Mr. Hobbs,

As a lifelong conservationist, hunter and angler, I commend DOI for reestablishing the Hunting and Shooting Sports Conservation and Access Council. We are not making more land and there is over 9.5 million acres of federal public land not accessible to the general public. I hope that a portion of those lands can be unlocked to the general public for hunting/fishing. In addition, our wildlife are being negatively affected daily from human expansion and development. I would take great comfort in knowing that our federal service employees are being directed to conserve and rehabilitate as much suitable habitat as is possible and feasible.

Thank you and know that myself, among many Americans appreciates the re-establishment of this council.
