“You know, what I’m most proud of is the overall effort of the Fish and Wildlife Service put into the Gulf. Going to the Gulf for two weeks and doing what I did, it was an honor to go and do that work, but my two weeks there wasn’t going to make a difference. But what was going to make the difference is the rollup of all the work the Fish and Wildlife Service did. All the employees, all those deployments over the course of that time, and even today, when people are still working on the oil spill—that’s going to make the difference. On a personal level, it was really an honor and a great experience for me to work with my colleagues down there. But what I’m proud of is the overall Fish and Wildlife effort.”
