

Office of Law Enforcement

in New York

Represented by Members of Congress:
Senator Charles E. Schumer (D)
Senator Hillary Rodham Clinton (D)
1st to 29th Congressional Districts

Contact

John M. Neal
Resident Agent in Charge
U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service
Office of Law Enforcement
70 East Sunrise Highway, Suite 419
Valley Stream, NY 11580
Phone: 516/825 3950, ext. 231
Fax: 516/825 3597
TDD: 800/877 8339
E-mail: john_m_neal@fws.gov

Purpose

With offices in Valley Stream, Amherst, Albany and Champlain, U.S. Fish and Wildlife criminal investigators and wildlife inspectors ensure compliance with federal wildlife laws protecting endangered plants and animals, migratory birds, certain marine mammals, fishes and other species throughout New York.

Clifford Otto

Barred owl

They also carry out U.S. enforcement obligations under international agreements. These laws and agreements include:
African Elephant Act
Airborne Hunting Act
Archeological Resources Protection Act
Bald and Golden Eagle Protection Act
Endangered Species Act
Exotic Wild Bird Act
Lacey Act
Marine Mammal Protection Act
Migratory Bird Conservation Stamp Act
Migratory Bird Treaty Act, as amended
National Wildlife Refuge Act
Recreation Act

Enforcement Activities

- Wildlife Inspectors*
- Check documents, licenses and permits at ports of entry.
 - Inspect shipments to ensure that protected species are not illegally imported or exported.
- Criminal Investigators*
- Investigate fish and wildlife deaths caused by contaminants.
 - Investigate alleged violations of federal fish and wildlife laws protecting migratory birds, bald eagles and threatened and endangered species.
 - Investigate illegal interstate commerce in fish and wildlife and related products.
 - Work undercover, conduct surveillance, make arrests and prepare court cases.
 - Assist in resolving law enforcement problems on national wildlife refuges.
 - Make presentations about wildlife law enforcement to school groups and respond to inquiries about federal wildlife laws.

Highlights

Criminal investigators and wildlife inspectors continue to play a crucial role in the enforcement of federal laws and regulations pertaining to the import and export of wildlife and related products.

The Office of Law Enforcement works closely with the New York Department of Environmental Conservation's law enforcement personnel to protect fish and wildlife resources.

The Office of Law Enforcement participates in task forces with the New York State Police.

U.S. Fish & Wildlife Service
1 800/344 WILD
<http://www.fws.gov>

May 2007

