APPENDIX V GOVERNMENT-TO-GOVERNMENT AND CULTURAL RESOURCE CONSULTATIONS

UPDATE TO TRIBAL CONSULTATION, COORDINATION, AND OUTREACH

This section provides details of government-to-government consultation, coordination, and outreach for the Draft Environmental Impact Statement (DEIS) for the Desert Renewable Energy Conservation Plan (DRECP). Please refer also to Volumes III, IV, and V of this document for other information relevant to the government-to-government consultation process:

- Volume III: Chapter III.8 (Cultural Resources) and Chapter III.9 (Native American Concerns) – Description of the affected environment and regulatory setting
- Volume IV: Chapter IV.8 (Cultural Resources) and Chapter IV.9 (Native American Concerns) – Description of environmental impacts and mitigation measures
- Volume V – Consultation, Coordination, and Public Participation

Introduction

Government-to-government consultation was initiated in 2011 by the Department of the Interior and several agencies within the Department for the DRECP under Executive Order 13175, “Consultation and Coordination with Indian Tribal Governments” (Federal Register, Volume 65, pages 67249-67252, Nov. 9, 2000). A record of consultation, coordination and outreach, that occurred prior to release of the Draft DRECP from 2011-through October 2013 is available in Appendix V-1, Table 1 of the DEIS.

There are over 40 Federally recognized tribes identified in the planning area and participating in varying degrees in the consultation, coordination, and outreach process through meetings, correspondence, phone conversations, e-mails, and the transmission of maps, documents, and reports.

Through the Tribal Federal Leadership Conference (TLC), the Department of the Interior and the Bureau of Land Management, with the participation of the Fish and Wildlife Service and the Bureau of Indian Affairs, specifically solicited and facilitated tribal input in to renewable energy land use planning in the California Desert Conservation Area Plan (CDCA). The CDCA is proposed to be amended as part of the Desert Renewable Energy Conservation Plan (DRECP). The Tribal-Federal Leadership Conference (TLC or Conference) represented substantial regional outreach and information sharing via 6 TLC meetings (9/21-22/11, 11/16/11, 2/16/12, 4/3-4/12, 7/18/12 and 12/12/12), 1 pre-meeting, numerous technical meetings, and individual meetings with 40 California Desert area tribes, The Conference also provided information, maps, technical assistance, presentations, access to executive level federal management, funding sources and specialized services. The goals of the Conference were to solicit/facilitate tribal input into DRECP and inform future planning in the area about tribal issues, concerns, interests regarding any and all natural and cultural resources in the California Desert area – not just cultural issues and concerns. Through this the BLM received a deeper understanding of tribal concerns and valuable input as to those areas that are highly significant that will help BLM manage in a more informed and fair manner. BLM provided technical support to those Tribes that requested it for mapping the areas they defined as significant for DRECP.

On July 9, 2012, cultural data was sent to tribes, which included cultural resources studies, the CDCA Plan Cultural Resources Element and Native American Element planning maps, and a collection of 24 cultural resources studies. The cultural resources studies represent the summary and analysis of the cultural resources identification efforts carried out in support of the CDCA plan and represent the baseline foundational documents for the plan, subsequent plan amendments, program planning and project review. Many of these studies were commissioned during the CDCA planning effort in the late 1970s and were finalized and published in the early 1980s. In addition, cultural resources documents were also provided for lands in the Bishop and Bakersfield Field Offices that are included within the DRECP planning boundary. The resource information provided to tribes was consistent with Federal laws and regulations to assist tribes in participating and providing input into the DRECP and the development of resources for on-reservation tribal energy initiatives in the California Desert.

On December 12, 2012, the Description and Comparative Evaluation of Draft DRECP Alternatives was released. The document contained a preliminary description of the affected environment/existing environmental conditions in the DRECP planning area, an overview of some of the possible project alternatives that the agencies are considering for inclusion in the DEIS, and a discussion and tentative analysis of the potential impacts of those alternatives. Workshops were held in the five field offices in the California Desert District (CDD) for tribal representatives to meet with BLM managers to gather information about the document, review DRECP maps by field office, and to provide comments on the planning effort. Tribal representatives at the workshops expressed interest in how projects located in Development Focus Areas (DFA) would be tiered to the DEIS, the right-of-way review process in DFAs, how tribal input had been incorporated into the DRECP, receiving metadata from the BLM, protection of resources in DFAs, consequences if tribes have conflicting points of view, and potential marginalization of tribal input based on number of participating tribes instead of resource value.

The BLM has met with most of the Federally recognized tribes in face-to-face meetings and has also contacted other potential consulting parties. The outreach to date has led to the exchange of information and discussion of concerns that have shaped the development of the DRECP. Consultation between the BLM, tribes, and other consulting parties is ongoing and will continue to take place after the release of the Final DRECP.
