That sounds good. I registered and tried to get in early to see the projects, but could not get to the individual projects. Guess we'll have to wait. Thanks for the update.

Mark, I spoke with Lief about our obligation to get the energy development and agricultural conversion projects evaluated this week and he said that there really is not anyway for us to get started early (before the webinar) tomorrow because the reporting function in the on-line program is not ready yet. Lief did think that we should not have a problem getting the projects that are due the-first-go-round evaluated though. He said that he thought that there were about 30 of them for Wyoming and the majority of them might take 15 minutes to evaluate each.
