Land Protection Plan

A. Introduction

The U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service is currently completing its Comprehensive Conservation Planning Process for the Edwin B. Forsythe National Wildlife Refuge (NWR). In the resulting Comprehensive Conservation Plan (CCP), the “Action Alternative” that the Service has selected includes expanding the Edwin B. Forsythe NWR acquisition area.

The Purpose of this Land Protection Plan (LPP) is to provide landowners and municipal, county and state officials an outline of the Service’s policies, priorities and potential methods for protecting the land within these refuge expansion areas.

B. Project Description

The Edwin B. Forsythe NWR is located in Ocean, Burlington and Atlantic Counties, New Jersey. The refuge expansion areas include a mixture of marshes, forested wetlands, upland forests and upland fields. The refuge expansion areas encompass 3,348 acres, including 792 acres in Lacey Township, 95 acres in Stafford Township, 635 acres in Eagleswood Township, 106 acres in Little Egg Harbor Township, 475 acres in the City of Port Republic, and 1,245 acres in Galloway Township.

The refuge expansion areas are a subset of the Land Protection Focus Areas contained in the Revised Draft CCP. These Focus Areas encompass approximately 17,000 acres. In the Revised Draft CCP, the Service proposed to acquire 11,500 of these 17,000 acres. We have since reduced the acquisition target to the 3,348 acres included in the refuge expansion areas. The reasons for the substantial reduction in the amount of Service land acquisition are outlined in section D.

C. Threats to Resources

Because of increasing development pressure throughout the central Jersey Coast, especially in the Barnegat Bay region and Atlantic County, many citizens who attended the 11 public meetings held at the start of the CCP process emphasized the need for expanding land acquisition. Barnegat Bay is a National Estuary Program area. The wetlands of the Edwin B. Forsythe NWR are one of seventeen Wetlands of International Importance designated in the United States under the Ramsar Convention. The refuge is a unit of the Western Hemisphere Shorebird Reserve Network (WHSRN). The Jacques Cousteau National Estuary Research Reserve overlays much of the refuge.

D. Proposed Action and Objectives

The Service proposes to acquire 3,348 additional acres to provide long-term protection to the numerous species of shorebirds, neotropical migratory landbirds, waterfowl, long-legged waders, raptors, finfish and shellfish, and threatened and endangered species. The objectives are to protect:

1. Known sites of threatened or endangered species and communities;
2. Areas important to the ecological health of lands already owned (e.g., to ensure intact ecosystem processes, protect the quality and quantity of water for wetlands, provide habitat corridors between existing conservation lands, or create contiguous areas of sufficient size to protect viable populations);
3. Areas important for priority wildlife species (e.g., critical stopover habitat for migrating birds of concern);
4. Areas identified as priority sites for protection by other conservation organizations; and
5. Areas still viable for conservation protection (i.e., not already developed).

The following are some of the reasons for the substantial reduction in the expanded refuge acquisition area.

1. There are State Forest or Park or Wildlife Management Area properties within, or immediately adjacent to, some of the lands within the Land Protection Focus Areas:

- Little Egg Harbor Township portion of the Westecunk Creek Land Protection Focus Area,
- Mill Branch/Tuckerton Creek Land Protection Focus Area
- Sims Property Land Protection Focus Area

(There are some State-owned properties within the expanded refuge area that the Service does propose to purchase, for example, in the Eagleswood Township portion of the Westecunk Creek Focus Area and in the Galloway Township portion of the Nacote Creek Focus Area.)

2. There are township open space properties and deed restricted properties within the Nacote Creek Land Protection Focus Area.

3. Some of the Land Protection Focus Areas, either totally or in part, are no longer suitable for consideration as refuge or other conservation types of property, because they are being developed or have already been developed:

- Berkeley Township portion of the South Cedar Creek Land Protection Focus Area,
- Waretown and Oyster Creeks Land Protection Focus Area,
- Pancoast Area Land Protection Focus Area,
- Otis Bog section of the Ballenger Creek and Otis Bog Creek Land Protection Focus Area, and
- Nacote Creek Land Protection Focus Area.

E. Protection Alternatives

This section describes and evaluates four land protection alternatives to protect the biological resources in the Edwin B. Forsythe NWR Land Protection Focus Area shown on Maps 2-8a, 2-8b, 2-8c, and 2-8d in the Edwin B. Forsythe and Cape May National Wildlife Revised Draft Comprehensive Conservation Plan and Environmental Assessment (U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, July 2000). It is the Service's policy to acquire only the minimum interest necessary to meet the Refuge objectives.

1. No Action

Under the "No Action" alternative, the Service would rely on existing federal, State and local land use regulations to preserve the wildlife values of the Land Protection Focus Areas. We would provide technical assistance on federally regulated species, particularly through Section 7 consultation provided under the Endangered Species Act. Under this alternative, most of the Land Protection Focus Areas would probably be developed for residential homes and associated recreational facilities.

2. Acquisition and Management by Others

Under this alternative, the Service would encourage other organizations and agencies, such as the New Jersey Department of Environmental Protection, the Atlantic County and Ocean County Open Space Programs and the New Jersey Conservation Foundation, to protect and manage resources within the Land Protection Focus Areas. The Service would provide technical or resource support as needed. Each of the above agencies or organizations already owns lands within the Land Protection Focus Areas.

3. Less than Fee Acquisitions

Under this alternative, the Service would protect and manage land through conservation easement. An easement is ownership of certain rights to a property, for example, development rights. Easements can be purchased for a set period of time or in perpetuity. This method of protection allows lands to remain in private ownership, while allowing the Service control over the management of the land. Once purchased, an easement is a legal restriction on the use of a property, and is binding even if the ownership changes. For this reason, conservation easements generally decrease the value of the land and decrease tax revenue.

To meet the refuge goal of providing long term protection to the biological resources, any conservation easement the Service acquires must: 1) preclude destruction or degradation of habitat, and 2) allow the Service to adequately manage use of the area. Usually, this means purchasing the development right to the property in perpetuity. On the east coast, development rights often amount to 80 to 95% of the land cost. The Service will use conservation easements where they are cost-efficient or where owners of important habitats do not wish to sell in fee title.

4. Fee Acquisition

Under this alternative, the Service would protect the properties through acquisition of all interest in land. This would ensure the long term protection of the resources and allow the Service to fully manage the habitats to benefit Trust resources.

The Service makes Revenue Sharing payments on lands owned in fee. These annual payments to local municipalities are intended to offset local tax losses resulting from federal land ownership. Revenue Sharing payments can be as high as 3/4% of the appraised land value.

F. Acquisition Alternatives

The Secretary of the Interior is authorized to acquire full or partial interests in land via direct purchase, donation, exchange, or transfer. A brief description of each method follows.

1. Purchase

This is the most direct means of obtaining fee title or an interest in land. The Service negotiates the sale of some or all rights to a property from a willing seller. Lands are purchased with Land and Water Conservation Fund, Migratory Bird Conservation Fund, or donated funds. In all acquisitions, the Service is required by Public Law 91-646, the Uniform Relocation Assistance and Real Property Acquisition Policies Act of 1970, to offer fair market value as determined by an approved appraisal that meets professional standards and federal requirements. The Act further entitles landowners, tenants, and others to certain payments related to relocation, if they are displaced by a federal land acquisition program. These entitlements include housing differential, moving expenses, and other incidental expenses associated with selling the property. These payments are in addition to the purchase price of the property and are not taxable under federal tax laws. The Service provides relocation advisory services to all persons displaced from their lands by acquisition for Refuge purposes.

2. Donation

A citizen or private organization may wish to make a gift of land or interests in land to the Service for wildlife purposes. Aside from the cost factor, these acquisitions are no different from purchases.

3. Exchange

The Service may exchange lands under Service ownership for land having greater habitat or wildlife value. Inherent in the exchange concept is the requirement to get dollar value for dollar value. Exchanges are attractive in that they usually do not increase federal land holdings or require funds for purchase, but they may be very labor intensive and take a long time to complete.

4. Transfer

Lands may be transferred to the Service from another federal agency. There are no federally-owned properties within the proposed refuge expansion areas.

5. Condemnation

As a federal agency, the Service does have the power of eminent domain. However, the Service has a strict policy of acquiring land only from willing sellers, and condemnations are extremely rare. In certain circumstances, where the Service and the willing seller cannot reach an agreement on the value of the property, or where the rightful owner of a property cannot be determined, condemnation may be used to determine fair market value or to clear title. In these “friendly condemnations,” the Service will only initiate the condemnation process at the request of a willing seller or a town, as in the latter case.

G. Coordination

The Land Protection Focus Areas were developed through the CCP in consultation with federal and State agencies, federal, State, County and local elected officials, private organizations, and private citizens. This planning process started in August 1996. We held eleven public meetings on the CCP during the fall of 1996. We held an “Alternatives” workshop in April 1997. We released a Draft CCP and Environmental Assessment for 45 days of review and comment in the Spring of 1999, and released a Revised Draft CCP and Environmental Assessment for 30 days of review and comment in Summer of 2000. A Finding of No Significant Impact (FONSI) was released in February 2001.

The Draft Land Protection Plan was mailed to all the landowners within the proposed expansion area in December 2001. The Draft LPP was also mailed to each of the six municipalities (Lacey, Stafford, Eagleswood, Little Egg Harbor, Port Republic, and Galloway) and the two counties (Atlantic and Ocean) containing the proposed refuge expansion areas.

During the 30-day public comment period, which ended January 21, 2002, eleven private landowners who owned land within the proposed expansion area contacted the refuge office. All eleven persons expressed an interest in selling their property to the Service. One private landowner within the proposed expansion area contacted the refuge office one day after the close of the 30-day public comment period. He said that he was not interested in selling his property to the Service now, but might be interested in donating the property to the Service in the future.

The Refuge Manager spoke with officials in all six municipalities and the two counties concerning the Draft LPP.

The Refuge Manager spoke with the Lacey Township Administrator. There is a proposal to build an adult community on a property within the proposed expansion area. The Administrator was concerned that the State land use regulatory agency might use the inclusion of that property within the approved refuge acquisition area as a reason to deny necessary State approvals for development. Service policy is to work only with willing sellers. Lands within an approved refuge acquisition boundary are subject only to the same Federal, State and local laws and regulations as properties outside an approved refuge acquisition boundary. The National Wildlife Refuge System does not use the inclusion of a property within an approved refuge acquisition area as a reason to oppose development proposals for such a property, because it is Service policy to work with willing sellers.

The Refuge Manager spoke with the Stafford Township Director of Community Development. She expressed approval of the new refuge acquisition boundary in that township.

The Refuge Manager spoke with the Mayor of Eagleswood and the Administrator of Little Egg Harbor, respectively. Neither individual expressed any concerns with the Draft LPP. The Refuge Manager faxed the Draft LPP to the Port Republic City Committee. The Committee made no comments on the proposed expansion.

The Refuge Manager spoke with the Assistant Administrator for Galloway Township. She noted that the amount of the annual Refuge Revenue Sharing payments made to the township decreased from $70,444 for FY 1999 to $29,363 for FY 2000. She indicated that the township might not be inclined to support refuge expansion, if such a reduced level of Refuge Revenue Sharing payments were to continue. The actual amount of annual Refuge Revenue Sharing depends on the amount of funding Congress appropriates out of the general treasury to complement the revenues generated from the sale of products off of refuge lands.

The Refuge Manager spoke with officials in the both the Atlantic County and Ocean County planning departments. The counties did express any concerns with the Draft LPP.

H. Socioeconomic and Cultural Aspects

As a result of this planning effort, the Service could acquire up to 3,348 acres of land within the Land Protection Focus Areas. Service acquisition will protect the important watershed areas upstream from lands already owned, as well as several additional sites with rare species, and corridors connecting Refuge lands with other nearby conservation areas. This land will provide more contiguous habitats for migrating birds, and allow for better conservation reserves for populations of non-migratory species. This acquisition will also enable improved management and water quality protection for waters feeding into the Refuge and the Barnegat Bay ecosystem.

Improved land protection through planning and acquisition will result in a variety of economic benefits to local and county governments. Avoiding sprawl and promoting smart growth will reduce the amount of direct and indirect expenses related to development. Acquisition of potentially developable lands will increase the value of remaining developable lands by increasing demand and preserving local ecosystem values. Sustaining the output of ecosystem goods and services is the key to sustainable wildlife resources, sustainable economic activities, and a healthy human population.

Refuge Revenue Sharing payments to municipalities within which the Service acquires property will increase as the Service acquires the additional 3,348 acres. If the Service did acquire all this land (assuming an average appraised value of $3,000 per acre), the full payment value of Refuge Revenue Sharing payments to local municipalities would increase by $75,330 per year [3,348 acres X $3000/acres = $10,044,000 X .0075 (3/4% of appraised value) = $75,330]. It should also be noted that refuge lands require very few local services.

Refuge lands will increase protection for cultural resources in the area. Service ownership will protect known cultural resource sites against vandalism, and will protect unidentified and undeveloped cultural resource sites from disturbance or destruction. Service interpretive programs will promote public appreciation for the area's natural and cultural resources.

I. Acquisition Priorities

The Land Protection Focus Areas were based on the following criteria:

1. Known sites of threatened or endangered species and communities;
2. Areas important to the ecological health of lands already owned (e.g., to ensure intact ecosystem processes, protect the quality and quantity of water for wetlands, provide habitat corridors between existing conservation lands, or create contiguous areas of sufficient size to protect viable populations);
3. Areas important for priority wildlife species (e.g., critical stopover habitat for migrating birds of concern);
4. Areas identified as priority sites for protection by other conservation organizations; and
5. Areas still viable for conservation protection (i.e., not already developed).

Most of the properties within the 3,348-acre expanded refuge acquisition area are privately owned, but there are a substantial number of publicly owned properties (township, county and state) as well. (See Table 1.) Within the expanded refuge acquisition boundary, we identified three levels of acquisition priorities based on the above criteria. These priorities do not reflect a landowner's preference to sell the land. Since Service policy is to acquire land only from willing sellers, the order of actual land acquisition will be based on availability, in the priority order listed below. Table 1 lists parcels within the expanded refuge acquisition area by township tax lot so that landowners can better understand the Service's acquisition priorities and how the proposed Refuge expansion may impact their lands.

Priority 1: There are 2,656 acres of priority 1 properties within the refuge expansion area. We would focus our protection efforts on purchasing these properties first. These lands have very high biological and trust resource value, and are crucial for providing connectivity among habitats and natural communities. These lands consolidate and protect the integrity of our trust resources. These lands best safeguard watershed values.

Priority 2: There are 361 acres of priority 2 properties within the refuge expansion area. These lands have high biological and trust resource value. These lands are an important link in overall biological resource protection. These lands help protect proposed priority 1 refuge lands; or protect existing refuge lands. These lands contribute to watershed protection.

Priority 3: There are 331 acres of priority 3 properties within the refuge expansion area. These lands have somewhat lower biological and trust resource value. These lands would help consolidate ownership for more effective management, or to protect existing refuge lands. These lands contribute to watershed protection.

Parcel Maps and Tables

The maps in this appendix show the land we own now, the new acquisition boundaries, and the parcels we plan to acquire. Following the maps, tables identify each parcel, its tax map number, its acreage, whether it is publicly or privately owned, and our priority and recommended option for acquiring it.

We have grouped the parcels into Group A, B, and C maps solely to enlarge their display. Those groupings do not connote priority rankings (see tables). We plan to acquire either full or partial interest in all the parcels by fee purchase from willing sellers.

A set of tax maps from the townships in the proposed expansion areas follow the maps for each grouping.

Priority: ranked on a scale of one to three, with one being our highest priority acquisitions.

Block and Lot: taxing authority block and lot numbers.

Acres: estimated acreage from town tax maps. Portions of some parcels are included within the current, approved acquisition boundary for Edwin B. Forsythe NWR. For these parcels, we calculated only the expansion acreage.

Protection type: We have identified here what we believe, given the information now available, is the minimal level of Service interest needed for project objectives that is also cost-effective. However, as parcels become available in the future, changes may be warranted to ensure we are using the option that best fits the situation at that time (see section E, Protection Alternatives).

Acquisition type: purchase, donation, transfer, or exchange (see section F, Acquisition Alternatives).

Ownership: public or private. Public ownership describes parcels owned by municipalities, state agencies, or federal agencies.
