Great! How is that going? Let me know if I can help at all.

Agreed. I just changed the settings such that any edits are now "suggestions" instead of changes. I think that will be simpler than working in two documents. I will give it another read through this week for wordsmithing (especially since I have not yet read your or Nathan's summaries). I will check with Seth to see at what stage he wants to share with the broader group.

I'm finally finished cross-checking the issue summaries with the bulletted points. I also checked for comment versus comments and for quotes. I did not do much word smithing. I think that from this point forward we should either work on editing separate documents or track changes in the google doc. What do you think?

Will do! Let me know when you are done with cross-checking as Seth then wanted me to share with the team.

Hi Alex,

I started working on cross-checking the issue summaries with the assignment lists to make sure everything got covered. If you don't mind, I would appreciate it if you wouldn't do any editing to the google docs until I finish this assessment. I hope to complete it tomorrow (Tuesday).

Thanks!

Jennifer
