

Hiking Trails - The refuge has several short hiking trails for visitor to explore.

A. Butterfly Trail - This 1/4 mile trail provides interpretive information about butterflies and landscaping to attract these beautiful insects. A perfect location to view native vegetation.

B. Oxbow trail - About 4 miles from the refuge headquarters office off the auto tour route - formerly connected to the Pecos River this deep water channel is an excellent location for bird viewing ( approximately 2 mile in length)

C. Desert Upland Trail - This 1 mile trail takes you through an area that host an assortment of native plant species. Shrubs and thicket areas provide excellent quail and songbird viewing.