

Tijuana River National Estuarine Research Reserve Land Status within the Reserve Boundary

July 22, 1998

The attached interim map (prepared July 10, 1998) represents efforts made by the operating agencies to provide the most up-to-date information for this management plan. They are working to clearly delineate the location of the reserve boundary, and the exact acreage managed by each agency. However, at time of printing, the attached map was still under review by the operating agencies, and should be regarded as an interim work product. The agencies are continuing with their efforts to clarify this information, and expect to complete this work by the time the final version of this management plan is distributed.