

Count for Conservation

February 16th
10 am - 11:30 am

Northern Shoveler/© Dr. Madeline Kalbach

The 16th
Annual Great
Backyard
Bird Count

Learn about local birds and join tens of thousands of participants from around the world. No experience necessary. Refuge Staff and local birders will serve as guides for this fun and rewarding bird count.

Meet at the Tarlatt Unit of Willapa National Wildlife Refuge - look for signs at the end of 95th Road off Sandridge Road in Long Beach. For more information contact nancy_holman@fws.gov or 360-484-3482 x23

The Great Backyard Bird Count is a world-wide opportunity to participate in citizen science created by the Cornell Lab of Ornithology and Audubon. www.birdcount.org

