Yikes!! That is some horror story. No, I never received the review. I attach what was sent to you again in case you can do it again. I am so sorry to hear of this disaster. I have never heard of such a thing. What kind of monster would do that to someone? You have my sympathy, Gord.

Hi Chris:

I have just returned from an extended field season, which is still underway, to learn that my computer system had been hacked in my absence. The hack took all my email and deleted everything that I had saved as well as copying my entire contacts files and deleting them on my system. This has affected both my gmail accounts and my office accounts, as the hacker took possession of my hard drive and wiped everything that was on it.

This has my life in complete disarray and I am concerned that you have not received the review that was requested. I have no way of knowing what was in fact received during my absence nor do I yet know what email was sent to me but diverted before I actually received this.

I am wondering if you did receive the materials that I sent (around May 15-16). Please advise me. I no longer have any of the files (materials) you sent for the requested review nor do I have a copy of my review...these have all been deleted.

My IT folks are trying to recover materials for me but they told me not to hold my breath.
