Jennifer,

Here is a link to the on-line Interagency Bison Management Plan reports that give the annual population counts. The methods aren't posted every year, but were last posted probably in 2012.

Hey Gun-

Here is the attached status report for the bison population. Each year (since 2012) we have posted this online. See the website and then click on the winter operations/surveillance/harvest plan tab. Generally we called the report the harvest or population model. This year it is called a status report (and will be in the future).

<http://ibmp.info/library.php>
