Good evening Christopher and Kimberly,

No changes to the polar bear den have been detected over the past week. Attached are the photographs from today's den monitoring. Colder temperatures and increased snow buildup seem to have been making the FLIR image less distinct. Please give me a shout if you have any questions or concerns.

Thanks so much!

Attached please find today's pics of the den area.

Photos taken at approx. 1:00 pm

Weather 10 deg F, Wind 25k

Visibility was overcast with ok light contrast

No new fox tracks over den area

Appears to be more snow buildup from the blowing snow

So far, all is quiet on the polar bear front, which is just the way I like it! ☺
