Hi all,

This might be nitpicky but I am wondering if the phrasing of this bullet in the talking points document is correct: "Once the Service receives the post-delisting management plans from the states of Idaho, Montana, and Wyoming, we plan to reopen the comment period so the public has an opportunity to comment on both the peer reviews and the state plans." Is the public actually commenting on the state plans and peer review or are they commenting on our proposed rule in light of these supporting documents? We cannot really change the state plans or the peer review but we do have the authority to change our rule in light of these documents. This issue comes up again in the last bullet ("Once the Service receives the post-delisting management plans from the states of Idaho, Montana, and Wyoming, we plan to reopen the comment period so the public has an opportunity to comment on the proposed rule in light of both the peer reviews and the state plans.") and I think that phrasing is better. I would recommend removing the sixth bullet and keeping the last bullet.

Marj/Seth

Attached is the final draft news bulletin and TP's on the peer reviews. These will go to HQ for review ASAP this morning in order to meet the posting deadline for tomorrow.

Please take one last look to make sure nothing was omitted. Keep in mind that HQ will most likely change these.
