SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: We initiate a 5-year reviews of eastern prairie fringed orchid, Hine’s emerald dragonfly, Fassett’s locoweed, Kirtland’s warbler, and white cat’s paw pearly mussel under section 4(c)(2)(A) of the Act (16 U.S.C. 1531 et seq.). We request any new information and appropriate data since their original listing or most recent status review that document the need to delist or reclassify these species. A 5-year review is a periodic process conducted to ensure that the classification of a listed species is appropriate. It is based on the best scientific and commercial data available at the time of the review. Based on the results of these 5-year reviews, we will make a finding of whether these species are properly classified under section 4(c)(2)(B) of the Act.

Under the Act, we maintain the List of Endangered and Threatened Wildlife and Plant Species (List) at 50 CFR 17.11 through all or a significant portion of its range.

Threatened species means any species that is in danger of extinction throughout all or a significant portion of its range.

Endangered species means any species which is in danger of extinction throughout all or a significant portion of its range. The regulations in 50 CFR 424.21 require that we publish a notice in the Federal Register announcing those species currently under active review. This announces our active review of eastern prairie fringed orchid, Hine’s emerald dragonfly, Fassett’s locoweed, Kirtland’s warbler, and white cat’s paw pearly mussel.

The following definitions are applicable:

Species includes any species or subspecies of fish or wildlife or plant, and any distinct population segment of any species of vertebrate which interbreeds when mature.

Endangered species means any species that is in danger of extinction throughout all or a significant portion of its range.

Public Solicitation of New Information

To ensure that the 5-year reviews are complete and based on the best scientific and commercial data available, we are soliciting new information from the public, concerned governmental agencies, tribes, the scientific community, industry, environmental entities, and any other interested parties concerning the status of eastern prairie fringed orchid, Hine’s emerald dragonfly, Fassett’s locoweed, Kirtland’s warbler, and white cat’s paw pearly mussel. A 5-year review considers the best scientific and commercial data and all new information that has become available since the listing determination or most recent status review. Categories of requested information include (A) scientific data, including but not limited to population trends, distribution, abundance, demographics, and genetics; (B) habitat conditions, including but not limited to amount, distribution, and suitability; (C) conservation measures that have been implemented that benefit the species; (D) threat status and trends; and (E) other new information, data, or corrections, including but not limited to taxonomic or nomenclature changes, identification of erroneous information contained in the List, and improved analytical methods.

Electronic Access and Filing

You must submit electronic information (see ADDRESSES) in MS Word, Rich Text format, or Plain Text format, and include the species common name in the title line (for example, “Fassett’s Locoweed 5-Year Review Comments”).

Information submitted to the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service Ecological Services Field Supervisor (see ADDRESSES) must be received within sufficient time to allow adequate time to conduct these 5-year reviews (see DATES). If you do not respond to this request for information but subsequently possess information on the status of these species, we will accept new information regarding any federally listed species at any time.

Our practice is to make information, including names and home addresses of respondents, available for public review during regular business hours. Before including your address, telephone number, e-mail address, or other personal identifying information with your response, you should be aware that your entire submission—including your personal information—may be made publicly available at any time. While you can ask us in your response to withhold your personal identifying information from public review, we cannot guarantee that we will be able to do so. We will, however, consider information submitted anonymously. To the extent consistent with applicable law, we will make all submissions from organizations or businesses, and from individuals identifying themselves as representatives or officials of organizations or businesses, available for public inspection in their entirety. Information received in response to this notice will be available for public inspection, by appointment, during normal business hours (see ADDRESSES).
