Thank you. And, yes, I believe that is correct for attendance. The attached guidance might be helpful too. I've also attached a list of folks and roles (and check list) we used for the last wolf hearing (we had more folks, but you can probably get by with less). Good luck next week.

Seth

Hi Seth,

I will start putting together some talking points on the Conservation Strategy tomorrow.

I had not been aware that a hearing officer statement was necessary but will also begin to work on that tomorrow. Thank you for sending an example. From the RO I have on the list that Serena, Mike, and Matt will be in attendance. Is this correct?

Thanks,

Jennifer

Hey Jennifer,

I wondered if you could help with an ask.

- First, could you develop a quick briefing paper (or talking points) on the Conservation Strategy. Matt asked for something that would allow him to walk through a few basics on each section of the CS for folks at YES.
- Second, wondering if you have hearing officer statements. I've attached the one we used for WY wolf last time. If we go with something akin to this, Leslie would do most of the set up and Matt would only read a paragraph or so. This worked really well last time. Wanted to check where you were on this before I put any work into it. Thoughts?

Thanks,

Seth
