I. INTRODUCTION

The Arctic National Wildlife Refuge (Refuge) is offering opportunities for big game guides to provide commercial services on National Wildlife Refuge lands within the Alaska Game Management Units 25 and 26. Special use permits will be awarded for big game guiding services through a competitive selection process. Prospective applicants are advised to carefully read this prospectus and the Special Use Application and Permit (see Appendix B) before responding.

The terms of the permits awarded under this method are valid initially for five years. When permit holders have successfully met all permit terms and conditions and have a satisfactory record of performance, the Service will renew those permits for an additional five years without competition. After the renewed permits expire, the Service will not extend or renew them.

Allowing commercial, big game guiding opportunities on Refuges has the primary objective of making quality recreational hunting accessible to the public, all while such activities are compatible with the National Wildlife Refuge's purposes, resources, and management objectives. Refuge policies require sport hunting to reflect well on the Refuge and the tradition of hunting. It must promote positive hunting values and hunter ethics such as fair chase. It must also provide participants with reasonable harvest opportunities, less crowding, less competition, fewer conflicts between hunters, relatively undisturbed wildlife, greater hunter safety, less than average crippling loss, and less interference from or dependence on mechanization. Commercial guiding activities authorized on refuge lands should contribute to these values and objectives.

Permit holders cannot sublet any part of an area and are prohibited from subcontracting clients with any other hunting guide.

All applicants are responsible for making their own investigations as to the economic feasibility of any proposal, facts about the area, and estimates of potential business opportunity.

It will be the responsibility of all permit holders selected under this prospectus to adhere to all permit conditions and work diligently to minimize conflicts with other users.

Contact the Refuge Manager, Arctic National Wildlife Refuge by mail at 101 12th Avenue, Room 236, Fairbanks, Alaska 99701; or by phone at (907) 388-6751 from 9:00 am to 4:30 pm on weekdays.

II. REFUGE DESCRIPTION

Arctic National Wildlife Refuge
101 12th Avenue, Room 236, Fairbanks, Alaska 99701
(907) 456-0250
Alaska Game Unit(s): Unit 25, Unit 26

The Arctic National Wildlife Refuge is part of a diverse system of more than 550 wildlife refuges stretching across the nation. The Refuge is administered to meet both its unique establishing purposes and to serve the broad mission of the National Wildlife Refuge System. Vast, natural, and wild, the Refuge serves a distinctive function within this system. The Refuge challenges the Service to think beyond the historic role of refuges as a means to protect or propagate single species. Rather, the Refuge offers the opportunity to protect all life forms, their encompassing natural processes, and a range of tangible and intangible values.

The Refuge is renowned for the opportunities it provides for adventure, exploration, independence, and solitude. Whether visitors come to hunt, view, or photograph wildlife; for the challenge of an arduous backpacking trek or river float; or just to enjoy the area's stark beauty from the comfort of a base camp, they can find themselves immersed in a world apart, free from the distractions of modern civilization. The Refuge is a place where a sense of adventure, mystery and discovery still prevails.

Hunters played a critical role in establishing the original Arctic National Wildlife Range, advocating a place for the adventurous pursuit of game in the highest tradition of the sport. This is a setting that rewards those seeking to challenge themselves under primitive conditions. The Refuge's remote expanses can test a hunter's skill, fortitude, and self-reliance. It offers a wilderness experience reminiscent of a bygone era.

In 2011, Arctic National Wildlife Refuge staff developed the following statement about their vision for the Refuge's future, drawing upon its purposes, special values, and the unique role it serves in the Refuge System:

“This untamed arctic landscape continues to sustain the ecological diversity and special values that inspired the Refuge's establishment. Natural processes continue and native cultures thrive with the seasons and changing times; physical and mental challenges test our bodies, minds and spirit; and we honor the land, its wildlife, and the native people with respect and restraint. Through responsible stewardship this vast wilderness is passed on, undiminished, to future generations.”

The Arctic National Wildlife Refuge spans more than 200 miles west to east from the Trans-Alaska pipeline corridor to Canada, and 200 miles north to south from the Beaufort Sea to the Venetie Indian Tribal Lands and the Yukon Flats National Wildlife Refuge. The Refuge headquarters is located in Fairbanks, 180 miles south of the Refuge boundary.

Refuge Resources

The Arctic National Wildlife Refuge includes a unique diversity of landforms containing exceptional wildlife, wilderness, recreation, scientific and aesthetic values. The Refuge contains a series of ecological systems large enough to be fully self-sufficient. The four tallest peaks and the only extensive glaciation in the Brooks Range are located within the Refuge. Major habitat types include alpine tundra, wet and moist arctic tundra, boreal spruce forest, muskeg, and several types of wetlands. The irregular shaped coastline has numerous points, shoals, mud flats and barrier islands that shelter shallow brackish lagoons. The treeless coastal plain is a relatively narrow strip of rolling tundra cut by many northward flowing, braided rivers and creeks. Open tundra vegetation typically is a thick peat layer overlain by a mat of mosses, sedges and grasses less than one foot tall. The mostly hilly and mountainous south side is cut by numerous stream and river valleys dominated by sub-arctic boreal forest of spruce, birch and willow.

The Refuge supports a diversity of arctic and subarctic wildlife, including two caribou herds. The Porcupine herd winters in the southern portion of the Refuge and in Canada. Calving and post-calving activities occur on the coastal plain from late May to mid-July. Up to one-quarter of the Central Arctic herd utilizes the northwestern part of the Refuge. All three species of North American bears (black, grizzly and polar) are found on the Refuge. Grizzlies den in mountainous areas throughout the Refuge, and as many as half of the land-denning females in the Beaufort Sea polar bear population annually den on the Refuge coastal plain. The Refuge also contains muskoxen, which are typically observed along rivers of the coastal plain. Dall sheep are common in the mountainous areas of the Refuge. Other mammal species found on the Refuge include moose, wolverine, wolf, arctic fox, lynx, marten and snowshoe hare. Grayling and Dolly Varden char are the primary fish species in Refuge rivers.

Approximately 165 species of migratory birds have been seen on the Arctic National Wildlife Refuge. The coastal plain is especially important for shorebirds and waterfowl that nest on or otherwise utilize the area during the summer. The long-tailed duck is the most common waterfowl species in coastal lagoons. King and common eiders, pintails, Brant geese, tundra swans and other species also occur along the coast. From mid-August through mid-September, the eastern part of the coastal plain serves as the fall staging area for snow geese. The Refuge also supports the northernmost breeding populations of golden eagles and includes important breeding habitat for the peregrine falcon, much of it along the Porcupine River.

The Arctic National Wildlife Refuge is nationally and internationally acclaimed as one of the most pristine conservation units in the world. It is an area that hunting and non-hunting recreationists frequently share at the same time. To meet all visitors' expectations of a true wildlife and wilderness experience and to maintain the Refuge's naturalness and wildness for future generations, extra precautions are required of all commercial operators.

Refuge Purposes

On December 6, 1960 the Eisenhower administration established the 8.9 million acre Arctic National Wildlife Range through Public Land Order 2214. Its brief statement of purpose proclaimed that the Range was established "to preserve unique wildlife, wilderness, and recreational values." These purposes continue to guide management of lands in the original Range. In 1980, the Alaska National Interest Lands Conservation Act (ANILCA) expanded and re-designated the Range as the Arctic National Wildlife Refuge and provided additional purposes that guide management of the entire Refuge. For Arctic National Wildlife Refuge and other national wildlife refuges in Alaska, ANILCA provides key management direction. ANILCA sets forth the purposes of the Refuge, defines provisions for planning and management, and authorizes studies and programs related to wildlife and wildland resources, subsistence opportunities, and recreation and economic uses. ANILCA also provides specific direction for the management of designated wilderness areas and wilderness study areas in the State of Alaska.

ANILCA more than doubled the Refuge's size to nearly 19.6 million acres. Three wild rivers (Sheenjek, Ivishak and Wind) were designated and eight million acres (most of the original Range) were designated wilderness. Approximately 208,000 acres of lands within the Refuge boundary have been selected by and/or conveyed to Native village and regional corporations under provisions of the Alaska Native Claims Settlement Act and ANILCA. In addition, there are nearly 15,000 acres of private Native allotments and other privately owned lands within the Refuge boundaries.

Section 303(2)(B) of ANILCA specifies that the Arctic National Wildlife Refuge was established and shall be managed for the following purposes. All uses of the Refuge lands must be compatible with these purposes:

- i) To conserve fish and wildlife populations and habitats in their natural diversity including, but not limited to, the Porcupine caribou herd (including participation in coordinated ecological studies and management of this herd and the Western Arctic caribou herd), polar bears, grizzly bears, muskox, Dall sheep, wolves, wolverines, snow geese, peregrine falcons and other migratory birds, and Arctic char and grayling;
- ii) To fulfill the international treaty obligations of the United States with respect to fish and wildlife and their habitats;
- iii) To provide, in a manner consistent with purposes set forth in subparagraphs (i) and (ii), the opportunity for continued subsistence uses by local residents; and
- iv) To ensure, to the maximum extent practicable and in a manner consistent with the purposes set forth in subparagraph (i), water quality and necessary water quantity within the refuge.

In 2017, the Tax Cuts and Jobs Act (Pub. L. 115-97; Stat. 2236) amended these ANILCA purposes by adding:

“to provide an oil and gas program on the Coastal Plan.”

The Wilderness Act of 1964 (Public Law 88-577) creates additional purposes for the approximately 7.15 million acre Mollie Beattie Wilderness Area. These areas are to be managed “for the use and enjoyment of the American people in such manner as will leave them unimpaired for future use and enjoyment as wilderness, and so as to provide for the protection of these areas, the preservation of their wilderness character, and for the gathering and dissemination of information regarding their use and enjoyment as wilderness.”

Local Residents

Residents of several Native villages harvest subsistence resources on the Arctic National Wildlife Refuge. Kaktovik, located on the northern edge of the coastal plain, is an Inupiat Eskimo village of about 270 people. Villagers utilize bowhead whale, caribou, polar bear, waterfowl, seal, Dall sheep, muskox, wolves, ptarmigan and several species of fish. Arctic Village, an Athabaskan Indian village of about 150 residents, is located along the East Fork of the Chandalar River just outside the southern boundary of the Refuge. Although villagers rely primarily on the Porcupine and Central Arctic caribou herds, they also take moose, Dall sheep, wolves, marten, beaver, lynx₆ fox, and several other species. Fishing occurs, primarily for whitefish and lake trout. Residents of Fort Yukon, Venetie, and Chalkyitsik also use Refuge resources, but to a lesser degree. It will be the responsibility of the permit holder selected under this prospectus to work diligently to minimize conflicts with local subsistence and other Refuge users.

III. OFFERINGS

Each individual can submit only one application per guide use area offered. An individual may apply for up to ten offerings for guide use areas on Alaska refuges but is limited to three permits for guide use areas on Service lands at any one time. This limitation includes any partnership or ownership interest that you may have in big game guide businesses permitted to other individuals. For example, you may not hold three refuge big game guide permits and have a partner/owner interest in other big game guide businesses permitted on Service lands.

Some refuge guide use areas contain private lands (i.e., land that has been conveyed to Alaska Native corporations, Native allotments, or other private inholdings). Refuge permits do not authorize activities on private or State lands within any guide use area. Maps of the guide use areas are available by request to the refuge (see cover sheet) or online at:

<https://www.fws.gov/refuge/arctic>

The following guide use area descriptions are approximate and are not legally defined and binding. The original area map, located in the Refuge headquarters office, is the single, ruling instrument defining areas and will be used to decide boundary questions. Prospective applicants are responsible for knowing the boundaries that are pertinent to areas of interest.

Most guide use area boundaries are located on watershed divides, stream courses, and occasionally, other well-defined topographic features. Guide use areas do not extend beyond the outer boundary of the Refuge. Copies of the Refuge and/or wilderness boundary descriptions are available from the Refuge office upon request. The selected guide will have exclusive commercial big game guiding use of the permitted area (except for shared areas, as noted).

However, transporters, air taxis, non-hunting commercial guides, and other hunters also have access to this guide use area.

IV. DEFINITIONS

Fish and Wildlife Service (Service). U.S. Department of Interior, Fish and Wildlife Service.

Guide. For purposes of this prospectus, the Service adopts the definition of “guide” from Alaska Statute, Section 8.54.790. "Guide" means to provide, for compensation or with the intent or with an agreement to receive compensation, services, equipment, or facilities to a big game hunter in the field by a person who accompanies or is present with the big game hunter in the field either personally or through an assistant; in this paragraph, “services” include:

- (A) contracting to guide or outfit big game guide hunts;
- (B) stalking, pursuing, tracking, killing, or attempting to kill big game;
- (C) packing, preparing, salvaging, or caring for meat, except that which is required to properly and safely load the meat on the mode of transportation being used by a transporter;
- (D) field preparation of trophies, including skinning and caping;
- (E) selling, leasing, or renting goods when the transaction occurs in the field;
- (F) using guiding or outfitting equipment, including spotting scopes and firearms, for the benefit of a hunter; and
- (G) providing camping or hunting equipment or supplies which are already located in the field.

Outfit. For purposes of this prospectus, the Service adopts the definition of “outfit” from Alaska Statute, Section 8.54.790. "Outfit" means to provide, for compensation or with the intent to receive compensation, services, supplies, or facilities to a big game hunter in the field, by a person who neither accompanies nor is present with the big game hunter in the field either personally or by an assistant.

Operations Plan. A narrative description of the proposed commercial hunting operation which contains all information required in Form A of this prospectus.

Party Size. The number of people (including guides, clients, pilots, and any other employees of the holder) who are authorized to be in a use area, by the terms of a special use permit.

Permit Holder or Permittee. An individual who is selected through this prospectus and who is issued a special use permit.

Special Use Permit (Permit). A U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service authorization required for all commercial uses of refuge lands and waters.

Guide Use Area. An area designated by the Service and offered to a commercial operator to provide guided big game hunting services for the public.

Client Use Day. One calendar day (24 hours), or portion thereof, for each person using the refuge. Used as a measure of human use. Also called a visitor day. Includes use of the refuge by guides, clients, and any other individuals associated with the permit holder for any part of one day (24-hour period from midnight to midnight).

Example: One guide, one assistant guide, and four clients fly into the refuge at 8:00 a.m. on September 1, spend three nights and leave at 2:00 p.m. on September 4. That equals 24 use days (6 people x 4 days = 24 use days); and 16 client use days (4 clients x 4 days = 16 client use days).

Base Camp. Base camps are seasonal camps used as a primary base of guide operations in the field for the entire, or most of the hunting season, and used by most or all of the clients during some portion of their hunt.

Spike Camp. Spike camps are smaller, sub-camps used only for a short duration (e.g., portion of a client trip) while hunting outside the range of the base camp. Spike camps are disassembled and moved or removed upon the completion of each client's hunt.

V. SPECIAL REQUIREMENTS AND CONSIDERATIONS

Minimum Requirements (An applicant must submit copies of all documents with their application in order to be evaluated, unless otherwise indicated).

- * Applicant must possess a current State:
 - business license
 - registered guide-outfitter license
 - certification for appropriate game management unit (GMU)

Note: These licenses and certificates must remain current throughout the permitting period. Suspension or revocation of the permittee's State-issued guide-outfitter license will result in the non-issuance or automatic revocation of the permit to operate in the Refuge. If a big game guide permit is revoked by the Refuge Manager for any reason, and this revocation is not overturned on appeal to the Regional Director, the permittee will be ineligible to apply for any Alaska Refuge big game guide unit offering for three years. This three-year period commences on the date the permittee was notified in writing of the Refuge Manager's revocation (i.e., the postmarked date of the revocation letter), or the date the Regional Director upheld the revocation (i.e., the postmarked date of the Regional Director's decision), whichever is later.

- * Applicant shall provide proof of liability insurance (minimum $300,000 each occurrence, $500,000 aggregate), with the Fish and Wildlife Service named as coinsured prior to issuance of the refuge special use permit. Insurance does not have to be purchased prior to applying. The Service may, during the life of this permit, conduct a review of insurance requirements to assess adequacy of our current minimum requirements. Applicants should be aware that if a determination is made to increase minimum insurance requirements, permittees holding the current minimum coverage will be required to increase their insurance coverage to comply with the new requirements.
- * Applicant shall submit an affidavit signed by the applicant that affirms the applicant's financial ability to perform according to the operations plan.
- * Permit holder and assistant guides must possess a current first aid and CPR card prior to issuance of the permit and maintain currency through the authorized use period.

Use Records

The permit holder will be required to submit to the Refuge Manager an annual guide use report showing client names and addresses (a percentage of these clients will receive guide evaluation forms), client use days for each species harvested, numbers of each species harvested, applicable dates, and other data required by special conditions of the permit. The permit holder must provide a copy of the State's hunt record for each client. This report must be provided by December 31 for all uses during that calendar year unless the permit requires otherwise. This report shall be certified by the permit holder as being complete and accurate.

Performance Evaluations

Permit holders will be checked periodically to determine compliance with the permit conditions and operations plan, including compliance with state and federal regulations. Evaluations will be based upon compliance inspections, discussions with clients, etc. The permit holder will be advised of deficiencies and any required remedial actions.

Fees

Fees are required for commercial use of refuge lands. Holders of special use permits awarded under this prospectus will be required to pay a $100 administrative fee for each permit, annual fees for use and occupancy of Refuge lands (i.e., cabins, tent platforms, campsite structures, caches, etc.), and client use day fees in accordance with Service regional policy.

Total Allowable Use

The Service anticipates the use allowed under the refuge permit will remain the same throughout the permit term, however it is not guaranteed. Use may be adjusted at any time by the Service, if necessary due to changes in State or Federal regulations, subsistence needs, environmental or resource concerns, or other management needs which may warrant adjustment.

Fuel Storage

Permit holders will be required to follow guidelines established in the Service's Regional Fuel Storage Policy (R7-4), which addresses fuel spill prevention/containment at fuel storage locations on Service lands and follow additional conditions or restrictions required in the refuge specific conditions detailed in the Special Use Permit.

General Terms

1. The government reserves the right to not award portions or all of some use areas being offered; extend the date for receiving the proposals; and to reject any or all proposals.
2. Applications containing false or incomplete information may be rejected by the Service. If a permit has been issued based on false or incomplete information, it may be terminated at any time.
3. The Service will use the information submitted with the original applications to rank applicants and award permits. However, the Service also reserves the right to contact all applicants for any offering for additional information, or to evaluate other sources of information prior to award.
4. Soliciting business or conducting a commercial enterprise on a national wildlife refuge is prohibited except as authorized by a special use permit (50 CFR 27.97). Successful applicants will be issued special use permits authorizing and governing use and occupancy of refuge lands under the National Refuge System Administration Act (16 U.S.C. 668dd-668ee) and the Refuge Recreation Act (16 U.S.C. 460k-3). Such uses are subject to fees established by the Service. Permits issued in response to this prospectus will only authorize commercial big game guiding activities allowed under a big game guide license by Alaska statutes and regulations and specified in the permit holder's approved plan of operations. Other commercial activities (e.g., incidental sport fish guiding or guiding for small game/waterfowl) will be prohibited without the prior written approval of the refuge manager.

5. The permit does not authorize use of lands conveyed to Alaska Native corporations, or other private or state lands.
6. Any oral statement by any representative of the Government, modifying or changing any conditions of this prospectus is an expression of opinion only and confers no right upon any applicant.
7. In the event that a contradiction exists between conditions in this prospectus and the conditions in the permit holder's special use permit, the conditions in the special use permit will govern.
8. The permit holder's operation plan, as amended and accepted by the Service, will be incorporated as a special condition of the permit. By accepting the permit, the holder must conduct his/her commercial guiding operations in adherence with the plan of operations, as well as other permit conditions. Any deviation from the permit conditions or approved operations plan requires prior written approval from the Refuge Manager.
9. All costs incurred by the applicants for items submitted for this prospectus shall be the sole responsibility of the applicant.

Freedom of Information Act

Proposals submitted in response to this prospectus may be disclosed by the Department of the Interior to any person upon request pursuant to the Freedom of Information Act, 5 U.S.C. § 552 (FOIA) by the FOIA office. If the applicant believes they must include commercial or financial information in their application which the applicant believes to be exempt from disclosure under FOIA, include an attachment with the following statement on each cover page:

"The information specifically identified on pages __, __, __, etc., of this proposal constitutes confidential commercial and financial information which the applicant believes to be exempt from disclosure under the Freedom of Information Act. The applicant requests that this information not be disclosed to the public, except as may be required by law."

In the event of a request for documents under FOIA, the burden may be on the applicant to establish that the information he/she requests to be withheld as privileged commercial or financial information is exempt from disclosure. Information included in the proposals relating to personal privacy such as social security numbers, home telephone numbers, dates of birth, and the names of defendants and witnesses in law enforcement reports is protected from disclosure under the FOIA and the Privacy Act [5 U.S.C. § 552(a)] and will be withheld.

Examples of other information generally exempted from release under FOIA include Service panel member names, names and addresses of clients, official background reports documenting history of violations or convictions for applicant, applicant's employees, and/or current and proposed business partners associated with the guide operations (e.g. "Any Persons Report" from the Alaska Department of Public Safety).

Requests for information not pertaining to the applicant must be submitted to the FOIA office directly. FOIA information can be located at <https://www.foiaonline.gov> or the government-wide portal at <https://www.foia.gov>.

VI. SELECTION OF SUCCESSFUL APPLICANTS

A panel comprised of Service employees will evaluate all properly completed applications or proposals for a refuge guide use area, using scoring factors and guidance developed by the Service for each of the criteria listed below. The average score assigned by panel members will determine the applicant's final score for each of the criteria. The sum of scores for all criteria will determine the applicant's total score. After scoring and ranking all applications for a guide use area, the ranking panel will recommend a list of the "best qualified applicants" to be considered for final selection for that area. The refuge manager will make the final selections for the guide use areas within the refuge that he/she manages. The refuge manager may either limit his/her selection to the list of best qualified applicants recommended by the ranking panel or consider all applicants for the area that meet the minimum scores and qualifications. The refuge manager will base his/her final selection on the results of the ranking panel evaluations, the manager's own examination of the applications, interviews of the applicants, client references, and other records or sources of information (e.g., permit files) that can document the applicant's performance and qualifications.

Applicants must attain the minimum scores indicated below in all of the criteria to be eligible for consideration by the refuge manager. In the last criterion (history of compliance), any applicant whose point deductions for history of violations/convictions reach or exceed 90 points will be ineligible for a permit.

1) (Form A) Operation Plan

Maximum 155 points; minimum points required 75, or 100 for wilderness areas.

2) (Form B) Ability to provide a high-quality guiding service to the public.

Maximum 75 points; minimum points required 25.

3) (Form C) Demonstrated experience and knowledge of the guide use area, and the terrain, climate, and species to be hunted.

Maximum 110 points; minimum points required 20.

4) (Form D) Safety Plan, safety training and safety equipment

Maximum 60 points; minimum points required 25.

5) (Form E) History of compliance with state and federal hunting, fishing, and guiding laws, regulations, and permit requirements

Points deducted for each offense; point deductions may not reach or exceed 90 points.

Note: Any applicant who has a felony conviction, or is otherwise, prohibited from possessing, receiving or being near any firearm and ammunition in accordance with state and federal law, is ineligible for a permit. No applicant can employ a convicted felon to possess, receive, or be near any firearm and ammunition in accordance with state and federal law. In addition, any applicant or employee who individually or cumulatively has 5 or more misdemeanor convictions within the last 10 years, is ineligible for a permit.

No interest hereunder may accrue through lien or be transferred to a third party without the approval of the Regional Director of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service and the permit shall not be used for speculative purposes.
- 5) Compliance: The U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service's failure to require strict compliance with any of this permit's terms, conditions, and requirements shall not constitute a waiver or be considered as a giving up of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service's right to thereafter enforce any of the permit's terms or conditions.
- 6) Conditions of Permit not Fulfilled: If the permittee fails to fulfill any of the conditions and requirements set forth herein, the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service shall retain all money paid under this permit to be used to satisfy as much of the permittee's obligation as possible.
- 7) Payments: All payment shall be made on or before the due date to the local representative of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service by a postal money order or check made payable to the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service.
- 8) Termination Policy: At the termination of this permit the permittee shall immediately give up possession to the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service representative, reserving, however, the rights specified in paragraph 11 below. If he/she fails to do so, he/she will pay the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, as liquidated damages, an amount double the rate specified in this permit for the entire time possession is withheld. Upon yielding possession, the permittee will still be allowed to reenter as needed to remove his/her property as stated in paragraph 11 below. The acceptance of any fee for the liquidated damages or any other act of administration relating to the continued tenancy is not to be considered as an affirmation of the permittee's action nor shall it operate as a waiver of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service's right to terminate or cancel the permit for the breach of any specified condition or requirement.
- 9) Revocation Policy: The Regional Director of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service may revoke this permit without notice for noncompliance with the terms hereof, or for violation of general and/or specific laws or regulations governing national wildlife refuges, or for nonuse. It is at all times subject to discretionary revocation by the Director of the Service. Upon such revocation the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, by and through any authorized representative, may take possession of said premises for its own and sole use, and/or may enter and possess the premises as the agent of the permittee and for his/her account.
- 10) Damages: The U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service shall not be responsible for: any loss or damage to property including but not limited to crops, animals, and machinery; injury to the permittee or his/her relatives or to the officers, agents, employees, or any other(s) who are on the premises from instructions; the sufferance from wildlife or employees or representatives of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service carrying out their official responsibilities. The permittee agrees to hold the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service harmless from any and all claims for damages or losses that may arise to be incident to the flooding of the premises resulting from any associated government river and harbor, flood control, reclamation, or Tennessee Valley Authority activity.
- 11) Removal of Permittee's Property: Upon the expiration or termination of this permit, if all rental charges and/or damage claims due to the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service have been paid, the permittee may, within a reasonable period as stated in the permit or as determined by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service official in charge, but not to exceed 60 days, remove all structures, machinery, and/or equipment, etc., from the premises for which he/she is responsible. Within this period the permittee also must remove any other of his/her property including his/her acknowledged share of products or crops grown, cut, harvested, stored, or stacked on the premises. Upon failure to remove any of the above items within the aforesaid period, they shall become the property of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service.

This provision applies to all persons working under the authority of this permit (e.g., assistants). Appeals of decisions relative to permits are handled in accordance with 50 Code of Federal Regulations 36.41.

4. The permittee and permittee's clients do not have the exclusive use of the site(s) or lands covered by this permit, except for the authorized camp facilities.
5. This permit may be cancelled or revised at any time by the refuge manager in case of emergency (e.g., high fire danger, flooding, unusual resource problems, etc.).
6. The permittee shall notify the refuge manager during refuge working hours in person or by telephone before beginning and upon completion of annual activities allowed by this permit.
