I do not remember exactly... I think maybe his TR4 was broken and he gave it back but we did not have another receiver to issue him because we were completely out... The Receiver inventory doesn't show him as having one of ours right now. This came up in the FWS call and I mentioned how I thought this was similar to Vicente giving out wolf locations. Catron county has not contributed any money to collars and they have given out protected information/broken our trust in the past. I suggested that something about how/when frequencies are shared should be included in the same SOP that we create concerning sharing wolf location data. Maggie and Brady seemed to agree on that, just FYI.

Yikes. I think he still has one of our tr-4s too? We'll see what CP remembers on that. I'm questioning why he has one at all honestly. He does nothing proactive, or even reactive with the receiver towards helping keep cattle alive. No hazing, no monitoring, nothing. Just another tool for him to use to claim wolves killed something, because he heard them in the area. I don't know if he knows how to triangulate either, so the faintest beep means they're there...

Ugh,

Hey Allison,

I just remembered that text you sent over the weekend about Jess Carey's receiver. Do we need to add updating that receiver to the list of things to do? I haven't updated it since helo, so unless someone else did it, I doubt it's been done.
