Hi Melissa et al.

As I mentioned to you last week, I spoke to Michael Ellis about Farallones, the mouse project (stressed the rigorous nature of the EIS process, high mouse density etc.), and ocean conditions which he was supposed to talk about today on the 10AM Forum hour on KQED. This would be a small part of his general nature call in shows he does once in a while on Forum. Due to the President's immigration speech, he got rescheduled to July 3rd. Just FYI.

Russ
