

Expert Contacts – Public Engagement in Wildlife Planning

David Bidwell The Perspectives Group P.O. Box 15382 Winston-Salem, North Carolina 27113-0382 Phone (215) 880-4789 dbidwell@theperspectivesgroup.com www.theperspectivesgroup.com	The Perspectives Group is a small, woman-owned business that provides a full range of facilitation and public participation services to governments and other organizations. The staff has broad experience in environmental and natural resource decision-making. The company offers training courses related to collaboration and public participation. The company's headquarters are in N. Virginia, with a satellite office in N. Carolina, and works with practitioners around the country.
Hans and Annmarie Bleiker Institute for Participatory Management and Planning P.O. Box 1937 Monterey, CA 93942 Phone (831) 373-4292 Fax (831) 373-0760 ipmp@aol.com www.consentbuilding.com	The Institute for Participatory Management and Planning has developed an approach for helping project managers identify their specific public involvement objectives, and in obtaining informed consent from affected interests. They also offer a framework for developing effective techniques based on project objectives. Focuses on potential opponents of projects. Workshops and training materials.
Tom Brown Cornell University Department of Natural Resources Human Dimensions Unit Cornell-Fernow Hall Ithaca, New York 14853-3001 Phone (607) 255-7695 Fax (607) 254-2299 Tlb4@cornell.edu www.dnr.cornell.edu/hdru	The Cornell Human Dimensions Unit conducts research on a variety of topics involving humans and wildlife. Tom Brown is available to consult with agencies concerning questions about public participation in state plans, public attitudes, and related topics.
Vaughn Brown Jeanne Lawson Associates, Inc. 1110 SE Alder Street, Suite 301 Portland, Oregon 97214 Phone (503) 235-5881 Fax (503) 230-4877 vbrown@jlainvolve.com	A full-service public involvement consulting firm dedicated to building constructive two-way communication between government agencies and the communities affected by their planning and decision-making efforts. Vaughn Brown has more than 20 years experience in natural resource conservation planning, training and community involvement as both a government employee and private consultant. Jean Lawson Associates is a certified women-owned firm with a staff of seven.

Lisa Chase Natural Resource Specialist University of Vermont, Extension 157 Old Guilford Rd. #4 Brattleboro, VT 05301-3669 Phone (802) 257-7967 Fax (802) 257-0112 Lisa.chase@uvm.edu www.uvm.edu/extension	Lisa Chase is a facilitator, mediator, and author of several articles (with Dan Decker and others) on stakeholder involvement. She is available to consult with agencies developing comprehensive wildlife conservation plans. She can assist with design, implementation, and evaluation.
Dave Case D.J. Case and Associates 607 Lincolnway West Mishawaka, IN 46544 Phone (574) 258-0100 Fax (574) 258-0189 dave@djcase.com or phil@djcase.com	Indiana-based firm dedicated to natural resource conservation through communications. Founded in 1986, works with agencies and organizations throughout US and Canada. Staff experts in wildlife, fisheries, forestry, marketing, communications. Specialize in communications to maximize credibility and support among all stakeholders. Experience in managing habitat planning projects for agencies, meeting facilitation, public involvement.
Mark Duda Responsive Management Project 130 Franklin Street, P.O. Box 389 Harrisonburg, VA 22801 Phone (540) 432-1888 Fax (540) 432-1892 mdduda@rica.net www.responsivemanagement.com	Responsive Management is a Virginia-based public opinion, polling, and survey research firm specializing in fisheries, wildlife, natural resources, outdoor recreation and environmental issues. Conducts phone surveys, mail surveys, personal interviews, focus groups, needs assessments, literature reviews, and data collection to assist fish and wildlife agencies better understand and work with the public, constituents, and stakeholders. Responsive Management is currently conducting survey research to assist states in development of comprehensive wildlife conservation plans.

Mary Hamel Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources Public Involvement Counsel Bureau of Communication and Education 101 S. Webster Street, Box 7921 Madison, Wisconsin 53707-7921 Phone (608) 267-7409 Fax (608) 264-6293 hamelm@dnr.wi.us	Mary is a member of the International Association of Public Participation, and has offered to assist states in finding experts to help with public participation from certified practitioners around the country.
Melissa Harm and Melissa Hopkins International Association for Public Participation (IAP2) 11166 Huron Street, Suite 27 Denver, Colorado 80234 1-800-644-4273 iap2hq@iap2.org www.iap2.org	The IAP2 staff can put you in touch with public participation consultants, trainers, chapters, and other professionals from across the country and the world. In addition, they provide conferences, training, chapter events, publications, tools, and more.
Mike Manfredo Department Chair, Natural Resources, Tourism and Human Dimensions Colorado State University Ft. Collins, Colorado 80523 Phone (970) 491-0474 Fax (970) 491-2255 manfredo@cnr.colostate.edu	The Human Dimensions Unit at Colorado State University can provide assistance to states in sampling public opinions relevant to comprehensive conservation plans.
Craig Miller Program Leader, Human Dimensions Illinois Natural History Survey 607 E. Peabody Drive Champaign, Illinois 61820 Phone (217) 333- 7485 Fax (217) 244-5313 craigm@inhs.uiuc.edu www.inhs.uiuc.edu/cwe/hd/	The Human Dimensions Unit at Illinois Natural History Survey conducts research on social issues relevant to wildlife and ecosystem management, and public participation. The program leader has offered to be a contact for agencies needing assistance with public participation requirement in comprehensive wildlife conservation plans.