

Upload Your Nature Images to the Flickr Group “Let’s Go Outside”

Get out into nature and see some wildlife—in your backyard, at a local park or on a nearby national wildlife refuge.

- Upload of yourself, your family and friends outside in nature
- Use Flickr’s Map function to identify where your photos were taken
- Blog about particular photos and your experiences in nature
- Chat on the Flickr Discussion board with other group members about their favorite places to go.
- You can even upload images from your cell phone.

You’ll create family memories to last a lifetime, and if you take your digital camera, you can capture these memories and share them through a new Flickr group called “Let’s Go Outside.”

is now on flickr[™]

Check it out at www.flickr.com/groups/letsgooutside/