	UT	84405	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jeffrey	Killpack	Riverdale	UT	84405	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Thomas	Pilon	New Haven	NY	13121	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Pamela	Baker	Houston	TX	77019	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Sheila	Gut	LaFox	IL	60147	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Kim	Lehmann	Vancouver	WA	98661	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Eva	Kapravo	Brooklyn	NY	11230	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Lil	Paolucci	Plymouth meeting	PA	19462	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Harry	Cantor	Encino	CA	91436	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Willlam	Henne	Charlevoix	MI	49720	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Diana	Elbirt	Tucson	AZ	85745	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, patricia	rodriguez	fountain valley	CA	92708	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Tamra	Ashcroft	West Valley City	UT	84128	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Rose	Lynd	Tomahawk	WI	54487	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Cecilia	Barea	Brooklyn	NY	11235	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
German	Mendez	Miami	FL	33155	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Lynn	Helma	Harvard	IL	60033	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Roger	Forte	Dublin	CA	94568	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Ellen	Pedersen	Vineland	NJ	8360	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Geri	Biggs	MI	MI	48124	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Gina	Alves Pereira	Jundia├i	ot	13203840	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Audrey	Okubo	San Jose	CA	95129	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Sarah	Deckel	Warwick	RI	2886	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Drew	VanKrevelen	St. Paul	MN	55130	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Giselle	Whitwell	TEXAS	TX	78734	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Shan	Nair	Nassau, Bahamas	FL	34134	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, philip	zizzo	calverton	NY	11933	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
K O	Harriso	Orl	FL	32708	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Leanna	Martin	Sahuarita	AZ	85629	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Abiona	Francis	East Stroudsburg	PA	18301	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Julianne	Bozzo	Lindenhurst	NY	11757	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
n	stanley	abany	NY	12208	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Judith	Garry	Pasadena	CA	91105	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Ronald	Mincin	Nashville	TN	37216	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
John	Lemons	Spokane	WA	99201	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Alejandra	Benito	Fort Myers	FL	33919	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Kate	Webb	Pottstown	PA	19464	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, elizabeth	gaspar	geneva	NY	14456	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Anita	Ijzermans	Pulle	ot	2243	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Adam	Voorhees	Santa Monica	CA	90403	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Kathlene	Herrmann	Washington	WA	98155	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Hali	O'Connor	Lemon Grove	CA	91945	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Mark	Iden	Marysville	CA	95901	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Sandra	Gould	Fort Worth	TX	76131	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Liss	Jefferd	Palouse	WA	99161	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Shannon	Montoya	Rohnert Park	CA	94928	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jane A.	Travis	Onalaska	WI	54650	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
John	Flater	Lutherville	MD	21093	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Nancy	Diaz	Fair Lawn	NJ	7410	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Tj	Good	Denver	CO	80206	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Karen	Benavides	Garden City	KS	67846	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jeanine	Aleksander	Sault Ste Marie	ON	P6c5g5	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jeanine	Aleksander	Sault Ste Marie	ON	P6c5g5	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Alan	Hainkel	Kansas City	MO	64116	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Miriam	Kabadas	Innsbruck	ot	6020	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
MARIA CRISTINA	PALANTI	Milan	ot	20159	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, hunter	trowbridge	Narragansett	RI	2882	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Manuela	Mejaski	Schwieberdingen	ot	71701	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Charlotte	Parker	Encino	CA	91316	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Charlotte	Parker	Encino	CA	91316	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Hillery	Earl	Joshua	TX	76058	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jess	Espanola	La Puente	CA	91746	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Alexandra	Douglas	Peiraias	ot	18120	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Karen	Whitecotton	Wy	WY	82501	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Stephanie	Kuhhirt	cape town	ot	7441	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Marcy	Chapin	San Luis Obispo	CA	93501	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Eva	Pichlmayr	Almoradi/Alicante	AZ	3160	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
LIZ	MCNEE	RICHMOND	ot	DL10 7RT	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Elisabeth	Hemby	Sval ├╢v	ot	26890	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Vincent	Nanticoke	Hamilton	ON	l8h 1h7	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. All them grizzly bears need protection too! - - Sincerely,
Oscar	Revilla	San Sebastian de los Reyes	NC	28700	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, colin	stevens	Chesham	ot	HP5 2SY	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Theda	Wiebrands	Coevorden	ot	7742cp	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, christine	seifert	pchelarovo	ot	9550	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Paulina P.A.	Sladek	Leiden	ot	2332pz	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Ruth	Howard	cape town	ot	80010	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, lilas	giorgi	narbonne	ot	11100	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Gayle	Northover	London	ot	NW4 4LP	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Rosie	Adams	None	ot	/SW12 9S>	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Bob	Burum	Mooresville	NC	28117	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Clare	Martin-West	Kansas City	MO	64113	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Holly	Kahler	Gretna	NE	68028	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
John	Biondi	Bridgewater	NJ	8807	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, tanya	ivanow	Katonah	NY	10536	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
tanya	ivanow	Katonah	NY	10536	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jennifer	Hughes	VA	VA	23233	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Antonella	Sterchele	TORINO	ot	10100	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, leonardo	Hernandez	Florida	FL	33144	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Brian	Mays	minnetonka	MN	55345	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Oleg	D	London	ot	Sw7 5lt	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Gaelle	Brelot	St Baudille de la Tour	ot	38118	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Marina	Zapparelli	Inzago	ot	20065	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Matou┼í	Marcinko	Leamington Spa	ot	CV31 1HN	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Roberta	Jasper	Metchen	NJ	8840	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, smeg	ington	tuna	AK	zippylong	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Charlotte	Roman	Leamington spa	ot	Cv32 4ag	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Michelle	Colson	Ruskin	FL	33570	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Joseph	Hankin	CA	ON	L4N1T1	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Josephine	Palladino	New York	NY	11749	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Mark	Hillenbrand	Oak Lawn	IL	60453	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Marcos	Torres	Daytona Beach	FL	32118	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Lania	Marta	Amargosa	BC	45300000	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, john	baskin	jacksonville	FL	32210	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
John	Nicholson	Ashton	ID	83420	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Karen Lee	Arthmann	Rochester	NY	14623	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Evgeny	Mishin	Moscow	ot	121059	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Matthew	Meeler	Kentucky	KY	42420	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Phil	Greco	Vail	AZ	85641	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Amal	Alnahed	Riyadh	ot	68322	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Linda	Schmidt	Bourne	MA	2532	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
David	Metzgar	San Diego	CA	92129	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Mark	Hawkins	Chicago	IL	60610	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Arline	Lohli	Las VEgas	NV	89129	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Bibi	Gaston	New Milford	CT	6776	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Susan	Hoyes	Trucksville	PA	18708	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Tyler	Bawden	Hope Valley	RI	2832	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Kay	Lamon	alameda	CA	94501	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Mark	Langley	ME	ME	610	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Helen	Sipinen	Sparreholm	ot	64991	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Ida	Ho	Choose a State	DC	13141	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, cat	harrison	Virginia	VA	24090	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Shasi	Rajan	Kulim, Kedah	ot	9000	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Nancy	Townshend-Vess	Harwich Port	MA	2646	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, debbie	poulin	Nottingham	NH	3290	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
debbie	poulin	Nottingham	NH	3290	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Kylee	Shotkoski	SD	SD	57064	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - The loss of even a one individual would decrease the genetic diversity greatly. They could be carrying genes specific to them only. With their population already mostly isolated, there genetic diversity needs to be k end of a genetic line forever - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this delisting prc endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Joan	Kelly	New Tripoli	PA	18067	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Carol	Bramblett	North Hampton	NH	3862	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Matthew	Glock	Altamont	NY	12009	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Brent	Morrissey	Queen Creek	AZ	85142	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Daniel	Van Geel	Choose a Stat	ot	6032	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Misty	Stoneburner	Lancaster	OH	43130	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
CHRISTIAN	BERUMEN	Buckeye	AZ	85326	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Laura	Hanson	Florida	FL	33328	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
L A	Kloosterman	Hoogvliet	ot	3192XW	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Karen	Gianni	Chandler	AZ	85249	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Joanne	Kaye	Manchester	ot	M41 9WG	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Tania	Welte	84174 Eching	ot	84174	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Kathryn	Watt	Dewey	OK	74029	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
CHRISTINE	St Jean	Fort Myers	FL	33905	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
CHRISTINE	St Jean	Fort Myers	FL	33905	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Gaetano	Bonaviri	Palermo	ot	90041	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Sue	Macdonald	Edinburgh	ot	EH12 8YJ	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
B J	TAYLOR	VIRGINIA BEACH	VA	23452	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Diane	Myers	Anaheim	CA	92808	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jerri	Laubenthal	Pomona park	FL	32181	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Dawn	Depriest	Columbus	OH	43221	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
David	Kirkwood	Sydney	ot	NSW	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Cristina	Tirelli	Reggio Emilia	ot	42123	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Cristina	Tirelli	Reggio Emilia	ot	42123	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Susan	Harksell	Arizona	AZ	85138	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Robbie	Billing	Leamington Spa	ot	CV311EU	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, christine	domingue	flushing	NY	11354	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Nicole	Maher	Carsonville	MI	48419	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Andrew	Weinstein	Brooklyn	NY	11215	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Susana	Sweeters	Albiuquerque	NM	871014	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Mary	Grande	Johnston	RI	2919	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Gregory	Hitchcock	Lakewood	CO	80215	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Diane	Neisler	Ellijay	GA	30536	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
VANESA	LOZANO	gg	ot	30000	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Sam	Hunt	Mill Spring	NC	28756	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Joshua	Laughtland	ID	ID	83702	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Lorenzo	Cano	el paso	TX	79925	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Karen	Spurr	VA	VA	20187	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
ARTHUR	BLESSING	CEDAR CITY	UT	84720	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Alice	Gerken	Ormond Beach	FL	32174	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Melinda	Hoskins	Helena	MT	59601	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Ana	Soto	Costa Rica	ot	506	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Nathalie	Charpentier	LIMOGES	ot	87100	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Lauren	Page	Westminster	CO	80021	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Mariah	Palmer	Mo	MO	59715	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Sarah	Gray	Longview	TX	75605	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Sarah	Gray	Longview	TX	75605	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Bhavini	Vasanji	Peterborough	ot	PE2 9PA	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Ed	Stevens	Ephrata	WA	98823	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Sharon	Ford	Waupaca	WI	54981	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Ben	Pomcules	96732	HI	96732	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Michael	Villareal	Mission Hills	CA	91345	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Chris	Young	Lakeland	FL	33803	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Amber	Larner	Maldon	PE	CM9 4SW	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, c	Hopkins	Lancashire	DE	OL7 0DW	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Dave	saff	monmouthshire	ot	np264hs	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Sequoia	Edwards	Albuquerque	NM	87106	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Joya	Newcombe	Marldon	ot	TQ3 1SJ	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Anthony	Lewis	Tichnor	AR	72166	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, mehdi	mansour-khodja	Auvergne-Rh┼ne-Alpes	ot	38230	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Ania	Kopczynski	Sterling Heights	MI	48313	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Connie	Lee	Salem	OR	97304	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Marissa	Humphrey	New York	NY	14609	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Rebecca	Holley	Ogden	UT	84403	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Rebecca	Holley	Ogden	UT	84403	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Sally	Knutson	Niskayuna	NY	12309	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
LISA	PICKLE	VA	VA	23139	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
R.	Lindau	Princeton	CT	8544	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Aneliya	Beaton	Choose a State	ot	AB54 7TJ	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Lisa Leeann	McQuarrie	Calgary	AB	T3H OK4	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, stefanie	sleep	Please Select	ID	PL198QU	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Ron	Jefferies	Detroit	MI	48219	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, m.cristina	r.	cantello	ot	21050	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Brandon	Gudin	Latham	NY	12110	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, doris	khoram	tehran_niavaran	ot	non	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, justin	kish	spotswood	NJ	8884	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Elaine	Al Meqdad	Willowbrook	IL	60527	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, judy	pizarro	maple shade	NJ	8052	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Maria	Moorat	St Albans	ot	AL23HP	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Karyn	Ellis	Lake havasu city	AZ	86404	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Fnuggi	Olsen	Sm├╕rum	ot	2765	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, cheryl	Hildebrandt	Saanichton	BC	v8m2b8	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jeanne	Bishop	Belchertown	MA	1007	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jan	Brattain	Clatskanie	OR	97016	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, roya	afshari	NSW	NB	2110	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Tadzio	Kowalczyk	Los Angeles	CA	90073	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Rose-Marie	Grobbelaar	Sandton	ot	2196	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Sabrina	Myo	Cochin	SK	S0M0L0	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Arlene	Pater-Rov	MD	MD	20878	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Anne	Carlson	Seattle	WA	98115	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, monte	allen	oregon	OR	97266	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,monte trent allen
Santiago	Lozano	Miami	FL	33122	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Teri	Smyth	Mims	FL	32754	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Judith	Greenlee	Virginia	VA	23060	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Silvia	Teti	S├úo Paulo	CA	6716337	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Paola	Montagner	Como	ot	22070	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
JANE	MINTO	Western Australia	ot	6036	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Denys	Barbeau	Saint-Hubert	QC	J3Y 2N3	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Maria	smith	lafayette	IN	47905	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, christian	kaiser	Ludwigsburg	ot	71640	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Margie	Short	Palestine	TX	75803	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely Margie Short ,
Glory	Kurtzbein	Columbia City	OR	97018	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
MICHAEL	O'BRIEN	Pennsylvania	PA	15106	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jennifer	Aycock	Estes park	CO	80517	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Joshua	Buker	Mechanic Falls	ME	4256	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Marion	Hitzenhammer	Klagenfurt	ot	9020	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Teresa	Muir	Hamilton	ot	3200	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Edith	de Guzman	Los Angeles	CA	90049	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Connie	Allen	MUKILTEO	WA	98275	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Shahova	Irina	Lviv	ot	79035	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Shahova	Irina	Lviv	ot	79035	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Laurence	Bettan	Qu├-bec	QC	G1w5b8	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Katherine	Cleland	Seattle	WA	98105	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Kathy	Ridler	Bend	OR	97701	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Harriet	Stallings	Cypress	CA	90630	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Gloria	Campbell	Duncanville	TX	75116	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jessica	Shamblen	Emerson	NE	68733	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Cynthia	Graebe	Santa Clara	CA	95053	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Julie	Elli	Westbury	ot	1234	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Stephanie	Cadena	Goleta	CA	93117	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, pawel	robert	paris	AL	75017	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, sandy	hulse	ft smith	AR	72904	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Andrew	White	Newtownabbey	ot	BT36 6QS	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Joseph	Scanlan	Romsey	ot	So51 7sa	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, carol	foster	Tamworth	ot	b792hh	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, julie	gibbs	w/ton	ot	wv140ub	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Firmin	Obscur	Toulon France	ot	83000	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Emilia	Dmitruk	Dublin	ot	D6	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Emilia	Dmitruk	Dublin	ot	D6	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Paula	Kinsey	Cwmbran	ot	No44 4ln	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Mary	Hodgson	Silloth wigton	ot	Ca74dl	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Trudy	Smith	Victoria	AP	3939	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Holly	Simon	Michigan	MI	48105	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, dale	cleary	barrington	ot	cb22 7sh	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Louise	Berry	Tennessee	TN	37804	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Emily	Hancock	Sheffield	ot	s8 8dq	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, teresa	mcqueen	leon	WV	25123	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Julie	Binchet	LONDON	ot	N7 6EJ	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Christel	Elrod	Round Rock	TX	78665	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Cheryl	Scannell	St. Petersburg	FL	33713	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Joanne	Yue	Santa Barbara	CA	93107	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Mary	Hill	Florence	OR	97439	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Debbie	James	Loganville	GA	30052	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Elena	Rotundo	Roma	ot	157	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Janene	Otten	PA	PA	18040	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Caterina	Arena	Bologna	CO	40138	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Luigi	Panico	Capannori	HI	55012	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, ras jamie	de bus	tucson	AZ	85705	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, Eleonora	Rossetti	Ferrara	ot	44124	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, shazia	nayab	Karachi	ot	74900	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Leland	Block	Portland	OR	97212	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Elizabeth	Brogan	Phoenix	AZ	85051	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Giuseppina	Capasso	Napoli	ID	80020	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Hilde	Nagels	Schilde	ot	2970	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
John	Tyler	New canaan	CT	6840	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Carolyn	Bartlett	Livingston	TX	77593	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Barbara	Adkins	Philadelphia	PA	19135	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Tom	Mix	Evansville	IN	47715	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Kari	Brennan	Minneapolis	MN	55408	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, stella	moretti	lomello	IL	27034	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Pamela	Brammer	Chicago	IL	60618	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Michael	Koeppen	Florence	MT	59833	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Oliver	Walton-Harrod	Haslemere	ot	GU273QH	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Barbara	Twilley	Kennesaw	GA	30152	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Giancarlo	Pesenti	Milano	ot	20100	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Sally	Arroyo	La Quinta	CA	92253	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Roselle	Montilla	Toa Payoh	ot	310173	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Robert	Port	CA	CA	90272	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Hem	Dave	Reno	NV	89511	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jack	Jones	Tennessee	TN	37650	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Cornelia	Barath	Coppenbr├╝gge	ot	31863	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, beatriz	martins	lisbon	ot	---	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Elizabeth	Love	Masaryktown	FL	34604	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Joy	Fieldstadt	Middle Village	NY	11379	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Cathy	Necas	Littleton	CO	80120	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
			CA	92118	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Carolyn	Bridges	Boston, Lincs	ot	PE21 9NQ	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Carolyn	Bridges	Boston, Lincs	ot	PE21 9NQ	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Amber	Humohrey	Denver	CO	80202	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Silvia Ana	Saravia	C├| rdoba	ot	5000	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Dennis	Shanley	VT	VT	5464	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Michelle	Tardiff	Rancho Cucamonga	CA	91739	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Carl	Cairns	London	ot	CT93XX	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Christine	Durgo	Richmond	BC	V7E 6E1	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Pam	Dorch	Delray beach	FL	33483	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
SS	TOTENKOPF	Ypsilanti	MI	48198	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
J	Allighan	Oldham	ot	OL43DQ	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, susan	bishop	gosport	ot	po12 4bu	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Ingrid	Helin	Stockholm	ot	11330	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, susan	Dyment	COLLINGWOOD	ON	l9y 2m1	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
John	Noomyenooneam	Stocktonsrings	ME	4981	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
DANIELLE	WIEBERG	Huntersville	NC	28078	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Victoria	Ainsley	Sonora	CA	95370	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Emily	Grogan	Pinnacle	NC	27043	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Frances	Bradley	Knoxville	TN	37920	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
D	brooks	portland	ME	7945	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Chris	du Plessis	Clanwilliam	ot	8135	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Helena	Saunders	Lancashire	MT	BB11 BJ	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Janet	Fortner	NC	NC	28078	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Nora	Patrone	Millburn	NJ	7041	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
DONNA	MONROE	AUSTIN	TX	78759	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
KAREN	Setia	CO	CO	80226	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, jon vidar	krogseth	Fagernes	ot	2960	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, grace	chen	honolulu	HI	96816	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jon	Natvik	Harestua	ot	2743	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Beverly	Daniels	North Providence	RI	911	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Karina	Otero	North Plainfield	NJ	7060	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Half-Earth Project - eowilsonfoundation.org - Respect life! Respect nature! Respect yourself! - - Thanks! - - Sincerely,
Maria	Mas	Palo NEgro	KS	58	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Pamela	Langumas	Reading	PA	19609	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Marissa	Kosh	Stratford	CT	6497	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Lisa	Dadgar	Concord	CA	94522	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Dale	Cochran	Oregon	OR	97128	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, elayn	crossley	None	ot	bd13 3bg	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Leyah	Fredericks	FL	FL	32953	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Kevin	Sentner	Maitland	FL	32751	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Arthur	Amolsch	Basye	VA	22810	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Marcella	Grilli	Genova	IN	16144	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Angela	Ventrca	Euless	TX	76040	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Angela	Ventrca	Euless	TX	76040	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jessikah	Moutray	Cheyenne	WY	82001	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Michela	Rosselli	LI	CA	57025	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Gretchen	Persbacker	Delmar	NY	12054	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Carla	Smith	CA	CA	95119	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Keth	Luke	New Port Richey	FL	34652	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
stephen	goldsack	None	ot	g66 5eb	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, Biggi	Steurer	Innsbruck	ot	6020	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Travis	Bolinger	Richmond	KY	40475	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Claudia	Baldo	Quart	ot	11020	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Vicki	Larsen	├älghult	ot	36076	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Julia	Jones	East Hampton	CT	6424	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Carole	Bard	Marquette	MI	49855	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Joan	Helms	Somonauk	IL	60552	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Elisa	Tyler	Austin	TX	78746	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Janice	Wyndham-Quin	Sandton	ot	2196	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Linda	Langmacher	Carnegie	OK	73015	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Candy	Pethybridge	Las Vegas	NV	89121	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Sean	bangert	Minnesota	MN	55121	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
David	Randall	Port Jefferson	NY	11777	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been recklessly and irresponsibly on the rise, and the decline as a result. Allowing the surrounding states to manage these bears and permit senseless, useless trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in pl bears in other areas. Instead, those that wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed o reconsider this delisting proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Dave	Holt	Idaho	ID	83703	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Hw zuman-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population the surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with be outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Lori	Rumpf	Lansing	MI	48910	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Mortality of grizzly bears sue directly to human cause has been on the rise and Yellowstone's pop Allowing surrounding states to manage these bears and allow trophy hunting will further reduce this population. This population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other areas. Ins boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this delisting endangered species list--where they belong. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Christina	McVie	Tucson	AZ	85742	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. My father worked in Yellowstone during the depression for the CCC. Our family has visited Yellow significant wildfires and the successful reintroduction of wolves, which dramatically improved habitat conditions in the Park. - - Now, human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the decline as a result. Aft bison, you should be aware that allowing the surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to in other areas let alone any migration movement corridors for wildlife in general. Instead, those that wander outside an arbitrary boundary of what is arguably the last repository of a relatively intact, functional ecosystem are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this delisting proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Gigi	Taylor	Tucson	AZ	85743	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Support for the grizzly bears is critically needed now! - - Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears population has been on the decline as a result. Allowing the surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulat connect with bears in other areas. Instead, those that wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will b removed. Please reconsider this delisting proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Boni	Biery	Shoreline	WA	98133	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has bee this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other areas. Therefore, allowing the surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will only add more an Meaning that any bears which wanders outside an arbitrary, man-made boundary are likely to be killed. This will further decrease the number of grizzlies, but impact the diversity of a healthy, grizzly gene-pool. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature be place that would provide appropriate management to maintain this population, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this delisting proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered s
Dale	Benest	St. Helier, Jersey	ot	JE2 3JD	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population The U.S.A. has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Daniel	Murphy	Toronto	ON	M4S 2K8	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population the United States has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone populati Allowing the surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connec that wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Naomi	Korner	Edmonton	AB	T5G 0H7	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population the USA has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has be surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears are not in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please rec Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Mike	Wheeler	Derby	ot	DE1 3AZ	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population your country has invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has bee surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Anita	Romaniuk	British Columbia	BC	V5Z2B9	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population your country has invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has bee surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. There should be a corridor that provides them with the ability to roam and breed all the way up to Canada where I live. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this delisting proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. That is what national parks are for, and why many of us visit them (on both sides of the border). - -
Vladimir	Sokolov	Minnesota	MN	55906	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem (GYE) -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone populat Allowing the surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connec that wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. Please pay attention to the majority of people that enjoy and want to protect the bears of the GYE and not just to the wealthy, and influential trophy hunters. - - Asking for comments on this proposal i bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this delisting proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. Thank you. - - Sincerely, - - Vladimir Sokolov -
Keith	Fialcowitz	Cowan Heights	CA	92705	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem --Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the decline as a result. Allowing the surrounding trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other areas. Instead, those that wander outside an a Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this delisting proposal and keep Yellowstone bea Sincerely, - - Keith Fialcowitz - Cowan Heights, CA
Brian M.	Scott	Cleveland Heights	OH	44118	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem, a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. Exacerbating the situation is the fact that this population also remains severely isolated, and current lack of appropriate regulation by the states involv outside an arbitrary boundary will be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. That said, current ir and suggest that the proposal is a very bad idea. - - Please reconsider this delisting proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, Dini	DiNatale	Westerville	OH	43082	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem. - - Allowing the surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. - - This population also have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other areas. Instead, those that wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Please reconsider this delisting proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species l roni	ginsberg	NY	NY	12180	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be m removed. Please reconsider this delisting proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Robert	Andrews	Connecticut	CT	6365	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem. - - Please reconsider this delisting proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Janet	Cavallo	PA	PA	19018	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem. - - Removing federal protections for Yellowstone grizzly bears is dangerously premature -- these bears must be allowed to roam without being hunted and sh has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the decline as a result. Allowing the surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. - - This population also remains severely isolate to protect bears that could connect with bears in other areas. Instead, those that wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this de-listing proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jennifer	Stoughton	Castalian Springs	TN	37031	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem. Please reconsider this delisting proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Charlotte	Heldstab	Whitefish	MT	59937	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem. There is no good reason for the bears to lose their protection and be hunted. People of the West should be proud to have such iconic creatures roaming the don't even like grizzlies to make decisions about their future ? - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Antonia	Zima	Embudo	NM	87531	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem. Allowing the surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this populati do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other areas. Instead, those that wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears are how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this delisting proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Phebe	Watson	Asheville	NC	28804	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem. As I am sure you know there have been ongoing efforts since 1975 to protect this population. Recently, however, it has been in decline due to a rise in humar Allowing surrounding states to manage these bears and to permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this animal group. In addition, this population remains severely isolated from other grizzly groups and states do not have regulations in place to protect be in search of food, territory and/or mates. These animals are likely to be killed. - It is my understanding, from a PBS special I recently watched, that efforts are underway to develop methods for facilitating the healthy maintenance of isolated wildlife populations -- such "corridors" through which they can connect with one another. I urge you to avoid delisting these bears to allow time for wildlife protection groups to determine how the grizzlies may be successfully managed -- so that their groups will be healthy and robust once feder belief -- a belief that is supported by scientific evidence -- that every species has a unique purpose in maintaining a well-balanced ecosystem. It is only after we humans have facilitated the extinction of certain animals that we have learned what that purpose was. By th Please reconsider this delisting proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Pamela	Bickett	Largo	FL	33770	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the decline as a result. - Allowing the surrounding trophy hunting will only add significant pressure to this population. - - It just so happens that Yellowstone is featured in the May 2016 issue of National Geographic and it saddens me to think that these bears might not exist there someday. And "someday" could come - Please reconsider this delisting proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Karen	Barrett	New York	NY	10037	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the decline as a result. Allowing surrounding state hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other areas and prevent inbreeding. Instead, those that wander killed. - - It is premature to ask for comments on this proposal is premature as long as state regulations for bears are not in place: There is no way to know how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. I urge you to reconsider this delisting proposa endangered species list. - - Thank you for thoughtful consideration,
Lisa	Schroeder	Windsor Mill	MD	21244	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the decline as a result. As you know, this populati do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other areas. Instead, those that wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. Allowing the surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add sig Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this delisting proposal and keep Yellowstone bea Sincerely,
Debra	Doering	Ukiah	CA	95482	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem. Hunting of grizzly bears has been increasing, and the Yellowstone population has been on the decline as a result. Allowing the surrounding states to manage add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other areas. Instead, those that wander outside an arbitrary boundary a recognize human-imposed, arbitrary boundaries. However, removing protection makes things even worse for this important species, which is an important part of the natural food chain and which has enough obstacles to survive without the added blood lust of selfish this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this delisting proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered spe
James	Teas	Miami	FL	33157	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem. The Yellowstone population has been on the decline. Surrounding states should not manage these bears if it means permitting trophy hunting.This populatio not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other areas. Instead, those that wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this delisting proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Obiora	Embry	Lexington	KY	40505	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem--a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Thank you for your time. - - Sincerely,
Renee	DeVito	Verona	PA	15147	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem--a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Thank you for your time. - - Sincerely,
Jeri	Harju	Lake Villa	IL	60046	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone mEcosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population h the surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with be outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Linda	Spencer	Austin	TX	78748	I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstonine Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population h the surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with be outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Anne	Haas	Ann Arbor	MI	48103	I am writing to urge you to please maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone popula Allowing the surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connec that wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Patricia	McGavran	Colorado	CO	80207	I am writing to urge you to PLEASE maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone popul Allowing the surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connec that wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
June	Jarka	Auckland	ot	1060	I am writing to urge you to support the position of the Center for Biological Diversity regarding maintaining federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975.There is accumulating evid bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the decline as a result. It is unconscionable to allow the surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting, adding significant pressure to this population. As you know, this popu not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other areas. Instead, those that wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this delisting proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
					I am writing to urge youh to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population h the surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with be outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Peter	Aron	New Milford	CT	6776	I am writing to very strongly urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone p Allowing the surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connec that wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. Islands of safety are not good enough to protect grizzly bears. There need to be corridors of protection so genetic diversity can happen. You are moving backwards not forwards if you delist the bears without cor to the bears as has happened to the wolves - they will be killed. Please do not delist the grizzly bears. - - Sincerely,
Peter	Aron	New Milford	CT	6776	I am writing to very strongly urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone p Allowing the surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connec that wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. To save the bears for years, then delist them to be killed is outrageous. Please do not let this happen. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in p bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this delisting proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. Please establish wildlife corridors for protection for these very vulnerable animals! - - Sincerely,
Cynthia	Stevens	Ithaca	NY	14850	I am writing to you as citizen and ecologist asking you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and t decline as a result. Allowing the surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. A healthy population depends on different sub populations being able to breed with each other. As you know, this pop states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other areas. Instead, those that wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for be determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this delisting proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Lisa	Koehl	FL	FL	32174	I am writing with respect and sincerity to urge you to please maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, a the decline as a result. Allowing the surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect b areas. Instead, those that wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal pro delisting proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Robin	Tierney	CT	CT	6405	I am writing, both as a frequent visitor to Yellowstone and as a science educator. I want to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused morta the Yellowstone population has been on the decline as a result. Allowing the surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do that could connect with bears in other areas. Instead, those that wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how b protections are removed. Please reconsider this delisting proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Grace	Holden	VA	VA	22207	I ask you to please maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been o states manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add SIGNIFICANT pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other area arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, thus it is impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please RECONSIDER bears on the endangered species list. Thank you for considering my thoughts on this matter that is very important to me and so many others who treasure this country's diverse wildlife, especially its top predators who are so important to healthy ecosystems. - - Sincer
Angela	Brooke-Ward	Worthing	ot	BN14 0BE	I beg you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the c states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other area arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, - - Angela Brooke-Ward
Marcy	Meachum	Daniel Island	SC	29492	I do not understand the assault my country's federal agencies have taken on the very species they are charged to protect. Please help me understand your about face over the past ten years or so. - Who is pressuring you to do this? - Your decisions to weaken protecti predicated on science. - So why? Who has that much power to force you to undo your agency's decades of protection for species on the tagged edge of survival? - I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecos invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the decline as a result. Allowing the surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other areas. Instead, those that wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is prematu in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this delisting proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
George	Keefe	Edmonds	WA	98020	I had had the thrill of seeing numerous large bears and I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears h population has been on the decline as a result. Allowing the surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulat connect with bears in other areas. Instead, those that wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will b removed. Please reconsider this delisting proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Lorenzo	Cano	el paso	TX	79925	I have never heard of as many people intent on killing so many of our animal species, until recently. Perhaps the availability of rapid firing weapons has encouraged hunters and thus endanger our precious wildlife, driving more closer to extinction. So I am writing to ur grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the decline as a result. Allowing the surrounding trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other areas. Instead, those that wander outside an a Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this delisting proposal and keep Yellowstone bea Sincerely,
Melissa	McAdams	Knoxville	TN	37919	I have visited Yellowstone and glimpsed these amazing and rare creatures. I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortal the Yellowstone population has been on the decline as a result. Allowing the surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do that could connect with bears in other areas. Instead, those that wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how b protections are removed. Please reconsider this delisting proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, Melissa
Joyce	Harrington	south bend	IN	46615	I have visited Yellowstone National Park several times and have seen its majestic grizzly bears in person. Remembering those times drives me to suggest to you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem. It is a population that it is a population that Yellowstone visitors wish to see - albeit in the distance, of course. - - I understand that human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise recently, and that the Yellowstone grizzly population has been on the decline as a result. Howeve these bears, as well as permit trophy hunting of them, will only add more significant pressure to the grizzly population. As you know, being in an "island" national park, that grizzly population remains severely isolated. And, furthermore, states do not have regulations with bears in other areas. Thus, unfortunately, grizzlies that wander outside their arbitrary protected boundary are likely to be killed. - - Because state regulations for bears are not in place, asking for comments on this proposal is definitely pre-mature. Obviously and makes it impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. - - Please re-consider the de-listing proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Joanna	Rogers	aurora	CO	80015	I JOANNA Rogers, am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowsto result. Allowing the surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could those that wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are re proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Ann	Ford	ID	ID	83703	I love Yellowstone more when Grizzlies are there! - - I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has population has been on the decline as a result. Allowing the surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulat connect with bears in other areas. Instead, those that wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will b removed. Please reconsider this delisting proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
gary	lopez-watts	tx	TX	77035	i most definitely aim to protect the grizzly population as well as support their peace with all surrounding life. - - - I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been investe grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the decline as a result. Allowing the surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also r have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other areas. Instead, those that wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in p bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this delisting proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Cheryl	Costigan	Spirit Lake	ID	83869	I perviously commented at length on this proposal through the Greater Yellowstone Coalition but am not sure if those comments were directed to you or other entities. In a nutshell, I absolutely support federal protection for grizzly bears (in the Greater Yellowstone Ec upon us and there are so many pressures on bears and other species. Harvard biologist Dr. E.O. Wilson recently wrote a book ("Half-Earth") stating humankind must fully protect (preserve, set aside, leave alone) half of our planet if we are to preserve critical biodiversit did not specifically address the Yellowstone ecosystem and the creatures within it, I believe places like Yellowstone should be included in such set-asides - and the bears and other creatures in them protected. - - I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection f Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the decline as a result. Allowing the surrounding states to manage these bears and permi to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other areas. Instead, those that wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this delisting proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Tha Sincerely,
Sarah	Lilley	Brooklyn	NY	11222	I plead with you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been c surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
S	Batchelor	Bryan	TX	77802	I strongly urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. - - Unfortunately, human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone p Allowing the surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connec that wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Catherine	Williams	Tucson	AZ	85719	I strongly urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has bee surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it is impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Paulette	Zimmerman	St. Louis	MO	63139	I strongly urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has bee surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jean	Lindgren	San Francisco	CA	94103	I strongly urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has bee surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. It's time to Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Dianne	Ensign	Portland	OR	97219	I strongly urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has bee surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Nicole	Weber	Pasadena	MD	21122	I strongly urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has bee surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Nicole	Weber	Pasadena	MD	21122	I strongly urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has bee surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Marjorie	Rogalski	Hanover	NH	3755	I strongly urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has bee surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. This population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other areas arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this on the endangered species list. - - Regards,,
Lola	Brett	Clearwater	FL	33756	I strongly urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has bee surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jerry	Sivets	MN	MN	55604	I strongly urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has bee surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. I expect you keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Tusi	Ritachild	Florence	MA	1062	I strongly urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has bee surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Paul	Brown	Pittsburgh	PA	15238	I strongly urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has bee surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary have been killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsic Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Corey E.	Olsen	Delafield	WI	53018	I strongly urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population the country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has bee surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting adds significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in c outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. - - I urge yo keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Peggy	La Point	Fort Collins	CO	80526	I strongly urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the decline as a result. Allowing the surrounding states hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other areas. Instead, those that wander outside an arbitrar comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this delisting proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the e
Dolores C.	Pino, B.A., J.D.	Morton Grove	IL	60053	I strongly urge ypu to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has bee surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Natalie	Summers	Ammon	ID	83406	I support wildlife. I support public land access. It is time to allow the hunting and control of Grizzlies again. I live in the area. I spend my summers in Yellowstone and in the Tetons. Grizzlies are no longer endangered. They are now becoming a danger to human beings. - them to near extinction again. Responsible and ethical practices should be maintained. All these people calling for "protecting" grizzly bears simply do not know what they are talking about. I live here. I love animals and wild life. It is time to remove grizzlys from the enc audrey	ross	tucson	AZ	85712	I swear to god, does this have to happen for every animal with fur on it? will we need to protect moles and shrews when the big furry ones are gone. a petition to save earth worms once the soil is dead and there are no more mammals, save us, to worry about?
Gregory	Ptucha	Sacramento	CA	95822	I urge continued federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the declir to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other areas. Inste boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this delisting endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Tracy	McAlpine	FL	FL	33578	I urge maintaining federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the dec states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. This population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other areas. Instead, the are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this delisting proposal a species list. - - Sincerely,
Mendi	Menefee	Oregon	OR	97217	I urge you to keep federal protections for grizzly bears in Yellowstone. Anyone who thinks that our grizzly bears are ready to be delisted and don't need our protection anymore has a grave misunderstanding of their situation. Their food sources are presently in collapse them to be killed for fun by hunters will likely decimate their failing population. It's already bad enough that they have no protection outside Yellowstone, as they are desperately leaving that area to try to find food. - - Since there are no current state regulations, there bears once they are no listed federally. Judging by recent wildlife decisions in states across the nation, the regulations will be weak and the bears will suffer greatly. Please reconsider this delisting proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - -
Ann Marie	Connor	Roseville	MN	55126	I urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population in which our country has been invested since 1975. - - Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has be surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. - - As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with be outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. You MUST I Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Susan	Bramstedt	Anchorage	AK	99508	I urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been deeply invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated, and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please keep species list. - - Sincerely,
Douglas	Morse	New York	NY	10012	I urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. - - Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add pressure to this population. This population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other areas. Instead, those that wa to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. - - Please reconsider this delisting proposal and ke species list. - - Sincerely,
Kathleen	Doyle	Golden	CO	80403	I urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. - - Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Debra	Wolf	Lansing	MI	48911	I urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. - - Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. - - As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bea outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Soliciting comments on this proposal strikes me as premature since state regulations for bears aren't in place yet; it is therefore impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are rer proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Thank you for the opportunity to comment. - - Sincerely,
Eileen	Thompson	Springfield	VA	22153	I urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. - - Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears is on the rise, and as a result the Yellowstone population has been states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. This population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations to protect bears that could connect with bears in other areas. Instead, those that likely to be killed. - - Please do not prematurely remove protections for grizzlies! - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protectic delisting proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Renee	Caputo	west chicago	IL	60185	I urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. - - Yellowstone's grizzly bears -- a population that's grown, since it was first protected in 1975, but is recently i stripping protection now is hardly fiscally or scientifically responsible! - - Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the decline as a result. Allowing the surrounding states to manage these bears and perr pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other areas. Instead, those that wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be k proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this delisting proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species
Charles Grant	Walker	Teaticket	MA	2536	I urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. - - Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on t surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
David	Hardee	Camden	SC	29020	I urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. - - Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on t surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in ot an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider tl bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Priscilla	Mattison	Bryn Mawr	PA	19010	I urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other area arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it is impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Priscilla	Mattison	Bryn Mawr	PA	19010	I urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated, and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other are arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Phil	Hanson	Milwaukie	OR	97222	I urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other area arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Art	Hanson	Lansing	MI	48917	I urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other area arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears are not in place, so it is impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. I urge you to reconsi Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jennifer	Nitz	Missoula	MT	59802	I urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. This population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other areas. Those that likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place. It is impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Reconsider this delisting proposal and keep Yell - Sincerely,
Terri	Greene	Bloomington	IN	47403	I urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other area arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Tracy	McAlpine	FL	FL	33578	I urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. This population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other areas. Instead, the are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this delisting proposal a species list. - - Sincerely,
JK	Kibler	Ghent	NY	12075	I urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other area arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
JK	Kibler	Ghent	NY	12075	I urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other area arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Vinnedge	Lawrence	West Baldwin	ME	4091	I urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other area arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Timothy	Schacht	Grosse Pointe Park	MI	48230	I urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other area arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Rebecca	Backman	Andover	MA	1810	I urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other area arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Reed	Oliver	CINCINNATI	OH	45243	I urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other area arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Lynn	Artz	Florida	FL	32326	I urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other area arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Joy	Gohl	White Salmon	WA	98672	I urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other area arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Betsy	Datri	Eugene	OR	97403	I urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other area arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Tiffany	Grant	Houston	TX	77077	I urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other area arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, katharine	odell	Madison	WI	53711	I urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other area arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Natalie	Hanson	Lansing	MI	48917	I urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other area arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears are not in place, so it is impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. I urge you to reconsi Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Alyce	Rieck	Cincinnati	OH	45230	I urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other area arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Bruce	Hlodnicki	INDIANAPOLIS	IN	46226	I urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other area arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Dehra	Iverson	Costa Mesa	CA	92627	I urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other area arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jim	Carley	Keene	NH	3431	I urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other area arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Sherry	Halbrook	Ballston Spa	NY	12020	I urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other area arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Ann	Sessoms	Newcastle upon Tyne	ot	NE27 0GE	I urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other area arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Richard	Booth	Michigan	MI	48138	I urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other area arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this on the endangered species list. - - Thank you. - - Sincerely,
Martin	Osborne	Coconut Creek	FL	33066	I urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other area arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Randy	McFarland	Glen Allen	VA	23059	I urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other area arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jenna	Milner	Trumansburg	NY	14886	I urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other area arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this on the endangered species list. - - Thank you for considering my views. I hope you will protect these bears! - - Sincerely,
D	Stirpe	Portland	OR	97214	I urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other area arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
John	Kesich	Venice	FL	34293	I urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other area arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
David	Davison	Rochester	ot	ME3 8LF	I urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population the US has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the decli to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other areas. Inste boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears are not in place, so it is impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this delistin endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Donald	Robinson	Chester Springs	PA	19425	I urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem and thus protect an ecological investment that this country has made since 1975. - - There are several sound, scientific reasons for this request: - * Human-caused mortali Yellowstone grizzly population has been on the decline as a direct result of the above, - * Surrounding states can't manage these bears for sustainability; instead they will initiate permit trophy hunting that will add significant pressure to this population. - * Last but not place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. - - As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other a arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. Consequently, the Yellowstone grizzlies are a genetic island that need substantial numbers for viability given that large land ownership issues separate them from connection to the 'Yukon to Yellowstone' habitat initiative. - - Pl keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. Instead, efforts should be made to connect this Yellowstone grizzly population to others in the 'Yukon to Yellowstone' corridor. - - Sincerely,
Kathleen	Doyle	Golden	CO	80403	I urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem, a population that our country has been invested in since 1975. - - Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. - - Please r Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Deidre	Moderacki	New York	NY	10009	I urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem. - - All requests impacting our wildlife must now include how global warming will be changing the area. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because stat impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this delisting proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Eddie	Konczal	Monroe Township	NJ	8831	I urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem. - - Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the decline as a result. Allowing the surrounding states to ma will add significant pressure to this population. - - This population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other areas. Instead, those that wander outside an arbitrary boundary are like delisting proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Thank you for considering my comments. - - Regards,
Katherine	Delanoy	Eagle	CO	81631	I urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem. Allowing the surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. States do not have regulations in place to in other areas. As you know, those that wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Since state regulations for bears aren't in place, asking for comments on this proposal is really premature, It is impossible to determine how bears will be managed o macho, trophy-hungry members of Wyoming, Montana, and Idaho are just itching for you to make these bears available to them. - - Please reconsider this proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Annie	Malone	long Beach	CA	90807	I urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem. The Yellowstone population has been on the decline and allowing surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other areas. Those that wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to de federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this delisting proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Ed	Parks	Lawton	OK	73505	I urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem. This is a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been o surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. If we kill them all off, they won't come back. - - Respectfully,
John	Dillon	g	MT	59401	I urge you to maintain legitimate protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, including the cause of climate change, and the Yello a result. Allowing the surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that coul those that wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are re proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Catherine	Williams	Tucson	AZ	85719	I urge you to please maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Christine	Sanborn	Camarillo	CA	93010	I want to register my opposition to the proposal to remove the grizzly bears of the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem from the Endangered Species list. There is absolutely no chance the states of Idaho, Montana and Wyoming can be trusted to properly manage these icc disastrous plans for gray wolves for just a hint of what's to come -- and the federal government should not abdicate its responsibility to protect them for those of us living today and the generations to come. - - Grizzlies need more of our help to survive and thrive in thi affecting everything on the planet -- this is very bad timing, indeed. Save the bears! - - Sincerely, - Christine Sanborn - Camarillo, CA (former Wyoming resident)
Louise	Quigley	Braintree	MA	2184	I want to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has bee surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Susan I.	Hunt	Mill Spring	NC	28756	I want you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. - - Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. - - This particular group of bears remains severely isolated. States do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in ot an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider tl bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
David Russell	Myers	Grand Cayman	ot	KY1-1009	I well remember the joy and excitement of seeing my first real, live grizzly when I first went to Yellowstone and so I'm now begging you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested i grizzly bears has been on the rise, and hence the Yellowstone population has been on the decline. Allowing the surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also rema regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other areas. Instead, those that wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. We must not allow thus to happen! - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state r impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please, PLEASE reconsider this delisting proposal and keep these iconic Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Mike	McCool	Millbury	MA	1527	I wish to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has beer surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Mary	Mendez	Albuquerque	NM	87108	I work for a government agency; and if Secretary Moniz managed our offices like USFWS; we'd be shut down in a NY minute!! But this rogue agency, an agency that is supposed to protect OUR wildlife, continues to let them be killed. As a government employee, I don't country for the sake of extra cash. The USFWS and its "leaders" (what a joke), have yet to protect any creature, except themselves. The corruption in this agency is appalling. Yes, the hunters and ranchers do pay better, but you are all a bunch of yellow belly cowards th are all so pathetic, it's not even funny. The Man upstairs is watching, and your time to pay will come for all of you. I pray He will have not mercy. - - I urge you to do your jobs and maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a po since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the decline as a result. Allowing the surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this populat remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other areas. Instead, those that wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature b place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this delisting proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
David	Harrison	Salem	OR	97302	I worked in Yellowstone in college and have a special attachment to that very special place. I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been increasing, and been decreasing. Allowing the surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population.This population is very isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that wander outside arbitrar killed. - - It is premature to request comments on this proposal because state regulations for bears are not in place, so it is impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this delisting proposal and keep Ye list. - - Sincerely,
Irena	Marshall	Upper Saddle River	NJ	7458	I would like to ask you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jeanne	Barnes	AL	AL	35235	I write to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has bee surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Kevin	Crupi	Michigan	MI	49866	I' writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has b surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. Thank you. - - Sincerely yours,
MB	Honaker	Tucson	AZ	85738	IF you remove the legal protectionsΓÇª we all know this would inevitably be an open door invitation for idiotic cowardly morons with guns to murder grizzly bears, and lots of them ! Sport hunting is NOT exactly a fair advantage. - - I am writing to urge you to maintain Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the decline as a result. Allowing the surrounding states to manage t significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other areas. Instead, those that wander outside an arbitrary boundary are li this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this delisting proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered sp
Jean E.	Barker	Kennett Square	PA	19348	I'm a lover of animals so I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Ye as a result. Allowing the surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that c Instead, those that wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protectio delisting proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Beulah	White	Ohio	OH	45044	I'm calling on you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. - - Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has b surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, wandis	wilcox	aptos	CA	95003	I'm urging you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, Wandis Wilcox
Kevin	Crupi	Michigan	MI	49866	I'm writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Natalie	Houghton	Prescott	AZ	86305	I'm writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem, a population our country has invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been d states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated, nor do states have regulations to protect bears that could connect with bears in other areas. Instead, tl boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature: state regulations for bears are not in place, making it impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this de-listing pro endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Thomas	Berg	Va	VA	20170	I'm writing to you today in order to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. - - Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Ye as a result. Allowing the surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that c Instead, those that wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protectio listing proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Amber	Erkiletian	White River Junction	VT	5001	Imagine an America where the only bears left are dead skins. I appreciate hunting, and see the value and need for people to hunt. But trophy hunting of our most important predators is devastating to all areas of our lands. I am writing to urge you to maintain federal p Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the decline as a result. Allowing the surrounding states to manage these bea significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other areas. Instead, those that wander outside an arbitrary boundary are li this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this delisting proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered sp
Janet	Bird	WA	WA	98075	In honor of the 100 year birthday of the national parks, I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears h population has been on the decline as a result. Allowing the surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulat connect with bears in other areas. Instead, those that wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will b removed. Please reconsider this delisting proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. Do this in honor of the 100th birthday of the national parks. - - Sincerely,
John	Nichols	East Orleans	MA	2643	In the interest of bears, please, you mustvmaintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone result. Allowing the surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could those that wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are re proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Carrie	Cook	Parker	CO	80134	Is this because of ranchers? Who have done nothing but sicken American bodies, pollute our environment, and systematically destroy most native species? Because of hunters? Who consider shooting other species for their own enjoyment a sport? I am writing to ur grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the decline as a result. Allowing the surrounding trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other areas. Instead, those that wander outside an a Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this delisting proposal and keep Yellowstone bea Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Cindy	OFerrell	Dale City	VA	22193	It is a fact stated by the FBI that one of the top characteristics of a serial killer is one who takes pleasure from killing defenseless living beings How disgusting that hypocrites allow this cowardly behavior to be legal under disguises so easy to see. Freedom and Equality fo spirits in. Hero's protect the defenseless from cowards who prey upon them. I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mor the Yellowstone population has been on the decline as a result. Allowing the surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do that could connect with bears in other areas. Instead, those that wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how l protections are removed. Please reconsider this delisting proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Ann	Taylor	Springtown	TX	76082	It is difficult to imagine that protection of these majestic Animals is even in question. - - So,I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Huma on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the decline as a result. Allowing the surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolate to protect bears that could connect with bears in other areas. Instead, those that wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this delisting proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Ro	LoBianco	Benicia	CA	94510	It is imperative that you maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has b surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Lisa	Stevens	FL	FL	32303	It seems our FWS, aka Fanatical Wildlife Slaughterers, just cannot resist putting our wildlife to the edge of extinction so hunters can have fun with their military weapons. There are other ways of addressing the conflicts between bear habits and human habits, yet the F minded approaches like shooting and poisoning. So it is very hard to believe the FWS statistics of the need to bring the population down by removing protections. You cater to small but belligerent sectors of the population, namely hunters and ranchers. It is your job to demands. - - I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone result. Allowing the surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could those that wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are re proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Kevin	Drees	Madbury	NH	3823	It seems strange to remove the protection from an species that is extirpated from most of it's historic range. Hunters are itching to blow these animals away once you remove their protection. GYE is a refuge for bears and other species in the area, but they range far. R for grizzly bears in the lower 48 states. Please don't turn your back on this important member of the Yellowstone ecosystem. - -  - - I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our co caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the decline as a result. Allowing the surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, th and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other areas. Instead, those that wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations fo determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this delisting proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Danny	Sal Da Na	Moriarty	NM	87035	It's essential that protection remain on the grizzly bear. In my life time I have seen and read more about extinction and loss of wild life than ever did my grandparents life time. This must stop! - - I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the decline as a result. Allowing the surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy huntir population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other areas. Instead, those that wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this delisting proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Kevin	Warren	Cora	WY	82925	Just disgusting this idea. When will wildlife get a break? You are charged with protecting species or did you forget. Yes bears cause trouble and some need to be taken out but hunting them is not the way. Problem bears need to be taken out by professionals. Just imagi gates of Yellowstone. Maybe less cattle on public lands is the way to go. Why do ranchers get to decide what animals the rest of us can enjoy on our public lands. - - I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Eco invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the decline as a result. Allowing the surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other areas. Instead, those that wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is prematu in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this delisting proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
James	Mittl	Black Hawk	CO	80422	Leave them be!! - - I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellow result. Allowing the surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could those that wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are re proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Scott	Granlund	Seattle	WA	98118	Less is not more. Diversity is best. - - - I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the r on the decline as a result. Allowing the surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to prote other areas. Instead, those that wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once fede reconsider this delisting proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Michael	Ripberger	Los Lunas	NM	87031	Ma'am/Sir, I am writing to very emphatically urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and t decline as a result. Allowing the surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bear areas. Instead, those that wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal pro delisting proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. Thank you very much. - - Sincerely,
Ellen E	Wilson	Canterbury	CT	6331	Maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the decline as a r manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other areas. Instead boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this delisting endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
John	Nichols	East Orleans	MA	2643	Maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem because they are not fully recovered, state regulations regarding bears are not in place and states cannot be depended on to allow the bears to recover. Since 1975 the bears have beer grizzly bears has been on the rise, causing the Yellowstone population to decline. Allowing the surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. - - As you know, this population also remains severely i place to protect bears. that could connect with bears in other areas. Instead, those that wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's imposs once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this delisting proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, John Nichols
Jacqueline	Carter	Carrollto	TX	75007	Maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem, a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise and the Yellowstone population has been on the decline as a res manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. - - This population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other areas. Those that wand be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Reconsider this delisting proposal and keep Yellowstor

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
R	Maca	Austin	TX	78731	My family and I urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population ha the surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with be outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, brigitte and John	wallace	Gulfport	FL	33711	My husband and I are writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowsto result. trophy hunting which is the only reason to kill a grizzly is barbaric and unworthy of a civilized nation Your agency needs to be more concerned with animal welfare instead of the interest of the NRA and the ranchers..Allowing the surrounding states to manage th significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other areas. Instead, those that wander outside an arbitrary boundary are li this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this delisting proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered sp
Celia	Carroll	Santa Monica	CA	90405	My husband and I visit Yellowstone National Park during most years. Seeing grizzly bears in the sweeping valleys of the park is a unique thrill, a precious legacy for all Americans. - - I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Y country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the decline as a result. Allowing the surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add signif know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other areas. Instead, those that wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on th regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this delisting proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Ellen	Edelman	Buffalo Grove	IL	60089	My name is Ellen Edelman and I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and decline as a result. Allowing the surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bear areas. Instead, those that wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal pro delisting proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Katherine	Foster	Princeton	NJ	8540	My name is Katherine Foster, and I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone EcosystemΓÇöa population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, the decline as a result. Allowing the surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will make additional dents in this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated, and states do not have regulations in place that could those who wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are re proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Thank you for your time, and I hope you'll give this issue serious consideration. - - Sincerely,
Ken and Jan	Livingston	Mukilteo	WA	98275	My wife and I are writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone p Allowing the surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connec that wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Thank you. - - - - - Sincerely,
Jane	Krebs	New York	NY	12184	National Parks and their unique animals are a treasure for every American. The Parks are a place where animals squeezed by encroaching land development and people can live in something close to their natural state. For some Parks are the only place they can live. I h bison up close and personal, but I want to know they're out there. To the extent granting grazing rights (at ridiculous prices) to lands adjacent to the parks increase pressure to control the animals, I suggest the rights be adjusted. The parks may be within States, but th control over them and the other Federal land should not be overseen by the individual State. - - I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. H been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the decline as a result. Allowing the surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely i place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other areas. Instead, those that wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossi once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this delisting proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Susan	Christensen	Cortland	IL	60112	Oh, Gee, the grizzlies have made a come back! Time to start killing them off! - - I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused m and the Yellowstone population has been on the decline as a result. Allowing the surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and state bears that could connect with bears in other areas. Instead, those that wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine protections are removed. Please reconsider this delisting proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
D.	Provance	Apex	NC	27539	One of my favorite personal stories is seeing seven (!) grizzly bears one May day. A mama and her baby cub ran past our car. We later saw a mama with 3 cubs playing in a clearing, and lastly saw a male juvenile. That same day we saw moose, bison, elk, sheep, and ot national park. I - - I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellows result. Allowing the surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could those that wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are re proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Barbara	Ocskai	Snohomish	WA	98290	Our Brothers and Sister of All Nations deserve to live. We need to be nice and share this earth. Protect All Our Relations - - I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has be mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the decline as a result. Allowing the surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this popu states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other areas. Instead, those that wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for be determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this delisting proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
RE	Penney	Laguna Beach	CA	92651	Our family travels thousands of miles to spend thousands of dollars to view these magnificent creatures. Now we have to worry about being shot by hunters? Review the hunting accident statistics and you will understand in a second about what I speak!! - - Thus,I am protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the decline as a result. Allowing th and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other areas. Instead, those that wander killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this delisting proposal and keep Yellow Sincerely,
Mary	Cross	Covington	WA	98042	Our Yellowstone grizzlies need continued protection and protected land bridges that will allow grizzlies to roam to and from other protected wilderness areas; thereby providing the genetic diversity needed to ensure a healthy population. - - PLEASE continue to provi And From Adjacent Protected Wilderness Areas! - - I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has population has been on the decline as a result. Allowing the surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulat connect with bears in other areas. Instead, those that wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will b removed. Please reconsider this delisting proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
ELEANOR	SIMS	Illinois	IL	60941	Perhaps more thinking on this decision needs to be addressed ... I am always appalled to learn of trophy hunts that seem to develop overnight when any of our wilderness animals are taken off federal protection ... I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protectio Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the decline as a result. Allowing the surrounding states to manage these bears and permi to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other areas. Instead, those that wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this delisting proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sin

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Clara	Halfin	Parsons	WV	26287	PERSONAL NOTE: - PLEASE!!!!! Protect our Grizzly Bears from any and all human threats to their very survival...our wilderness and iconic wildlife is under assault from every quarter...and we must not remove FEDERAL ENDANGERED SPECIES PROTECTION!!!!! - - I am v protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the decline as a result. Allowing th and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other areas. Instead, those that wander killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this delisting proposal and keep Yellow Sincerely,
Dorothy	Dahm	Castleton	VT	5735	Please continue the current levels of federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem. These bears, which the US has been protecting since 1975, require our help more than ever. More bears are dying as a result of their interactions with huma been declining as a result. - - Turning grizzly bear management over to the states surrounding the park will further compromise the species' already vulnerable position. The Yellowstone population is isolated. Therefore, if surrounding states permit trophy hunting, mo the park's parameters. - - Furthermore, state regulations for bears do not exist. Therefore, no one can predict how grizzly bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please keep Yellowstone grizzlies on the endangered species list. - - Thank you. -
Roz	Schneider	San Anselmo	CA	94960	Please continue your protection for grizzly bears in Yellowstone as people who care about a healthy ecosystem work to reconnect parts of these scattered populations. We, and the planet, need more diverse and healthy wildlife populations not more trophy hunting! -
Suzanne	Oakley	Blue Hill	ME	4614	Please do NOT allow trophy hunting of (still endangered) grizzly bears, whose populations are on the decline. They are not a food source or other source of livelihood for anyone, and culling them should not ever be done without a compelling reason for doing so. No su reason exists to continue their protection. Please afford them the protection they need. - Sincerely, - Suzanne Oakley - -
Wendy	Howes	Dallas	TX	75230	PLEASE do NOY remove the federal protections. - - I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has b population has been on the decline as a result. Allowing the surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulat connect with bears in other areas. Instead, those that wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will b removed. Please reconsider this delisting proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Lynn	R	AR	AR	72903	Please do your job and protect the Yellowstone Grizzlies. No more SCARFACES. - - I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-cause rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the decline as a result. Allowing the surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and protect bears that could connect with bears in other areas. Instead, those that wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to de federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this delisting proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Gay	Kramer-Dodd	Eugene	OR	97404	Please help grizzlies survive and thrive by maintaining federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowsto result. Allowing the surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could those that wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are re proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Judith	Glixon	Lexington	MA	2421	Please help: - - I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowston result. Allowing the surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could those that wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are re proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Thank you. - Sincerely,
Rosemary	Hieber	CA	CA	92692	Please- I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone popul Allowing the surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could conne that wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Krissa	Schandelmaier	Brooklyn	NY	11205	Please keep federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem in place and enforced. As I am sure you know, human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the decline as a result. Allow bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. Please do not cave in to special interest groups. As you are also aware, this grizzly bear population is severely isolated and states do NOT have regulations in place to protect bears that co those that wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - It seems that asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal prote delisting proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list instead of caving to special interest groups such as trophy hunters and ranchers - who are a large part of the reason there are so many endangered species in the USA to begin with. - - Since
David	Kracke	Portland	OR	97239	Please keep the protections in place. Allowing trophy hunts of these incredible creatures is completely misguided and the removal of these protections will lead to that outcome. - - I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greate country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the decline as a result. Allowing the surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add signif know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other areas. Instead, those that wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on th regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this delisting proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Michael	Scott	Albany	CA	94706	Please maintain and expand federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem. - - The Yellowstone population is on the decline and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. - - Asking for comments on this proposal bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this delisting proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, neil	hopwood	Uttoxeter	ot	ST14 7QR	Please maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem - - Sincerely,
Jeff	Oremland	Prospect Heights	IL	60070	Please maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. - - Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the de states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other area arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Myrna	Fox	Morgantown	WV	26508	Please maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. The Yellowstone population has been on the decline recently. The loss of the whitebark pine forests that contain see the grizzly bears has been devastating to them. Fish stocks also are low. Thin bears have been seen. This interferes with reproduction, and causes the bears to have to scrounge for something to eat. - - The possibility of allowing the surrounding states to manage th significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other areas. Instead, those that wander outside an arbitrary boundary are li this proposal is premature because without existing regulations for bears in the effected states, it is impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. - - For the above many reasons, reconsider this delisting proposal and keep species list. - - Thank you,
Celia	Kutcher	Capistrano Beach	CA	92624	Please maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the declin to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other areas. Inste boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this delisting endangered species list. - - Respectfully,
Susan	Selbin	Albuquerque	NM	87107	Please maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the declin to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other areas. Inste boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this delisting endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Sandra	Garber	Petaluma	CA	94952	Please maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the declin to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other areas. Inste boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this delisting endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Steve	Dickman	New York	NY	13850	Please maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the declin states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other area arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this on the endangered species list. - - Thank you. - - Sincerely,
Gene and Dori	Peters	Sun City	AZ	85351	Please maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the declin to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other areas. Inste boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this delisting endangered species list. - - Thank you. - - Peace!
Michelle	Friessen	Davis	CA	95616	Please maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the declin to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other areas. Inste boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this delisting endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Martha W D	Bushnell	Boulder	CO	80303	Please maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the declin to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other areas. Inste boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this delisting endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Janine	Moore	Waterville	ME	4901	PLEASE maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the declir to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other areas. Inste boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this delisting endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Eve	Duplissis	Lewiston	ME	4241	Please maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the declin to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other areas. Inste boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this delisting endangered species list. - - Thank you for your attention. - - Sincerely,
Eunice	Richmond	Marion	IA	52302	Please maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the declin to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other areas. Inste boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this delisting endangered species list. Thank you. - - Sincerely,
DK	Bolen	St Petersburg	FL	33709	Please maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the declin to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears connecting with bears in other areas. Instead, tho are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Use non-lethal management practices for listing proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
DK	Bolen	St Petersburg	FL	33709	Please maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the declin to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears connecting with bears in other areas. Instead, tho are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Use non-lethal management practices for listing proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Rob	Williams	Hollywood	FL	33021	Please maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the declin to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other areas. Inste boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this delisting endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
George	Kormendi	New York	NY	10033	Please maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the declin to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other areas. Inste boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this delisting endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Pam	Neely	Santa Fe	NM	87505	Please maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the declin to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other areas. Inste boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this delisting endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
John	Kitzinger	Albuquerque	NM	87109	Please maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the declin to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other areas. Inste boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this delisting endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Leslie	Stanick	Surrey	BC	V3T4L8	Please maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been rising, reducing the Yellowstone population. Allowing the surround trophy hunting will put enormous pressure on this population. This population remains severely isolated. The states don't have regulations in place to protect bears, or designated wildlife corridors that would allow bears to roam and mate in other areas. Instead, bears are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature. Without state regulations in place for the protection of bears it is impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please keep Yellowstone bears or bears is vulnerable, and without protections in place, could easily disappear. - - Sincerely,
Carolyn	Barker	Aldie	VA	20105	Please maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem, a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the decline manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other areas. Instead boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this delisting endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Mary	Keitelman	Hinsdale	MA	1235	PLEASE MAINTAIN FEDERAL PROTECTION FOR GRIZZLY BEARS in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem. - - Grizzly bears simply can not survive the organized hunting that is already being planned against them. - - It is apparent that many are organizing now to hunt these wander outside of protective Yellowstone boundaries. - - When that happens, there is no law or will to protect these bears: it is clear they will be killed quickly and without consideration to protect the species. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature bec place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. - - Please reconsider this delisting proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jane H	Beattie	Ketchum	ID	83340	Please maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem. - - These bears represent an ongoing US investment since 1975. - - Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will make the decline more rapid. - - With no state regulations in place, it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. - - Please reconsider delisting endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Edward	Lyon	Trenton	ME	4605	Please maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem. I support the following position: - - Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the decline as a result. Allowing t and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other areas. Instead, those that wander killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this delisting proposal and keep Yellow Sincerely,
Betty	Sabo	Las Vegas	NV	89120	Please maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem. It's the right thing to do!
J	Lukas	IN	IN	46143	Please maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem. Human caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the decline as a result. Allowing the surrounding states to manage the significant pressure to this population. This population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other areas. Instead, those that wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be kille premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Reconsider this delisting proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
J	Lukas	IN	IN	46143	Please maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem. Human caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the decline as a result. Allowing the surrounding states to manage the significant pressure to this population. This population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other areas. Instead, those that wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be kille premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Reconsider this delisting proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
J	Lukas	IN	IN	46143	Please maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem. Human caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the decline as a result. Allowing the surrounding states to manage the significant pressure to this population. This population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other areas. Instead, those that wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be kille premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Reconsider this delisting proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Timothy	Coleman	Republic	WA	99166-150	Please maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the decline as a result. Allowing the surrounding states to manage the significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other areas. Instead, those that wander outside an arbitrary boundary are li this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this delisting proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered spe
Sue	Nightingale	Amherst	MA	1002	Please maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the decline as a result. Allowing the surrounding states to manage the significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other areas. Instead, those that wander outside an arbitrary boundary are li this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this delisting proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered spe
Mark	Caponigro	New York	NY	10025	Please maintain the federal protections of grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population we all have been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the decline to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other areas. Inste boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this delisting endangered species list. - - Sincerely, josh	pucci	Virginia	VA	23223	Please make good decisions. - - I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, an decline as a result. Allowing the surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bear areas. Instead, those that wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal pro delisting proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Dmitriy	Komin	Maple Valley	WA	98038	Please protect grizzly bears, their habitat and food supply. Do not let trophy hunting on these iconic animals. The Greater Yellowstone area must be SAVE for all Grizzly Bears. Their population according to all sources is still far from the allowing hunting on them. - - Sinc
Ellen	McCann	California	CA	92027	Please protect our bears for future generations. We don't have to be at war with this planet. We can all co-exist. This is critical. What type of planet do you want for your grandchildren? I know what I want and the path we are on isn't good. Respectfully yours.
SusN	Stone	Atlanta	GA	30317	Please protect the Greater Yellowstone grizzly bear population. Threats to their survival remain keen, and delisting them from Endangered Species status would be a devastating error. - - I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Gre our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the decline as a result. Allowing the surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add s know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other areas. Instead, those that wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on th regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this delisting proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Lucy	Seminoff	Whippany	NJ	7891	Please protect Yellowstone grizzly and their little habitat what they have now, give them chance!!!
Deidre	Moderacki	New York	NY	10009	Please prove to me that you are not controlled by the hunting lobby. - - I urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Lesley	Brill	Detroit	MI	48207	PLEASE READ BELOW--AND DO THE JOB YOU'RE PAID FOR! - - I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly Yellowstone population has been on the decline as a result. Allowing the surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not that could connect with bears in other areas. Instead, those that wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how b protections are removed. Please reconsider this delisting proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Ronald	DeGray	Glastonbury	CT	6033	Please stop the exploitation and killing of bears NOW! - - - Sincerely,
Patricia	Conkel	Pittsburgh	PA	15206	Please, don't do this. I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yello a result. Allowing the surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that coul those that wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are re proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Adrian	Farnsworth	Battle Ground	WA	98604	Please, I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone popula Allowing the surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connec that wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
LYNN	MARQUARDT	STEVENS POINT	WI	54481	PLEASE, maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the decli states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. - As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other are arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Pat	Lawrence	Hillsboro	OH	45133	Please, maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the declir to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other areas. Inste boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this delisting endangered species list. - - Sincerely, - - Pat
Jennifer	Jordan	Peabody	MA	1960	PLEASE, PLEASE HELP!!! - - I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the decline as a result. Allowing the surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bear areas. Instead, those that wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal pro delisting proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
RAJA	TAMARAN	NAALEHU	HI	96772	PROTECT ENVIRONMENT AND WILDLIFE RESOURCES FOR THE FUTURE OF MANKIND - I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-ca the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the decline as a result. Allowing the surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated a protect bears that could connect with bears in other areas. Instead, those that wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to de federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this delisting proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Veda	Stram	Camano Island	WA	98282	Protect FISH and WILDLIFE! Allowing trophy hunters to maim, torment and kill these amazing creatures is disgusting. - - - I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has bee mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the decline as a result. Allowing the surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this popu states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other areas. Instead, those that wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for be determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this delisting proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Rose	Jenkins	St. Louis	MO	63130	PROTECT YELLOWSTONE GRIZZLIES! No "trophy" hunting; no more destruction of habitat by human agents. - - I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the decline as a result. Allowing the surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also r have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other areas. Instead, those that wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in p bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this delisting proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Judith	Castiano	AZ	AZ	85345	Protection for the Yellowstone grizzlies MUST REMAIN IN PLACE. They must also be able to interact with other grizzly bear populations in order to prevent inbreeding.. Those bears that wander outside the park have to be protected. Humans DO NOT have priority in v TOO OFTEN HUMANS WHO CREATE THE PROBLEMS LIKE THE BIG-GAME HUNTERS! THE BEARS CANNOT BE THE ONES WHO BEAR THE BLAME AND PAY WITH THEIR LIVES!!!! - - I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Ye country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the decline as a result. Allowing the surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add signif know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other areas. Instead, those that wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on th regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this delisting proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Rita	DeCastro	Okeene	OK	73763	Re: Keep Protections for Yellowstone Grizzly Bears - - Dear Director, Dan Ashe, - - I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-causec rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the decline as a result. Allowing the surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and s protect bears that could connect with bears in other areas. Instead, those that wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to de federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this delisting proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Do not forget that it is illegal to hunt on Federal lands or parks. - - Sincerely, - Rita DeCastro - 119 N. 6th St. - P.O. Box 727 - Okeen
Laura	Zerr	Auburn	WA	98092	Removing safeguards for the larger mammals prematurely can result in a much larger set back than taking the whole process more slowly. I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the decline as a result. Allowing the surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other areas. Instead, those that wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regu impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this delisting proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Eric	Bindseil	Gardiner	MT	59030	Seriously now, I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone result. Allowing the surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could those that wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are re proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
JIll	Hoehlein	Hesperus	CO	81326	Several years ago I did research on grizzly bears in Glacier National Park - looking at genetic diversity and general health of the population. I reaaly beleive that protection of the grizzly in Yellowstone is a necessity in order to amintain its biological health. We need to m that it is truly viable for them to survive. Let's truly support the whole idea of the ESA, not just look at numbers. And let's think about the natural world, not just those who see nothing but a trophy or who build homes in nature and then want a false "safe" suburbia. - beginning a process RIGHT NOW that will decide the future of some public lands in southwest Colorado. WeΓÇÖre talking about lands around the Dolores River watershed and corridor, the Mesa Verde National park escarpment, and big game habitat across the region. federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the decline as a result. Allo bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other areas. Instead, those that wa to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this delisting proposal and keep Y list. - - Sincerely,
Maggie	Frazier	Windsor	NY	13865	Since state don't have regulations in place to manage grizzly bears - why would their protection be taken away? Do hunters truly have THAT much influence? NO MORE TROPHY HUNTS! Already too many species are being eradicated so that hunters can kill them & n about their cattle & sheep! This plan is a setback - do the right thing for these animals!
Laura	Podrasky	Highland	MI	48357	Since we encroach on their habitat it seems only right that we do all we can to protect them from us. - - - I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in sin bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the decline as a result. Allowing the surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other areas. Instead, those that wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this delisting proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Patricia	Vance	Tacoma	WA	98404	Since you can't protect the bears such as Scarface currently under your control, I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused m and the Yellowstone population has been on the decline as a result. Allowing the surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and state bears that could connect with bears in other areas. Instead, those that wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine protections are removed. Please reconsider this delisting proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Carolyn	Van Dorn	Crystal	MN	55422	So many tourists visit Yellowstone with a bucket list of photos to take - including one of a grizzly. Trophy hunting makes no sense. - I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our count caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the decline as a result. Allowing the surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, th and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other areas. Instead, those that wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations fo determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this delisting proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Cecelia	Samp	Schiller Park	IL	60176	States have already shown that they do not take a scientific approach to maintaining wildlife in the way they have killed countless wolves. Grizzly bears need our protection. Please don't allow states to determine protection for grizzly bears. - - I am writing to urge you bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the decline as a result. Allowing the surrounding states hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other areas. Instead, those that wander outside an arbitrar comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this delisting proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the e
Beverly	Walker	Kingsland	TX	78639	Stop killing the wildlife! Stop subsidizing the corporate ranchers. Stop supporting the extraction industries from ruining our public lands. - I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our c Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the decline as a result. Allowing the surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other areas. Instead, those that wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regu impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this delisting proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
DEBORAH	SMITH	Oklahoma	OK	73112	TAKE NOTE... - I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone result. Allowing the surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could those that wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are re proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
John	Salerno	waretown	NJ	8758	TELL THE KILL-CRAZY NRA SUBHUMAN SKINHEADS AND REDNECKS THAT THEY CANNOT HAVE THEIR WAY ANYMORE. SAVE THE BEARS!!!
Virva	Porcelli	Incline Village	NV	89451	Thank you for listening to my concerns. - I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on th been on the decline as a result. Allowing the surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to other areas. Instead, those that wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once fede reconsider this delisting proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Michelle	Lugones	New York	NY	10005	Thank you for taking the time to read this. I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on t been on the decline as a result. Allowing the surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to other areas. Instead, those that wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once fede reconsider this delisting proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely, - Michelle Lugones, DVM
Rodney	Stansfield	Garden Grove	CA	92844	Thank you for your attention. I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and t decline as a result. Allowing the surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bear areas. Instead, those that wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal pro delisting proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. They deserve to be protected after what they have been put through. - - Sincerely,
Yvonne	Williams	Jamaica	NY	11434	The bears live in the woods - and they should be able to live there in peace. I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mort the Yellowstone population has been on the decline as a result. Allowing the surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do that could connect with bears in other areas. Instead, those that wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how l protections are removed. Please reconsider this delisting proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Kari	Ely	SAINT LOUIS	MO	63117	The delicate balance of our planet needs protecting. Our lands and wildlife sustain us! - - I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Huma on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the decline as a result. Allowing the surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolate to protect bears that could connect with bears in other areas. Instead, those that wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this delisting proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Debbie	Geraghty	MO	MO	64064	The few wealthy trophy hunters should not trump the voices of the majority of citizens who want protections for wildlife and the environment to remain in place and be made even stronger! - - I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the decline as a result. Allowing the surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy huntir population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other areas. Instead, those that wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this delisting proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
David and Judith	Berg	Eugene	OR	97405	The greatest good is served by preserving and protecting the natural systems on which all life depends, the habitats that comprise them, and the wildlife that inhabit them. - - I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellow has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the decline as a result. Allowing the surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pr population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other areas. Instead, those that wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposa bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this delisting proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
August	Cardea	Saint Petersburg	FL	33713	The grizzly bear is waning. So let's stop protecting it! - No. What Yellowstone and other parks in this nation and Canada need to do - and urgently - is get the Wild Highway fully functional or the bears will continue to wane as their inbreeding gets completely out of cor federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the decline as a result. Allc bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other areas. Instead, those that wa to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this delisting proposal and keep Y list. - - Sincerely,
Bonnie	MacRaith	Arcata	CA	95521	The grizzly bear, much identified with wild and open untouched landscapes, is an icon of pure power and freedom. The grizzly deserves protection and a non-isolated habitat to remain healthy. - - I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the decline as a result. Allowing the surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy huntir population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other areas. Instead, those that wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this delisting proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
E	Alm	San Francisco	CA	94121	The intent of this letter is to urge you to keep in place federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem. Mortality of grizzly bears due to human activity has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone bear population is no exception. If we allow the s add significant pressure to Yellowstone's grizzlies. The isolation of this particular bear population due to inadequate protections in neighboring areas means that they will be especially vulnerable to removal of federal protections. - I also view the solicitation of commen the fact that state regulations have not yet been formulated. This makes it impossible for the interested public to understand the perils that this bear population may face if federal protection is removed. - - I urge you to reconsider this proposal to delist Yellowstone's

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Max	Borman	Brooklyn	NY	11235	The National Parks, like Yellowstone must protect animals and their habitat from different. Overall grizzly bear lost 48 % of the are their historic habitat. Now FWS plans to leave their last protection and begin barbaric trophy hunting. - - Please maintain PROTECTIONs
Sara	Nichols	Los Angeles	CA	90049	The planet would be better off if there were just 2,000 people on it but then, that would make us endangered, wouldn't it? There are not enough of any apex species left ANYWHERE in the world, never mind in the US northwest. STOP the insanity. Hunters are very sic them happy? Really? That is simply vile. - - I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been or been on the decline as a result. Allowing the surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to other areas. Instead, those that wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once fede reconsider this delisting proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Liz	Buckalew	Saint Thomas	VI	801	The thirst for killing and the greed of many has put our entire wildlife system in jeopardy.What could killing more wildlife possibly accomplishment. The people speak and you do not listen. - - I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in t population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the decline as a result. Allowing the surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy huntir population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other areas. Instead, those that wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this delisting proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Joan	Bailey	Portland	OR	97229	The Yellowstone grizzles need protection. they are a vital part of the larger ecosystem. Huntingt hem at this point is absolutely the wrong thing to do. We must save them and their genes for the future. - - I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizz -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the decline as a result. Allowing the surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hu population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other areas. Instead, those that wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this delisting proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Alison	Frates	Salt Lake City	UT	84117	The Yellowstone Grizzly population is in decline, so how does it make sense to lift protections? Their food sources are in collapse and they are isolated. Letting hunters pick them off for trophies will not help. The states in question will be overzealous in hunting these be desperately need to roam freely in order to diversify their gene pool. You can't let this happen. Please keep Grizzlies listed. - - Sincerely,
Linda	Blossom	Interlaken	NY	14847	There is no good reason to continue the inhuman assault on wildlife. We have hoarded the land, taken away habitat, killed without good cause and now want to make the killing of this iconic species legal again. Enough - humans need to be checked, not the creatures urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the d states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other area arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Lawrence	Duncan	Texas	TX	77406	These icons need MORE protection not less. The killing of a grizzly bear, or a wolf for that matter, is nothing but blood sport and a concept whose time has long ago passed. What will your response be to your grandchildren when they ask you "What happened to all of to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the decline as manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other areas. Instead boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this delisting endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jeffrey	Wiles	Coon Rapids	MN	55448	This communication is submitted by Jeffrey L. Wiles of Coon Rapids, Minnesota. Please include it in your official record of public inputs regarding federal protections for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem. Thank you very much! - - I am writing to urge y bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the decline as a result. Allowing the surrounding states hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other areas. Instead, those that wander outside an arbitrar comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this delisting proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the e
Donald	Sanger	Oro Valley	AZ	85704	This is our heritage / let's not move away from this. - - I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears h population has been on the decline as a result. Allowing the surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulat connect with bears in other areas. Instead, those that wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will b removed. Please reconsider this delisting proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Pamela	Lyons	Lexington	MA	2420	This is so important. Grizzly bears are an iconic American animal. Please help them! - - I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-ca the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the decline as a result. Allowing the surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated a protect bears that could connect with bears in other areas. Instead, those that wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to de federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this delisting proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Janis	Fensch	Washington	WA	98226	This is the second email I received this morning re the US FIsh and Wildife Service fighting against rather than striving to preserve our wildlife. Hunters should not be awarded trophies of pride,,,,these should be symbols of shame and it looks like Wildlife Services shoul urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the d states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other area arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Janis	Sawyer	Santa Rosa Beach	FL	32459	To address personally just one issue mentioned below, trophy hunting is gut-wrenching. I am physically sickened by this concept. Where is your humanity, your sense of right and wrong? Stop. Feel. Think. - - ΓÇ£The last word in ignorance is the man who says of an ani mechanism as a whole is good, then every part is good, whether we understand it or not. If the biota, in the course of aeons, has built something we like but do not understand, then who but a fool would discard seemingly useless parts? To keep every cog and wheel is tinkering.ΓÇ¥ - ? Aldo Leopold - - I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, a the decline as a result. Allowing the surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect b areas. Instead, those that wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal pro delisting proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Frederick	Mackey	Denver	CO	80222	Today I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone popula Allowing the surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connec that wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. We cannot keep altering the ecosystem by eliminating species. - - Sincerely,
Mark	Sawyer	Edmonds	WA	98020	Today I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone popula Allowing the surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connec that wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - As I'm sure you've heard, aSking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federa this delisting proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Janet	Molchan	Lauderdale by the Sea	FL	33308	Trophy hunting is a ridiculous waste of life. Protect our bears! - I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzl Yellowstone population has been on the decline as a result. Allowing the surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not that could connect with bears in other areas. Instead, those that wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how l protections are removed. Please reconsider this delisting proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Roni	Friedman	Lake Forest	IL	60045	TROPHY HUNTS ! IN YELLOWSTONE ? FOR GRIZZLEY BEARS ? ALLOW THEM TO HAVE THEIR NORMAL FOOD SOURCES, AND YOU WON'T NEED TO SEND PEOPLE IN TO KILL THEM. Mr. Ashe and Ms. Jewell, you have these positions so that you can PRESERVE not Destroy to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on th states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other area arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Carol	Price	Furlong	PA	18925	USF&W is the biggest waste of government money in the U.S. The morons who work for USF&W are nothing but thrill killers. They have NO scientific education, no degree in wildlife management and no COMMON SENSE! - - Asking for comments on this proposal is bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this delisting proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Deborah	Uhlman	Chicago	IL	60611	We are killing other species on the planet at an alarming rate and it must end! - - I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused and the Yellowstone population has been on the decline as a result. Allowing the surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and state bears that could connect with bears in other areas. Instead, those that wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine protections are removed. Please reconsider this delisting proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Dave and Rita	Cross	Lakeway	TX	78738	We are writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975! Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population the surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with be outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed! Ridiculous! - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list! - - We thank you kindly! - - Sincerely,
Dave and Rita	Cross	Lakeway	TX	78738	We are writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975! Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population the surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with be outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed! - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list! It trtuly is the right thing to do! - - Sincerely,
Sue and John	Morris	Marshfield	VT	5658	We are writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population the surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with be outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jenny and David	Mapes	Colebrook	CT	6021	We are writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population the surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with be outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jenny and David	Mapes	Colebrook	CT	6021	We are writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population the surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with be outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Rod and Terri	Jones	Hugo	OK	74743	We are writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population the surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with be outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. Thank you for your efforts and consideration. - - Sincerely,
Rod and Terri	Jones	Hugo	OK	74743	We are writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population the surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with be outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jason A. and Linda E.	Lillegraven	Laramie	WY	82070	We are writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population the surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with be outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Adeka and Lucius	Wilmerding	Old Lyne	DC	6371	We are writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population the surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with be outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincereadely,
Richard and Margaret	Florence	Yuma	AZ	85364	We are writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population the surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with be outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. Thank you. - - Sincerely,
Beth	birnbaum	NY	NY	11367	We cannot afford to lose any more species. Grizzly Bears are part of American history. I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-ca the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the decline as a result. Allowing the surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated a protect bears that could connect with bears in other areas. Instead, those that wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to de federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this delisting proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Janet	Fiore	San Francisco	CA	94122	We expect there shall be maintenance of federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone populatio Allowing the surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connec that wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Sari	Stein	New Mexico	NM	87020	WE MUST CONTINUE TO maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has b surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. - - THIS IS PROPOSAL". WE MUST keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Eleanor	Dawson	Kansas City	MO	64110	WE need to find out why grizzlies are declining, and certainly NOT remove protection! I urge you to MAINTAIN federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused morta the Yellowstone population has been on the decline as a result. Allowing the surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do that could connect with bears in other areas. Instead, those that wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how l protections are removed. Please reconsider this delisting proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Vincent	Rusch	Schenectady	NY	12303	We need to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the c states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other area arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Jordan	Mills	Sacramento	CA	95816	We need to protect biological diversity. Ecosystem balance and functioning depends on species' unique gifts and roles in their environment. Not to be taken lightly. As a species whose unique gift is seeing a bigger picture and offering protection - even from ourselves - of all living things. - - I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellc a result. Allowing the surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that coul those that wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are re proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Lester and Judy	Hoyle	Cave Junction	OR	97523	We strongly urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been deeply invested in since 1975. - - Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone popul Allowing the surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. - - As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could cor that wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed endangered species list!! Delisting is NOT an option U.S. taxpayers will welcome, considering the extraordinary resources we have expended to preserve this crucial keystone species. - - Most Sincerely,
Joseph and Diane	Williams	Lacey	WA	98503	We urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on t surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reco Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Bill and Marilyn	Voorhies	Bernard	ME	4612	We write to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has b surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add unwarranted significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could conne that wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Matthew	Vencill	Round Rock	TX	78681	What is just is just. What must be done must be done. What is just must be done. What is just and undone shall take its toll from those responsible, through action, or through inaction. So it is. So it was. So it always will be. May it be that you are wise enough to do
Megg	Gillis	Quincy	MA	2169	What the hell is wrong with you??! We are already losing unacceptable, heartbreaking numbers of our wildlife even WITH protections! What kind of joke is it to even suggest, THINK, of removing those paper thin protections?? That protection is the very fine line that from rushing to the woods for something to decorate their "big boys" play room with. I'm by no means against hunting when done responsibly, ethically, for a reason. When ALL of the animal is used. Never ever just for...sport or trophy. Or your wallet. Which is all I k anymore. Prove me wrong. - - I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and decline as a result. Allowing the surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bear areas. Instead, those that wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal pro delisting proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
C.A.	Rose	Trumbull	CT	6611	Which special interest group are you caving into this time? Ranchers or oil/coal? There is no reason other than someone's bank account to remove protection for the grizzlies. The protection offered them should be expanded, not reduced. The same goes for all the o allow to be slaughtered so some idiot rancher can protect his cows. The meat industry is one of the biggest polluters in the world and, at least in the U.S., the meat they produce is garbage. - - So how do you justify putting the bears and all other wildlife at risk? Easy and will be. - - I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone result. Allowing the surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could those that wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are re proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Juley	Harvey	Estes Park	CO	80517	Who does trophy hunting benefit? Who does it hurt? Why not be kind? What does that cost? Why not ensure a good future, rather than a dead head-on-the-wall past? I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone E been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the decline as a result. Allowing the surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressu population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other areas. Instead, those that wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposa bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this delisting proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Linda	Westcott	Sioux Falls	SD	57108	Why are there new laws/rules to keep trophy hunting victims from other countries entering our country yet now remove protection for animals inside our country? Why are the people hired to protect the few wild animals left in protected areas now refusing to do wh animals large and small we have lost throughout the world and use your head to protect those left. Of course, there are living creatures that are dangerous when people are stupid enough to not treat them with care but WE DO NOT HAVE THE RIGHT TO MAKE ANIMAL how long poisonous snakes or insects or human murderers/rapists/abusers would last if they were prized by 'trophy hunters' as looking good upon a wall!! - - I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosyster invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the decline as a result. Allowing the surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other areas. Instead, those that wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is prematu in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this delisting proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Richanna	Patrick	Cortland	NY	13045	Why are we attempting to move backward on the protections in place for this species? I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-ca the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the decline as a result. Allowing the surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated a protect bears that could connect with bears in other areas. Instead, those that wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to de federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this delisting proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Peter	Curia	AZ	AZ	85257	WHY ARE WE KILLING WILD ANIMALS? - - - I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on been on the decline as a result. Allowing the surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to other areas. Instead, those that wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once fede reconsider this delisting proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,

First	Last	City	State	Zip	Comment
Larry	Lambeth	MO	MO	65810	With bear populations in decline, severely fragmented populations and facing climate change impacts and increased human pressure it is more important now than ever to keep protections in place. I strongly you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the G icon that our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the decline as a result. An unwise decision to allow surrounding states to manage these bears and permit unacceptable pressure to this population. This population still remains severely isolated and none of the states have adequate regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other areas. Without scientific management and non-lethal methods in that may wander outside an arbitrary boundary. - - State regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this delisting proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on th
Lyrysa	Smith	Denver	CO	80231	Wyoming is my birth state. I grew up in the shadows of the Teton Mountains and in the flow of Yellowstone Park. I've always been so proud to be from Wyoming, a place where nature and all wildlife are loved and protected. - - I am writing to urge you to maintain fede Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the decline as a result. Allowing the surrounding states to manage these bea significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other areas. Instead, those that wander outside an arbitrary boundary are li this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this delisting proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered sp
Suzann	Withers	SLC	UT	84119	Yellowstone bears have had to endure so much from humans in the last few decades. We used to sit on bleachers to watch them rummage through garbage. Now we have to hear about bears becoming too friendly by getting into trash bins and people calling for their maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the decline as a r manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other areas. Instead boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this delisting endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Barbara	Hegedus	Parkesburg	PA	19365	YELLOWSTONE ECOSYSTEM NEEDS THEM AND CATTLE BARONS CAN GRAZE THEIR HERDS FARTHER AWAY FROM THE PARK! - - I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country h caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the decline as a result. Allowing the surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, th and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other areas. Instead, those that wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations fo determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this delisting proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Chris	Moore	Virginia	VA	24153	YET ANOTHER EXAMPLE OF HOW ANIMALS SUFFER AT THE HANDS OF HUMANS! - I'm horrified that another amazing animal is headed for the chopping block! This doesn't make sense! KEEP THE BEARS ON THE ENDANGERED SPECIES LIST ; they have so much agains extra protection is needed for their safety, survival and the survival of their species. - - Please reconsider this de-listing proposal AFTER ALL, BEARS, LIKE MOST OTHER ANIMALS, CAN'T READ THE SIGNS, I DOUBT IF THEY WOULD UNDERSTAND THAT THEY WERE OUTSID BOUNDARIES) - - I urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem! - - To think surrounding states will POORLY manage these bears and permit trophy hunting is DISGUSTING at best. Adding significant pressure to this po is wrong. Without states having regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other areas; they will be killed by over zealous "trophy" hunters. THESE BEARS (AND OTHER ANIMALS ALREADY DAMAGED BY HUMANS) NEED CONTINUED PROTEC "TROPHIES"! THEY ARE LIVING BEINGS WHO HAVE MORE OF A RIGHT TO THAT (AND OTHER LAND) THAN HUMANS! - - State regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed; POOR Keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely horrified,
Shireen	Parsons	Washington	DC	20011	You must maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the dec states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated, and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other area arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. You must reconsider tl bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Julio L	Ruiz	Vineland	NJ	8360	You people are a bunch of sell-outs. Stop giving in to politics and hunters request and scheme's. - Do your job in protecting parks and wildlife and start educating people on the dealings, handling and dangers of wildlife. - - .I am writing on behalf of Center for Biological federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the decline as a result. Allo bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pressure to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other areas. Instead, those that wa to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposal is premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this delisting proposal and keep Y list. - - Sincerely,
Scott	Norris	lakewood	CO	80226	Your job is to protect animals, not let them be killed. Wolves and bears still need your support. Don't let deer and elk hunters influence your decisions or cattle ranchers. - - I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Greater Yellows has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the decline as a result. Allowing the surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add significant pr population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other areas. Instead, those that wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on this proposa bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this delisting proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,
Monica	Prihoda	Old Greenwich	CT	6870	YOUR LEADERSHIP IN PROTECTING OUR ENVIRONMENT AND WILDLIFE IS VITAL FOR OUR AND FUTURE GENERATIONS! THANK YOU FOR TAKING THE OFTEN LONELY AND DIFFICULT LEADERSHIP POSITION! - - I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection fo Ecosystem -- a population our country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the decline as a result. Allowing the surrounding states to manage these bears and permi to this population. As you know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other areas. Instead, those that wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - premature because state regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this delisting proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sin
Alison	Sheehey	Kernville	CA	93238	Your legacy is one of death to so much wildlife. The reextinction of the wolf will be your legacy. The extinction of the wolverine will be your legacy. The extinction of the Pacific Fisher will be your legacy. Protecting land without protecting wildlife is such a shallow thing. because you refuse to do what you are there for which is protect wildlife. - - Your rush to delist is pretty sad and shows that you really don't care. My heart is so broken by your callous disregard for protecting biodiversity. Protect the grizzlies. - - Sincerely tearful,
Thom	Peters	WA	WA	98290	ΓÇ£Since we humans have the better brain, isn't it our responsibility to protect our fellow creatures from, oddly enough, ourselves?" - --Joy Adamson, author of Born Free. - - I am writing to urge you to maintain federal protection for grizzly bears in the Great country has been invested in since 1975. Human-caused mortality of grizzly bears has been on the rise, and the Yellowstone population has been on the decline as a result. Allowing the surrounding states to manage these bears and permit trophy hunting will add signif know, this population also remains severely isolated and states do not have regulations in place to protect bears that could connect with bears in other areas. Instead, those that wander outside an arbitrary boundary are likely to be killed. - - Asking for comments on th regulations for bears aren't in place, so it's impossible to determine how bears will be managed once federal protections are removed. Please reconsider this delisting proposal and keep Yellowstone bears on the endangered species list. - - Sincerely,