Hi Dan and Frank,

I made a few additional comments. Thanks Dan for taking the time to make the initial edits. We will ensure that both the recovery plan and the rule are also clear when referring to females with cubs-of-the-year.

Once we have all agreed on the necessary edits I can make these edits in track changes in a word file to make further editing easier for the subgroup.

Hi Jennifer and Frank,

See attached to address comments pertaining to use of cubs, cubs-of-the-year and for consistency between and within documents. I think I captured any confusion regarding coy/cubs language. There is a portion that addresses the 48 females with cubs-of-the-year metric as being the model-averaged number, which is important to make sure that is clear to the general public. It would be good to make it clear that if we do develop a new estimation technique that does not use females with coy that it should no longer serve as a recovery criterion.

My edits are highlighted or in the comments bubbles. Let me know your thoughts or if I missed something and we can finalize and send back to the subgroup.
