

Wolf Creek National Fish Hatchery

Visitor/Environmental Education Center

Come face to face with the region's underwater friends, explore karst terrain, see the inner workings of an active honey bee hive, and meet Dale, the lifelike animatronic fish biologist—all by stepping into the unique and exciting exhibit hall at the Wolf Creek National Fish Hatchery Visitor/Environmental Education Center.

Much more awaits the entire family in a fun and engaging educational journey through the new Center—located on a working trout hatchery at the base of Wolf

Creek Dam and beautiful Lake Cumberland. Visitors are welcome to tour the hatchery and fish the well-stocked creek below the hatchery. A theater, gift shop, picnic areas, wheelchair accessible fishing ramp, special events, and nearby camping and lodging make Wolf Creek National Fish Hatchery a destination not to be missed!

Visitor Center Hours

May – October: 8:00 am – 5:00 pm CST daily

November – April: 8:00 am – 4:00 pm CST daily

Hatchery Hours: 7:00 am – 3:30 pm CST daily

Driving Directions

From Louisville: I-65 South to the Cumberland Parkway West, exit onto Hwy 55 at Columbia, to US Hwy 127, south to hatchery.

From Nashville: I-65 North to the Cumberland Parkway West, exit onto Hwy 55 at Columbia, to US Hwy 127, south to hatchery.

From Lexington: US Hwy 27 South to State Road 34 SW, to US Hwy 127, south to hatchery.

From Jamestown, KY: US Hwy 127 South for 13 miles, veer right just before Dam. Hatchery is less than 1 mile on right.

From Knoxville: I-40 West, exit onto US Hwy 127 North, turn first left after crossing the Dam. Hatchery is less than 1 mile on right.

For additional information, contact:

Environmental Education/Outreach Specialist

Wolf Creek National Fish Hatchery

50 Kendall Road

Jamestown, KY 42629-6502

Telephone: 270/343 3797

Email: Amanda_patrick@fws.gov

www.fws.gov/wolfcreek

September 2008

