Ms. Rheude.....

Just came from meeting with [REDACTED] in regard to a number of matters.....She placed into our possession a video she developed in April of 2008 which best describes the Bald Eagles at Bucks' Lake in the Minnesota River Valley. Many of the "shots" were taken at the landing/parking area twenty feet from the lake's edge.....gives you a great picture of the March - end of April activity.....The video IS ON ITS WAY TO YOUR ADDRESS as we write.....

She is a Master/Mistress of the art of photography, which has come in handy again and again in thwarting unnecessary development, such as giant electrical lines crossing Bucks' Lake.....She has a great variety of other videos she's developed of area Owls, Great Blue Herons, a swan that nested in the area, plus backyard birds. She is the person responsible for developing the FEATHERS concept, a bird education unit which we work with daily. We are "on the way to 'the field.'" [REDACTED]
