Hi everyone –

I know we are still looking for a date to meet but I wanted to communicate about a few things.

1. Dan and I gave another public presentation on the need for mouse eradication on the Farallones and the credentials of IC, and where the process stands last Thursday to the Marin Audubon. It was well received and all in attendance were supportive. Still the similar questions about reducing impacts to non-targets came up and the need for short answers to the ‘counter points’.
2. Attached is the interested individuals outreach shell. In doing it I found that there is overlap between this one and the other three shells I completed. I also felt I was starting to re-type the other original list into the format so I used some shorthand and referenced past lists. Basically I think we need to start moving forward with re-evaluating the questions and having short answers to the counter points. That is indicated in the outreach materials needed. And of course the group support letter. I also am starting to feel like the bulk of the outreach work on the ground is falling to me because I know the people, organizations, etc. so I’ll be looking for ways to share the load with USFWS on this. I’m sure we’ll discuss this at our next meeting.

Looking forward to meeting, I will next tackle the remaining outreach shell for research groups, hopefully today but maybe tomorrow.

Thanks,
Melissa

Subject: Availability for Farralones team call - March 12

Quick update – outreach plans are done (still waiting on 3) and the work plan has been updated. When I get the rest of the outreach plans and complete the work plan I will circulate it to the group. We can use the work plan to track status of projects on our monthly calls.

Are people available March 12th for a Farralones check in call? Agenda items besides a work plan update and agency briefing update?

Thanks

Kathleen
