responses to Richard Charter letter submitted to CCC.DOCX;

Hi Gerry,

Good conversation just now. Here are the bullets I captured for you to integrate into your presentation:

- Personal story—starting with time as an intern, building through your entire career to show dedication to the conservation and restoration of the islands.
- Clear differentiation between one time rodenticide application by trained professionals with a conservation purpose and chronic use on the mainland (find USFWS statement opposing mainland use? Signal personal feelings of opposition to overuse of the substance?)
- Show list of supporter groups (below), giving the message that this is a mainstream environmental priority with support from credible groups at the local, regional, and national levels
- Address project criticisms head-on (see draft responses attached)
 - Focus on experimental nature of all other solutions
- Highlight successful case studies

I'll look to schedule a review on Monday after I speak with Brad.
