FYI – It appears that they have decided that they don't need me on the steering committee but will consult me as needed. There reasoning that the steering committee will involve policy type decisions seems to me the very reason that I should be on it. I will discuss this with Jodi next week and I'm sure she'll keep me in the loop.

Jennifer,

The Oversight Committee met this morning and decided to remain consistent with the discussions and committee charge that was discussed and decided on during the YES meeting. We will not be adding members to the steering committee. Nearly all of the discussions on this committee involve policy type decisions and most of the technical work will occur in the sub-groups. We decided that if we needed your assistance in an advisory role, we would reach out through Jodi to coordinate your participation on a case-by-case as-needed basis.

With that said, we did take the liberty to assign you to all of the sub-groups to work with Jodi on the major themes identified at the YES meeting. More direction and information will come soon on those assignments.

Please let me know if you have questions or concerns.

Brian

Hi Brian,
With Chris' retirement I will be serving as an advisor to the Conservation Strategy steering committee in his stead. I wanted to check-in to ensure that I'm on the email list to receive any communications regarding the steering committee and to see if there are plans to have a conference call soon. The Service will be receiving peer-review comments mid-June and given the tight timeline to complete revisions to the Strategy it would be beneficial to begin discussions to address them as soon as possible.
Sincerely,
Jennifer
