

RBC Look-alikes to Rule Out

Trifolium repens – White clover- Stolons rooted at nodes, flowers on naked stems, flowering all summer, may have chevrons on the leaves, without big stipules.

Trifolium hybridum –Alsike clover - Looks similar to rbc, stolon-like branches lean on other vegetation, do not root at nodes, may have 2 leaves under a flower, but the stem keeps on growing beyond the flower; indeterminate.

Trifolium pratense - Red clover - hairy and red flowered.

Trifolium reflexum - Buffalo clover -Very rare in area, but not federally endangered. No stolons, flowers red to white, plant may be hairy, flowering May to July.