

I've looked it over and also gave the SSA a quick read. The whole team has done a very impressive job on both. The 5yr review looks solid, however there is one area where we might want to consider connecting the dots more in the narrative. I know that we're using a number of different methods (modeling, expert opinion, etc.) to arrive at the conclusion that stochastic events are a driving factor to maintain the threatened status. If there we could improve explanation, I think it would strengthen our review.
