Information on Attending the Virtual Public Meeting
The U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service has scheduled a virtual public meeting on May 10th, 2023, from 6-8:00 p.m. Eastern Standard Time (EST). The virtual public meeting is intended to give the public an opportunity to learn more about the red wolf program.

The Service will hold the virtual public meeting via the Zoom online platform so that participants can attend remotely. During the virtual public meeting, attendees can join by computer or phone to learn about program updates. The virtual public meeting will start with a brief presentation by Service staff followed by an opportunity for attendees to ask questions on the program.

We recommend that members of the public log into the Zoom meeting platform 5 minutes prior to the beginning of the presentation to ensure that they can connect. If using the phone-only option, participants will be able to listen to the virtual public meeting, but they will not be able to view the presentation.

*For security purposes, registration is required.

*Interested members of the public not familiar with the Zoom platform should view the Zoom video tutorials (https://support.zoom.us/hc/en-us/articles/206618765-Zoom-video-tutorials) prior to the public meeting.

*If you have technical difficulties registering for the meeting or joining the meeting on May 10th, please email megan.stone@empsi.com.
