I think you were already aware of the FWS website link I sent below, and it looks like you could not gain access to the newsletter. That newsletter can be downloaded from the website if interested. I also printed off 10 copies so we can hand out and share if needed.

Howdy again Marie - no worries on the flurry of emails. Apologize for not responding sooner, but had some kid activities out of town this weekend that kept me busy.

See the link below for information related to the proposed CO 10j rule and draft EIS. I have also attached a link to a newsletter that the contractor published to provide information about the proposed 10j and draft EIS, how to comment, and a list of topics to consider when submitting comments (see p. 3 of newsletter). I will have my computer, so if there is a powerpoint handy, we can also go to regulations.gov and show folks how to submit comments that way (I was not familiar with it prior to last week, but it is fairly simple). If no powerpoint handy, we can walk them through the process on regulations.gov using just the computer.

Hope that helps. Other than basics of comments and how we evaluate/address them, and general questions related to wolves that are bound to arise, if there are any other important topics you think might come up, please let me know. Thanks and looking forward to helping out.

Scott,

Now that I have filled up your email box I have another question. Do the comments go to the same link from the 1st time?
