Hey Heather,

What about putting dots of PFW sage grouse projects on this map that we always see used by SGI and others? For example, I've got "my" 2014 sage grouse projects on the map. I also think project/landowner photos could be good. I will look to see what I've got, but don't remember that I have any great pictures (Got to work on that for next year!).

Hey everyone!

Say, we have a neat outreach opportunity with External Affairs. I guess the North American Natural Resource Conference is coming up, where all the Service RDs, the Director, the State Directors, etc. all get together. Noreen wants External Affairs to help us put together a poster for a poster session they are having at the Conference. It would be on Sage Grouse and our on-the-ground projects with the program.

I wanted to shoot all of you an e-mail to see if you had ideas for how the poster might look. We accomplished 73,380 acres of restoration and enhancement last FY through completed projects to benefit sage grouse. Should we have a map of where these projects are, or more photos of projects and landowner with captions? A combination? Other ideas?

I have a meeting today at 3:00 p.m. with Theo Stein and Kate Miyomoto to talk about it. I'd love all your ideas before I meet with them. Kate is a really good graphics artist, so she can turn our ideas into something really neat, if we can provide her the information.

Thanks for the help everyone!! :)

Heather

Just talked wi Noreen, who thinks a nice poster touting PFW would be great for the North American in Omaha and great generally.

So, would you have time to sit with Kate and me later this afternoon? Say at 3 or 4?

Hey Heather

We have an invitation to make a poster presentation at the TRCP Policy Committee reception at the North American in Omhahaha on March 12.

Noreen asked if we could turn out a quick poster talking about our GRSG efforts in refuges or in PFW.

Seems to me PFW is the richer vein to mine.

If you're free this week, would love to meet with you and Kate Miyamoto to discuss ideas that we could present in a graphically appealing way.

Plus, it would get your program some much-deserved attention!
And PS: NRCS Chief Weller is going to give the keynote
( Let's see if that gets your competitive fires burning!) 🤖

Thanks in advance for your reply!
