

From: Noreen Walsh
To: Matt Hogan
Subject: gye
Date: Wednesday, May 11, 2016 4:53:40 PM

U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service's Serena Baker says public comments will help the USFWS determine how best to move forward with delisting, or whether to move forward at all.

“The U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service is really after the best scientific decision we can make. People are more than welcome to share their opinions with us. But we are really looking for distinctive comments. So we are really after something that we can then go out and study.” Baker says a USFWS grizzly team will review the public comments for anything that may have been overlooked or not considered by the USFWS.

"And then the team will either commission studies or do further research on the Yellowstone grizzly bear population.”

*Noreen Walsh
Regional Director
Mountain-Prairie Region
U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service
303 236 7920*

From: Sanchez, Denise [mailto:denise_sanchez@fws.gov]
Sent: Wednesday, May 11, 2016 4:35 PM
To: FW6 RO EA; FW6 RO ARDs
Subject: News clips 5.11.16

Effort to list lesser prairie chicken as threatened is dropped

<http://www.bnd.com/news/nation-world/national/article77037157.html>

Monarch Butterfly Conservation Fund announces 22 grants to help revive species

<http://irjci.blogspot.no/2015/09/monarch-butterfly-conservation-fund.html>

Grizzly Delisting Racks Up Thousands Of Public Comments

<http://mtpr.org/post/grizzly-delisting-racks-thousands-public-comments#stream/0>

Federal agency proposes 30-year eagle killing permits

<http://www.sanduskyregister.com/Environment/2016/05/10/Federal-agency-proposes-30-year-eagle-killing-permits>

State investigating deaths of grayling in Rogers Lake

http://missoulian.com/news/state-and-regional/state-investigating-deaths-of-grayling-in-rogers-lake/article_0756c5c2-f828-5c3d-a4d1-fc2f7a74f334.html

--

Denise Sanchez | Public Affairs Assistant
USFWS Mountain-Prairie Region External Affairs
134 Union Blvd, Lakewood, CO 80228
denise_sanchez@fws.gov | 303-236-2985

<http://www.fws.gov/mountain-prairie>

 Flickr - Photos linked in this email.