David,

Thanks for putting this together. This looks fine to me; the only thing I noticed is that the time for public comment on days 2 and 3 might be pretty short, especially if the slot also involves the chair recap.

Hi David,

Thanks for this. Yes, I think 40 minutes should be plenty of time for my topic. I think I can present the topic in 15 minutes or so and that should leave plenty of time for discussion. For the briefing packet, I will provide background on the issue and some recommended actions for how we might proceed.

When you reference this topic on the agenda, please use the term "bear-resistant" rather than "bear-proof."

Thanks much!

Advisors:

1. When you get a chance can you take a look at these proposed time allocations based on our conversation Friday?
2. I will turn this into an updated agenda by tomorrow, I will put it on Teams, and I will ask for your help filling out the Topic/Purpose/Outcome statement, and the Speaker/Proposed Process statement, and we will finalize at our call next Monday.

(Lori, you get 90 minutes - does that work? I need your thoughts on how to use that time across your topics (IEO 5 yr plan, FY20 accomps/FY21 awards, response to summit and GYE, Buth, Webinar, Bear smart, etc)

(Scott, you get 40 minutes - does that work? how much is presentation vs discussion? Can we put info into the briefing paper to get to cut to the executive chase?)
