Provided 1600 hours of temporary employment for Quinault Nation Tribal members at Quinault National Fish Hatchery.
Description
The importance to the Resource:
Tribal Employment Rights Ordinance (TERO) workers work in conjunction with USFWS fish culturists, maintenance staff, biologists and management to accomplish necessary tasks such as feeding fish, cleaning ponds, egg care, spawning operations, and light maintenance projects.
The problem:
Members of the Quinault Indian Nation need the necessary work experience and opportunities to fill vacancies at National Fish Hatcheries, specifically, an anadromous fish production facility.
The objective:
By offering temporary employment, Tribal members are given the opportunity to increase their technical knowledge of a fish production facility which generates potential candidates for employment with USFWS at Quinault NFH. Total hours worked will exceed 1,500 hours.

support Tribal fish & wildlife conservation.

The method:

In fiscal year 2006, $30,000 was obligated to TERO workers from 1311 -fisheries resource funding.
