Thank you Kevin for your ongoing technical review of NPPD's documents. I greatly value your insights, and I know others do as well. More and more, it's sounding possible that after we've gone back and forth with NPPD, we might ultimately conclude that it's possible there could still be a small chance of prohibited take. However, I'm wondering if you (and others) could recommend additional conservation measures NPPD might implement to further reduce the likelihood of prohibited take. Having these in-hand might be useful next week or for a follow up meeting.

Jeff, I see we have an internal meeting the day prior to our meeting with NPPD. I'm wondering if we could move up our meeting a day or two, which would give us more time to strategize and prepare for the meeting with NPPD. I realize moving up our internal meeting will shorten the time we have to review NPPD's documents, but I'd like to consider Monday at the latest. I'm also open this Friday, but I realize some folks may have the day off. Unfortunately, I'm booked with solicitors/DOJ and other meetings on Thursday. Thanks,
