No I did not shoot a moose. Had plenty of chances but did not pull the trigger. It was fun hunting and that's is what counts in my book.

I have that 22% of the 1990-2010 grizzly bear range extent presented in Bjornlie et al 2014 was outside the DMA. Concerning your second question your guess is as good as mine.

Happy Holidays to you as well.

Sincerely,

Mark

hi Mark!

how ya' doin? did you successfully kill and pack out an enormous animal?

ok, what is the proportion of Bjornlie et al.'s 2013 distribution (or the most recent one available) that is outside the DMA?

i am so sorry if i already know this. i'm also sorry if i haven't already asked you to do this cuz now i am asking you to. no urgency.

Also wondering if you have a rough estimate as to what proportion of the population (instead of just geographic area of the range) is outside the DMA. That's easy right? I know it's not but I know we'll get this question as soon as we answer the first question I asked.

thanks in advance & happy holidays and stuff!

rebecca
