

Hunting Information at Click of Computer Mouse

Your Guide to Hunting on National Wildlife Refuges is the first comprehensive compilation of all 300-plus hunting programs on national wildlife refuges. Now, hunters can learn where they can find their favorite species in specific states by going to the Web at <http://www.fws.gov/refuges/hunting/HuntingGuide.pdf>

Organized by state, the Hunting Guide gives a brief description of each hunting program> It also indicates which species can be hunted, provides directions to refuges, and contains special stories on hunting safety and archery hunting. Many national wildlife refuges offer hunts and blinds specifically designed for people with disabilities, as well as hunts organized to introduce youngsters to the tradition.
