What I was wondering was if ST happened to mention it to you. I assume he did not.

I looked thru it quickly....didn't see any issues other than there announcement says that we will finalize delisting by end of summer.

Wyoming seeks public input on post-delisting grizzly bear management proposal

Wyoming Grizzly Bear

The Wyoming Game and Fish Department has released its draft Grizzly Bear Management Plan. This proposal outlines how Wyoming would manage grizzly bears when they come off of the endangered species list. Game and Fish is asking for public feedback. Those interested can comment online, at public meetings around the state or by mail. READ MORE

The Wyoming Game and Fish Department manages and conserves more than 800 species of fish and wildlife across Wyoming. For nearly 120 years, we've carried out our mission to conserve wildlife and serve people. Through these efforts, the Wyoming Game and Fish Department ensures the public continues to enjoy Wyoming's vast fish and wildlife resource through hunting, fishing, trapping, wildlife watching and other forms of outdoor recreation. Hunters, anglers and wildlife watchers contribute over a billion dollars to Wyoming's economy each year.
