

A Tail is A Wonderful Thing

By: Lucas Miller on the CD Anaconda LaBamba

*A tail, a tail—it's a wonderful thing
Some use it to swim, some use it to swing
My tail is adapted; it is perfectly crafted
To help me survive in my habitat*

I'm a 'possum in the trees; I'm climbing up with ease
When my feet slip and I start to fall down!
But thank goodness for my Tail! Yeah, just check out my tail!
It wraps around a limb, it holds on tight and then
I know I won't go SPLAT down upon the ground!

*A tail, a tail—it's a wonderful thing
Some use it to swim, some use it to swing
My tail is adapted; it is perfectly crafted
To help me survive in my habitat*

I'm a beaver in a pond; I'm swimming with a log
When the water starts to carry me down
But thank goodness for my tail! Yeah, just check out my tail!
It's wide and flat and strong, I give a flip and I swim along
And I know I won't go "glub, glub..." and drown!

*A tail, a tail—it's a wonderful thing
Some use it to swim, some use it to swing
My tail is adapted; it is perfectly crafted
To help me survive in my habitat*

I'm a rattlesnake—that's me; and I'm hiding in the leaves
When your big foot almost squishes me flat!
But thank goodness for my tail! Yeah, check out my tail!
I just give me a tail a shake; and that rattling makes you quake
You jump back and I keep hunting for a rat!

*A tail, a tail—it's a wonderful thing
Some use it to swim, some use it to swing
My tail is adapted; it is perfectly crafted
To help me survive in my habitat*
